EARLY MORNING FIRE

Flames Drive Dracut Family Into Street—Four Buildings Burned

Fire, whipped by a strong north wind, drove the family of Mrs. John Kierman from their home in Gerish avenue, Dracut, early this morning, practically destroyed the cottage house in which they lived and totally destroyed an unoccupied two-tenement house next door owned by W. A. Andrews. Two small barns in the rear also were burned to the ground.

Sleeping in the Kierman cottage when the fire was discovered at about 3.15 o'clock were Mrs. Kierman, her son Joseph, her daughter Katherine, a grandson, Raymond Kierman, and a girl friend of Katherine's. They were able to get out in safety and were sheltered by neighbors, but much of the house furnishings were destroyed. Hose 10 of the Lowell fire department was summoned by telephone and the men of that company saved the Kierman home from total destruction.

It is believed that the fire started in the unoccupied house, but no origin has been ascertained. Andrews, a milkman living across the way, drove past the Kierman house at 2.30 o'clock and saw no signs of fire, but noticed the reflection of the blaze in the sky when he had reached a point in Mammoth road.

Gerish avenue runs from Mammoth road to the Pelham car tracks at the foot of the hill which marks the end of the Moody street route.

"S. O. S." CALLS

Shipping Board Steamer Roman, in Distress Off Coast, Calls For Help

Steering Gear Breaks—Ship
Being Buffeted by Seas—Cutter Goes to Assistance

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—"S.O.S." calls were received here by the coast guard office this morning from the steamship Roman, bound from New York for Marseilles. Her position was given as latitude 39.35 north and longitude 68.50 west, and is about 350 miles east of Sandy Hook.

York for Marseilles Nov. 17, with a general cargo. She is owned by the United States shipping board and registers 1875 tons.

Later information received through radio by the naval communications service here is that the steering gear of the Roman had broken and that the ship had been buffeted by rough sea induced by high northerly winds.

At the office of the coast guard cutter service, preparations were made to despatch a cutter to the assistance of the ship in the event that some other vessel nearer to hand did not answer the radio call.

The coast guard cutter Itasca has been ordered from New York to the assistance of the Roman, officials of the service here said.

At the office of the French-American line, operators of the Roman, it was said, that additional radio information received was that another ship had responded to the radio call for assistance and was standing by.

The Roman is loaded with a general cargo and carries a crew of 32 men under command of Captain John Jensen.

BOSTON, Nov. 20.—The coast guard cutter Acushnet left Woods Hole this morning with orders to proceed to the assistance of the shipping board steamer Roman, in distress off the coast. It was estimated that the Acushnet could not reach the Roman for 24 hours.

HARVARD CLUBS HERE

New England Federation

Guest of Harvard Club

of Lowell

The New England Federation of Harvard clubs met in Lowell today for its annual meeting as the guest of the Harvard club of this city. More than 150 members arrived during the forenoon and after luncheon, and it is expected that fully 200 will be present at the dinner tonight.

The routine business meeting of the federation was held at the Highland club in Princeton street at 10.30 o'clock this morning, presided over by the president, Hon. William B. C. Stickney of Rutland, Vt. Other officers at the meeting were Secretary Charles D. Drvill of Fall River and Treasurer Martin A. Taylor of Haverhill. The election of new officers was postponed until tonight. Luncheon was served at 12 o'clock.

This afternoon many of the visiting clubmen went to the Vesper Country club, while others were taken through the Lowell Textile school. The annual dinner, at which President A. Lawrence Lowell of the university will be the guest of honor and principal speaker, will be held at the Highland club at 6.30 o'clock. Other speakers will be Austin G. Fox of New York and Prof.
Charles H. Grandgent of Harvard.

President Rev. A. R. Hussey and Secretary F. C. Weld of the Lowell club were active in the preparation of the reception and entertainment plans and received the assistance of several committees.

Treaty's Defeat Leaves U.S. Still at War and Allies Move to Put Pact Into Effect

European Powers To Resume Commercial and Diplomatic Relations With Germany—No American Representatives on Important Commissions—Many Knotty Problems Now Confront Administration—Supreme Court
May Be Asked To Decide Authority of Congress

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Although not changing technically the existing status of relations between the United States and Germany, the senate's failure to ratify the peace treaty at its special session is expected by administration officials and diplomats to have an indirect result of some importance on the steps now being taken to restore the world to a peace basis.

One of the first consequences, according to the view taken here, is likely to be hastening of the negotiations in Paris, including promulgation of the peace verbatim, which will restore full commercial and diplomatic relations between Germany and the powers which have ratified the treaty.

Paris dispatches have said this step was waiting, for one thing, on the approval of the senate, but it is thought there would be no further delay now for that reason.

The new congress will meet on Dec.
1, but not even the most ardent supporters of the treaty believe it would be possible to take it up again at the outset of the session.

Once the other great powers have gone ahead with their establishment of full trade and diplomatic relations with Germany, officials say new arrangements will have to be made by the United States to fit into the commercial scheme created.

At present the war arrangement by which Spain is taking care of American interests in Germany continues in force and this is not expected to be disturbed. The rationing of supplies of various sorts to Germany must continue under the treaty terms, however, and the powerful reparations commission will be set up to determine all the details of Germany's commercial intercourse with other nations.

On this commission the United States will have no representation, though it is hoped to work out a plan by which this country can keep in close touch with the commission's work in order to protect American interests.

No U. S. Consuls for Germany
The state department is emphatic in its stand that no American consuls can be sent into Germany until peace has been definitely established between the United States and that country, and they declare only an imperfect trade relation can be built up without the consular officers who are in charge of the legal end of international trade.

A contrary view is held, however, by some of the senators who opposed ratification of the treaty. Notable in that connection is the stand taken by Senator Knox, republican, Pennsylvania, a former secretary of state, who holds that by the language of the treaty, full commercial and diplomatic intercourse can be resumed with Germany by all of her late enemies, as soon as the peace verbal is exchanged.

Various other senators have taken a similar view, and Senator Fall, republican, New Mexico, has declared repeatedly in the senate that the United States already is trading with Germany in the full sense of the term, and that American consular agents could be installed without overstepping international law. There seems little prospect, however, that the state department will accept such a construction and officials there say American trade will have to accommodate itself to the facilities of the Spanish agents in Germany until a state of peace has been defined directly between the United States and Germany.

Lodge Says 'Treaty Dead'
With the much-debated and much-contested document thrust back upon him, the next move is up to the president and today there was no intimation what course he would pursue. In any event, it was not believed there would be any developments until congress reconvenes Dec. 1 in regular session. Opinion as to what may be expected then is divided. Senator Lodge, majority leader, who led the forces opposed to adoption of the treaty as presented, declared the failure of ratification last night killed the pact unless President Wilson "circumvented the senate rules" by withdrawing it

At the end of the meeting Agent Mc-Cabe took exception to the alleged statement of Superintendent Goldsmith of the Saco-Lowell plant that the pay of employees had been increased 15 per cent. since 1914. He said he would admit for the sake of argument the official's other statement that production had decreased, but that he believed if it were so it has come about by the employment of more so-called "white collar" men, who are not producers.

Picketing of the plant at both the Jackson and Dutton street gates continues and union men say that none of their number has made any attempt to return to work. The foundry men still are at work and Agent McCabe said today that they will not be asked to strike in sympathy and that if they do walk out it will be of their own volition.

According to the law relative to strikes, Mayor Thompson has notified the state board of arbitration and conciliation of the existing conditions. The plant officials have no word to give out, other than operation is going on as best it can under the conditions.
They are free to admit that the shop has a tremendous amount of work on hand, orders being on file to carry production into 1922.

EXTRAORDINARY SESSION ENDS

Review of Work Accomplished by First Session of 66th Congress

Considerable Important Legislation Completed—Three Billions Appropriated

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—While consideration of the treaty of Versailles was the outstanding event of the first session of the 66th congress—the first in six years in which republicans have controlled both branches—considerable important legislation was completed and many other measures prepared for disposal when the regular meeting begins Dec. 1.

The session closing last night was an extraordinary one convened May 12, under a call cabled from Paris by President Wilson to consider primarily the appropriation bills which had failed at the session ending last March third.

Principal Achievements
Among the principal legislative achievements were:

Submission of the woman suffrage constitutional amendment, to the states for ratification. The amendment resolution was adopted 304 to 59, by the house as its first legislative act and by the senate June 4, 56 to 25.

The prohibition enforcement bill, providing for enforcing war-time and constitutional prohibition, passed over President Wilson's veto.

The act repealing the daylight saving time law, passed over President Wilson's veto.

Picketing of Plant Continues

The striking machinists and other allied tradesmen from the Saco-Lowell shops held a mass meeting this morning in the interests of their demands upon the company and their ultimate walk-out, when they were refused.
Merrimack hall was packed to the doors and although the crowd was large enough to be broken into two meetings, only one was held. The meeting was closed to everyone except the strikers and organizers, but George McCabe, business agent of this district for the international union, gave out the word after the session that routine matters only took up the time.

Agent McCabe presided and introduced Robert Fehner, a member of the executive committee of the international union, who spoke at some length.
It was announced that William Larkin, organizer, has gone to the Biddeford, Me., plant of the Saco-Lowell, not for the purpose of calling out the men there in sympathy, but, if possible, to affect a change in working conditions, which, the union leaders say, are much similar to those in this city.

Report of City Treasurer

Fair Price Committee Secretary Reports on Local Sugar Situation

A report on the city's financial condition by City Treasurer Fred E.
Rourke, in which it was brought out that Lowell will close this year's work in better financial condition than for the past two years; another report on the local sugar situation by Warren
P. Rioridan, secretary of the Lowell fair price committee, resulting from a conference of the committee with the state commission on the usual series of life in Boston yesterday and the appropriation of $10,000 for street maintenance were the outstanding features of this morning's meeting of the municipal council.

The city treasurer's report was made to the council at the request of Mayor Perry D. Thompson. It showed that if the same amount of collections are made between now and the end of the year, the city will carry over 1920 a balance of $266,000. This is approximately the same amount that has been carried over for the past two years, but previously it has been necessary to borrow $200,000 in December. This will not be necessary this year, according to the treasurer.

GASOLINE IN LIQUID SHOE POLISH

The first time you purchase a bottle of liquid shoe polish, be sure to look on the outside of the bottle to see what it contains, because if you don't, you may be buying an article which the state law says must not be sold. To be brief, you may be getting a lot of gasoline in with the polish.

Walter L. Wedger, state chemist, was in Lowell a few days ago and in company with Chief Edward F. Saunders of the local fire department and Sgt. Hugh Maguire of the police department, made a tour of a number of local stores where shoe polish is sold and secured a number of bottles on which it was plainly printed on the outside that the polish contained 55 per cent gasoline. The police in question is manufactured by a Manchester, N. H. man.

It is in direct violation of Chapter 153 of the Acts of 1917 to sell gasoline in this manner without a license. Samples of the polish were taken and will be analyzed by Chemist Wedger. Arrests are expected to follow in a few days. Owing to the fact that the manufacturer of the polish is a New Hampshire man and is crafty enough not to cross the border into this state, the police have been unable to get hold of him.

This is the first case of its kind to come to the attention of the local officials and much interest is being taken in the outcome of whatever prosecution proceedings are instituted.

The polish was found in Lowell mainly in stores conducted by foreign-speaking people. About a dozen stores were visited in the "shoe polish raid."

Mr. Riordan's report of the visit of his committee to Boston yesterday, where it met Gen. John H. Sherburne, chairman of the state commission on the necessities of life, was not wholly optimistic, although he said that the state sugar commission had agreed to make an investigation of the local situation.

Meeting in Detail

The meeting was called at 10.23 Commissioner Morse was absent.

The first business was the report of Mr. Riordan at the request of the mayor. He said that four members of the fair price committee, Mrs. Heath, Mr. Rowlandson, Mr. Cosgrove and himself met Gen. Sherburne in Boston yesterday. Mr. O'Sullivan was unable to go because of illness in his family. They also met Messrs. Willard and Adams of the state commission.

"We brought up the matter of the sugar shortage in Lowell," Mr. Riordan said, "and pointed out that Lowell was not getting a fair share of the available supply. Gen. Sherburne replied that that complaint was being received from all over the state. I maintained that Lowell was getting the worst deal of any city. We were referred to a special sugar commission and at 4.30 went into conference with this body. We produced figures from two local wholesalers showing that they received 50 per cent less sugar in the first nine months of this year than in the same time a year ago. The committee didn't take kindly to this statement, but promised an immediate investigation, the result of which would be made known to us within a day or two."

Millinery Store Sugar

Mr. Riordan said the people in Boston anticipate considerable trouble on the sugar question when the United States equalization board is disbanded the first of the year. He said an effort was being made to have this board continued. He cited examples of what methods are being employed to distribute sugar in Lowell by saying that last week after an investigation he found that a local millinery store was giving two pounds of sugar to women who would pay a certain price for a hat. A local wholesaler, he said, is getting four barrels of sugar every week from Boston and another, not 100 yards away from city hall, was getting a similar amount every week from Manchester, N. H.

He said that the big trouble with the local situation was that the Boston commission was basing Lowell's allotment of three pounds per person on a population of 120,000. In reality this had to take care of not only Lowell but all the surrounding towns.

Following his report Mr. Riordan was extended the council's appreciation for his efforts as were the other members of the committee.

Action On Petitions

Margaret B. Scott et al., petitioned that the money which they paid for the oiling of Winter street between Pine and Parker be refunded inasmuch as they had not asked that the work be done. The matter was referred to Commissioner Murphy.

Carlton & Hovey's petition for a granite sidewalk at 13-15 Market street was referred to Commissioner Murphy.

Similar action was taken on the petitions of M. J. Markham for a sidewalk at 57 Chauncey avenue and Mary M. Sullivan for an electric light at 67-69 Leavitt street.

J. Francis O'Brien entered a claim for damage to clothing caused, it was alleged, by a nail protruding from the railing in the polling booth of Precinct 2 of Ward 7 at the city primaries. Referred to the law department.

The petition of the Sinclair Refining company for a garage and gasoline in Tanner street was held for a hearing December 15.

LIVELY JITNEY HEARING IN NO. CHELMSFORD

Fred Cummings, publicity man for the Eastern Mass. St. Ry. Co., told the residents of No. Chelmsford last evening at a meeting held in the town hall that it was up to them to choose between the jitneys and the electric cars, for both systems cannot exist in the same community. He said he did not go to No. Chelmsford to plead with the citizens for the elimination of the jitneys, but simply to explain to them the situation, but he stated that if they decide to keep the jitneys, the line extending between Stevens' corner and Wood's corner in the village will be discontinued.

The meeting was called by the board of selectmen for the purpose of discussing the so-called jitney act, and in the course of the evening a lively debate took place between Mr. Cummings and Frank Goldman, the latter appearing for the jitney interests of the town. There were about 200 residents of the town present. The Massachusetts Eastern Street Railway company was represented by Mr. Cummings, Manager Thomas A. Lees, Trustee Fred A. Crowley and Local Superintendent Bard B. Leavitt. Judge Frederic A. Fisher of this city represented the town's interest. There was no action taken and at the close of the meeting it was announced that a similar meeting will be held this evening in the town hall in the Centre village, while next Monday evening a special town meeting will be held at which time a vote will be taken to see if the town will accept the so-called jitney act of 1916 and thereby eliminate the jitneys from the town. The meeting was presided over by Justin L. Moore, chairman of the board of selectmen, who briefly explained how the meeting was brought about. At the close of his remarks Mr. Moore said the meeting was open for discussion, but no one seemed to be willing to speak unless some representative of the road was present, for at that time the representatives of the company had not arrived. Thomas H. Murphy said it was too bad the road was not represented at the meeting for in his opinion this would be the proper place to ask questions. Lawyer Frank Goldman, counsel for Joseph T. Ryan, who operates jitneys between North Chelmsford and Lowell, said he would rather speak in the presence of representatives of the road. Mr. Moore said the company had been requested to be represented at the meeting and he felt the road would acquiesce to the demand. At this point the above mentioned representatives of the company made their appearance.

Mr. Cummings was then introduced and his remarks were in part as follows:

"The Eastern Mass. St. Ry. Co. comes before you without anything else in its mind than to clearly relate to you the situation as it exists in North Chelmsford. We are trying to operate this line as representatives of your interests. We say to you that by a division of resources you are not injuring the road as much as yourselves. We lose $350 a week through the operation of jitneys in North Chelmsford by a man against whom we have no grievance. We don't come to argue with him, but the plain proposition is that a street railway and a jitney bus cannot both exist in the same community. We claim it is just as reasonable to have two street departments, and two gas companies as it is to have two transportation companies. We are not fooling ourselves on that point and we are not trying to fool you. If you want the jitneys and if you are satisfied they serve you well, there is no reason for our existence and we should be wiped off the map, but if you believe the railway is the real transportation medium, then you should choose us and wipe out the jitneys, for it is impossible to have both.

"We say it will be impossible to operate our line from Stevens' corner to Wood's corner with the jitneys in operation. We cannot deliver that ride at the price, with our resources so drained. The tracks are in such a wretched condition that we will immediately have to spend $7000 on them, providing we keep the line in operation. We don't come here to plead with you but to tell you to choose between the jitneys and the railways."

Mr. Cummings then told about the appointment of five public trustees by the governor in order to save the road from collapse and speaking about the economy that is being practiced by the trustees he said that the president, vice president and treasurer of the road

Banging of Doors and Even Laughter Upset Her Nerves

Distracted Massachusetts Woman
Finally Finds a Remedy for Nervous Trouble

The healthy, robust person has little patience with the man or woman who becomes "worked-up" over the cries of children, the banging of a door or a shrill whistle. He can't understand that when nerves are worn to a frazzle noise becomes painful. He doesn't stop to consider that when the blood grows thin and weak the nervous system, failing to get nourishment from the blood, becomes disarranged and that sleeplessness and indigestion follow. Mrs. H. Robinson who lives at No. 412 Main street, Clinton, Mass., suffered for months from nervous trouble before she learned that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, by building up the blood, will strengthen the nerves and bring back the color of health to the cheeks. "I had worked in fact," relates Mrs. Robinson, "I was so run down that the least little effort about the house tired me out and my nerves were in such shape that I suffered frequently from headaches. Noise of any kind upset me whether it was the banging of a door or the laughter and shouts of children. I had frequent dizzy spells and couldn't sleep well. I was pale and lost considerable weight."

"I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as I had read a great deal about the remedy. After a week's treatment I felt so much improved that I continued taking the pills. Gradually my strength returned and I was able to do my work without unusual effort. As my blood improved my nerves gained strength. I feel like myself again and have gained several pounds. I strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to those who are nervous and run down for I am sure that the remedy will help them."

who were receiving large salaries have been set aside, while the company has moved its quarters from State street to Beacon street, thereby reducing the rent by several thousand dollars. The speaker then informed his listeners that if they desired to continue the jitney business, they could do so and there would not be a word of dissent on the part of the company, "but if you do," he said, "we cannot continue to operate the road from Stevens' corner to Wood's corner."

Mr. Murphy wanted to know what assurance the road would give the residents of the town that in the event of the elimination of the jitneys there would be no more crowded cars and that conditions would be better. Mr. Cummings replied that as soon as the street cars are operated alone, then the responsibility of the road starts and if proper service is not given, the road should be kicked out of the streets.

It was then that Mr. Goldman started his cross-examination. Mr. Goldman—"Is the road losing $350 a week, or is it $350 that Ryan is getting and that the road would like to have?"

Mr. Cummings—"The road is losing $350 a week that the public would like to have."

Mr. Goldman—"Do you contend that the road is losing money in the operation of its cars from Merrimack square to North Chelmsford?"

Mr. Cummings—"The $350 now in the jitney traffic would make it easier for the trustee to give better service."

Mr. Goldman—"If the people of the town are willing to pay the present fare and the company is not losing, is the company willing to continue its service?"

Mr. Cummings—"This is not a private concern, but a public corporation."

Mr. Goldman—"I know and that is why I ask such a question."

Mr. Cummings—"You are wasting a lot of time previous to those present."

Mr. Goldman—"Nobody else but yourself has said so."

Mr. Goldman—"Is the 10-cent fare in Lowell an experiment?"

Mr. Cummings—"Yes sir and a very successful one."

Mr. Goldman—"Why not experiment in the same way in the town of Chelmsford?"

Mr. Cummings—"We will, we will."

Mr. Goldman—"We will, we will."

Mr. Goldman—"We will, we will."

Mr. Goldman—"We will, we will."

Mr. Goldman—"We will, we will."

give you a 12 1/2 cent fare in North Chelmsford the first day the jitneys go out of business."

This remark brought forth considerable laughter, which caused the chairman to rap to order and request fair play for everybody.

Mr. Goldman—"Why does not the road reduce its fares in an endeavor to get more business?"

Mr. Cummings—"We don't plead to take off the jitneys but if they continue to drain our sources we will get off the road."

Mr. Goldman—"But that is not answering my question."

Mr. Cummings—"Two transportation systems are a waste."

Mr. Goldman—"Then you would want to abolish it?"

Mr. Cummings—"No sir because the B. & M. is a common carrier."

Mr. Goldman—"So is Mr. Ryan's bus."

Mr. Cummings—"No sir, jitneys are nuisances."

Mr. Goldman then referred to the special session of the legislature, which is now on for the purpose of enacting a law regulating jitneys in towns and said in his opinion it would be only fair that the citizens of Chelmsford wait until the legislature speaks before taking any action on the matter.

Mr. Cummings said there is an urgent necessity for the road to know whether or not the public's money should be expended on roads where the company is losing money.

John Kelley, stated that in his opinion conditions of the road could be improved to a great extent in the town. He referred to the 10-cent fare that is being charged from the city line to the square in North Chelmsford and said that was an outrage and as a result a great many people are walking to and from the city line in order to save a dime. He also stated that as a result of exorbitant fares on the street cars a great many people are travelling on the steam road and he believed over $350 which the electric could have every week go to the B. & M.

Mr. Cummings closed by saying that if the jitneys are eliminated a 12 1/2 cent fare will be experimented on both in the North and Centre villages.

"Nothing Wrong With That Buddy," Opinion of Soldier Boys

BY SERGEANT CHAS. W. O'CONNOR (Ward 65, Walter Reed Hospital)

WASHINGTON, November 18.—He was a boyish, attractive figure, in his trim uniform, atop the steps of the big hospital, hands clasped behind him, red-band cap at a jaunty tilt.

"Comrades in arms, I'm having a very good time in the United States, and I hope you will be out of the hospital soon and having a good time, too."

Just a simple little speech it was, earnest, clearly spoken. It struck the hearts of the broad circle of boys in olive drab looking up from the foot of the steps. They grinned. And the boy on the steps grinned, too.

"Ailsa stuff," came a rear-rank chor- us. Then the slim, youthful speaker saluted smartly, twirled his cane, ran down to a big auto and was whisked away, red cap, smile and all.

Boys were wounded Americans at Walter Reed hospital, Washington.

Boys together they were for that moment when the prince addressed them at the great army hospital.

There was a youth for whom life is moving, full of color, sparkling with activity, brought for an instant into the quiet routine day of the "war hold-overs." He won for himself only admiration. No envy in that unanimous grin of the Yanks, just regular, old-fashioned "boy language" of understanding.

"Some duds he's got," said one doughboy, taking in the royal visitor's layout. Then these frank, outspoken Americans, whose eyes were made keen in judgment over there under bursting shells, chimed in:

"Well, nothing wrong with that buddy."

"He's a good looking kid at that."

"Not he gets awful sick of his job."

"Say, that bird looks to me as if he'd like to get loose and break away. He's a devil, I can see it in his eye."

And "Big Shorty" put it: "He's just human, like the rest of us, I guess."

All this, of course, in good natured, low-voice talk back in the ranks. Military etiquette forbade vocal demonstrations.

The prince shook hands with Herbert Hahn of Bellefontaine, O., who lost a leg and an arm at Chateau Thierry and a dozen other patients who held the place of honor in their wheel chairs.

No Show of Rank

During the war, Albert Edward, whose string of titles is wondrous long, was a staff officer in the British army. His uniform is covered with shining insignia. But in the presence of the men who know the long, hard aftermath of war, who still live in the reality of whirling bullets, there was no show of rank about him.

"I am happy to see you. I wish you luck. Hope you're well soon," was what he told the ward patients.

Outside, the big crowd of hundreds of soldiers, nurses in their spotless white, pretty aides in "bluebird" garb, officers and men of the post, movie men, chauffeurs, waited patiently, that last picture of the ruddy-faced boy on the steps—the last clear word in the earnest voice, the flash of sun on the gleaming motor—

The prince was gone.

"A very charming young man," said Head Nurse Beulah, demurely.

"Oh huh," said Private Burkette of No. 4 Cahillia, sub, reflectively.

The lecture was the first of a series to be held by the society and at the same high standard is maintained in subsequent addresses as provided in the first, the officers of the organization will deserve congratulation.

Mr. McSweeney's lecture covered a wide range of territory and did so purposely inasmuch as the speaker said he wished to sketch only briefly

Name "Bayer" means genuine Aspirin prescribed by physicians for nineteen years. Handy (in boxes of 12 tablets) cost few cents. Aspirin is trade mark of Bayer Manufacturers of Monocetylacetic Acid of Salicylic Acid.

the leading features of Ireland's history, her present standing in world affairs and England's relations to both this country and Ireland. He suggested that from the outlines he gave, the members of the society institute a course of lectures in which each topic can be discussed in detail.

Mr. McSweeney characterized the League of Nations as a scheme on the part of England, written up by a member of a family that for years has controlled the foreign policy of England, Lord Robert Cecil. He said that when Senator Henry Cabot Lodge rightfully attacked the League of Nations, there was not a word of complaint from those people who called Senator David I. Walsh "an American" when he made a similar attack.

Proceeding Mr. McSweeney's address was a brief business session in which nominating committees submitted a list of officers for the coming year. Pres. William J. Pendergast then introduced James O'Sullivan, chairman of the general committee in charge of the evening's meeting, as the presiding officer.

Seated on the platform were officers of the Holy Name society, including Rev. Francis L. Keenan, the spiritual director. In the audience were Rt. Rev. Mgr. William O'Brien, P.R., pastor of St. Patrick's, and other clergy of the parish.

In introducing Mr. McSweeney, Mr. O'Sullivan said that the former had made as great sacrifices for the Irish cause as anyone within the confines of the commonwealth and that St. Patrick's Holy Name society should feel deeply honored by his coming. Mr. McSweeney was given an enthusiastic welcome.

He referred to two previous visits which he had made in Lowell, both under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus, and said that when he made an address on socialism here in 1911, he felt that he had not "put across" his message. A few months later, however, he received a copy of a book containing his address printed in both English and Japanese, the gift of a missionary priest. Only a short time ago, the chairman of a Japanese delegation visiting Boston, sought him out and told him that millions of copies of his address were being distributed by the Japanese government. He cited these incidents, he said, to show that even though an address or an editorial does not seem to meet with immediate fruit, sooner or later results will be forthcoming.

"I'm not going to make an effort to speak eloquently of Ireland," he said. "Any man of Irish blood can do that without making an effort."

"It's been said many times, and especially in the recent discussion of the right of Ireland to freedom, that Ireland is not consistent. It won't follow a leader. Why, the Irish are the most consistent nation on the earth. For 40 years they backed up O'Connell and for 40 more Parnell and Redmond, whether they were right or wrong. No nation is more loyal to its leaders than Ireland. And I feel that the Irish people can show the same loyalty to an established form of government now that the prospect of independence is before them."

"As the son of an Irish-born father and an American-born mother, I have found in my life that our neighbors of other races have the idea that while Irish people may be loyal to the employers, faithful in every way, yet, after all, they are really fit to be only servants. They have the idea that we make good housemaids, mental laborers, etc. I have even seen some people of Irish blood who have become rich, get the impression that they will be better thought of if they repudiate the race from which they sprang."

"That's the reason why it is high time that the 875,000 Irish people in Massachusetts begin to assert themselves. We have played too much with politics and have not given our attention to the business world. We have failed to realize that one good business man can swamp 500 politicians."

"Then came the great war and there was a slightly different feeling toward the Irish. But I want to bring out the point that in the United States, the south, bigoted always, is trying to revive the Civil war and England is trying to revive the American Revolution. In the war of 1812 Massachusetts was a Tory state. The Massachusetts legislature pleaded the congressmen and senators from this state not to press America's claim against Great Britain for the freedom of the seas. But there were real Americans at Washington at that time and America went to war to uphold her rights."

"It is impossible to believe that our neighbors, whom we respect in so many ways, can be willing to approve the freedom of nations that have been born overnight and are not willing to look with favor on the establishment of free Ireland, the oldest nation on earth. When we ask for independence they tell us that we are not American. But all the colonial historians say that America was saved from England at the time of the Revolution by the Irish because the American army was 35 per cent. Irish."

"Do you know that when President Wilson was about to start on his western trip, the president of Liberia, the black republic, wanted to see him, but was delayed in reaching Washington and asked him to postpone his trip until he arrived. And the president did this, but when an Irish delegation a week before asked to see him, it was refused."

"And all through his western trip he characterized the Irish as 'hyphen.' Well, I stood for nine years at the gateway to the United States and saw peoples coming in from all parts of Europe. And the most discordant people of all I saw were those that are now to make up some of the new states created by the peace congress. And yet Ireland is refused her independence."

"When Henry Cabot Lodge opposes the League of Nations there is not a whisper from the Tories of Boston. But when Senator David I. Walsh dares to lift his voice against the league, the purity of his motives is questioned and he is told that he is not an American."

Yet I know full well that if there were a real question between Ireland and the United States, everyone of you would rather see Ireland sink to the bottom of the sea than to have a lot of harm come to the United States. And yet they call you 'hyphen.'"

Mr. McSweeney then suggested that the society institute a course of lectures on Ireland so that they may have a clear knowledge of her history and institutions. He sketched briefly the civilization that Ireland had had 1000 years before England had even a law. He said that one evening of the lecture course should be devoted to the pagan period before Christ when Ireland was one of the few nations entirely isolated from the immorality and weakness that accompanied Roman invasions. At that time, he said, Ireland was living under the purest form of democracy. Nine hundred years before Chaucer and Dante, Ossian was writing inspired poetry whose beauty has been seldom excelled.

Another evening, he suggested, should be devoted to the study of the wonderful work of St. Patrick and he brought out the fact that 1400 years before Massachusetts allowed women to be educated, Ireland was giving her women university training under the direction of St. Bridget, King Alfred of England, he said, came to Ireland to get the foundation of Celtic common law.

"They tell us that we are not a race," said Mr. McSweeney, "but they don't say that in the 13th century England pleaded to be admitted into the council of Constantine as an ancient nation, but France said no because England was not an ancient nation. Not until the English king proved that he was king of Ireland, a really ancient nation, was England allowed to enter the council."

The speaker then came down to modern Irish history and said that in 1810 the grandfathers of many of the men who were sitting before him were starving in Ireland while English landlords were taking wheat and cattle from the country and shipping it to England. He sketched briefly the incidents of the Easter week revolution in 1916 and told of England's inconsistency in forbidding the arming of the Irish Volunteers while those of Ulster were allowed to arm for rebellion.

"England told us that she was in the war to help small democracies and not to gain a foot of territory," he continued. "Well, I heard a good story tonight. Bernard Shaw is quoted as saying that England won the war and that if you didn't believe it, all you had to do was look at her winnings."

England has control of the first potential food supply section of the world, the former German colonies in Africa which have been given to her as mandates. And she got other gains as a result of the world war. And yet she was in the war to gain not a single foot of territory.

"England's one purpose is to stifle all commercial competition. She has been successful in this effort except in case of the United States. Japan is virtually in her control and will be for the next hundred years and now she wants to get control of America by the League of Nations."

Following Mr. McSweeney's address there were moving pictures, piano and vocal selections, and refreshments were served. The committee in charge consisted of President Pendergast, James O'Sullivan and Timothy Rohan, the latter in charge of the refreshments and entertainment.

Imitations Are Dangerous.

AN OHIO druggist writes to "The Practical Druggist," a prominent New York Drug Journal, as follows: "Please furnish formula for Castoria. All the formulas I have worked with are either ineffective or disagreeable to administer."

To this "The Practical Druggist" replies: "We do not supply formulas for proprietary articles. We couldn't if we wanted to. Your experience with imitative formulas is not surprising, but just what is to be expected. When Castoria is wanted, why not supply the genuine? If you make a substitute, it is not fair or right to label it Castoria. We can give you all sorts of laxative preparations for children, but not Castoria, and we think a mother who asks for Castoria would not feel kindly toward you if you gave her your own product under such a name."

No mother with a spark of affection for her child will overlook the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher when buying Castoria.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Mothers Must Use Care.

Why do we so often call your attention to imitations of Fletcher's Castoria? Because it is a baby's medicine and imitations are always dangerous, particularly imitations of a remedy for infants.

Your druggist may not keep an imitation but they are to be found on drug-store shelves. Reliable druggists think only of the welfare of their customers. The other kind only of the greater profit to be made on imitations.

Your own judgment tells you that Fletcher's Castoria having for over thirty years at great expense held up its reputation, must jealously guard it. Then, it follows that this company must use the very best of material. Must employ experts in the selection of the herbs. Must retain skilled chemists in its manufacture.

Your same good judgment must tell you that these irresponsible imitations are trading on your credulity and the reputation built up by Mr. Fletcher, during all these years, for his Castoria.

MOTHERS SHOULD READ THE BOOKLET THAT IS AROUND EVERY BOTTLE OF FLETCHER'S CASTORIA.

CONSTANTINO, THE TENOR, IS DEAD

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 20.—Florentino Constantino, the widely known Spanish tenor, died here yesterday after a long illness.

Florentino Constantino sang for many years in the United States. He was a member of the San Carlo Opera company, organized by Henry Russell, and later of the Boston Opera company and of the Manhattan Opera company, under Oscar Hammerstein, in New York. He went to South America after leaving the Boston Opera company in 1912, but had been living for several years past in Mexico, where he was taken ill.

Constantino sang at many opera houses in European cities before coming to this country. He was born in Bilbao, Spain.

APEX ELECTRIC WASHER IS BIG SUCCESS

Remarkable in its simplicity and truly marvelous in the great amount of work it does at such little cost, the Apex Electric Washer, which is handled only by Howe & Whipple Co., at 179 East Merrimack street, is of especial interest to every woman in Lowell. This washer runs by electricity, is light in weight and washes everything from fine lace to blankets and other heavy pieces.

One of the most astonishing facts about the operation of the Apex is its remarkable low cost to run—the actual cost being 1½c. an hour.

It is all metal, rust-proof construction, thus doing away with the old style of wooden washes which was very hard to keep clean.

The Apex has what is known as a double cleansing action, that is, the tub not only swings from side to side but tips to a very steep angle so that the clothes have a complete drop into the water and the water has a clear drop onto the clothes.

A demonstration of its quick and clean washing ability is wonderful in that its cleansing power is much better than the back-breaking, tedious method of washing by hand. The Apex does all the work in 1-3 the usual time and does it 100 per cent better.

ings law also passed over the president's veto.

Providing for return of telegraph telephone and cable wire lines to private operation.

Continuing government control of dyes to Jan. 15, next.

Extension of the Lever food and fuel control law to clothing and other necessities, and penalizing hoarding and profiteering.

Granting permanent rank to General Pershing.

Providing for demobilizing the army to a peace basis of approximately 390,000 men, pending permanent peace-time legislation.

Authorizing completion of the government railroads in Alaska.

Continuing war-time passport restrictions so as to prevent an influx of radical aliens.

Appropriations of $3,000,000,000.

Ten appropriations aggregating about $3,000,000,000 also were passed. They included $150,000,000 for the railroad administration; $772,000,000 for the army; $616,000,000 for the navy; and a sundry civil budget of $613,000,000.

Numerous minor bills and resolutions also were enacted, but no attempt was made to pass over the president's veto the Cummins bill to restore the pre-war rate making powers of the interstate commerce commission.

The German treaty so engrossed senate attention that it shut off consideration of much legislation. Senate discussion of the treaty began May 23, but the document itself was not submitted by President Wilson until July 10. Committee hearings and consideration required two months, the report with 11 reservations being made to the senate Sept. 10.

Deliberations on the treaty evoked one of the most bitter and prolonged contests between congress and the president in American history with the controversy centered largely about the League of Nations covenant.

The French treaty, providing an American guarantee to assist France in the event of unprovoked German aggression, was submitted to the senate by the president, July 29, after demands from senate republicans, but still remains in the foreign relations committee.

Another treaty, the Panama canal settlement with Colombia proposing payment of $25,000,000 by the United States also remains in committee. It was reported to the senate but later withdrawn because of Colombian demands regarded as injurious to American interests.

Several important legislative measures went over for final action at the regular session. The oil, coal, gas and phosphate land leasing bill was passed by both bodies and remains in conference as does the Edge bill, authorizing organization of corporations to help finance American export trade.

Irish Railroad Bill

The Esch railroad bill passed the house and will be taken up with the senate interstate commerce committee's bill at the December session. The house also passed and sent to the senate bills providing for development of water power projects for establishment of a federal budget system, and providing a permanent government shipping policy.

There were numerous investigations during the extra session. Besides the house inquiries into aviation, ordnance contracts and other war department activities, the senate investigated the steel strike, Mexican situation, the coal situation and other matters.

The senate also authorized investigation of the print paper trade, but deferred the inquiry until the new session.

Preliminary steps looking to revision of tariff and internal revenue laws also were taken, with general revision planned during the regular session. The effort to repeal war taxes on soft drinks and other luxuries failed.

Army Legislation

Permanent army legislation was advanced both by the senate and house military committees which completed hearings on peace time army proposals and are prepared to present bills in the new session providing for a permanent army of about 300,000 men, as compared with the war department's request for 500,000.

Bills to increase pay of the navy personnel also are in progress.

Controversies during the extra session resulted from opposition to senate ratification of Attorney General Palmer and Comptroller of Currency John H. Egan. The former was confirmed, but the latter's nomination was pending.

The house refused to seat Representative Victor Berger, socialist of New York, because of his attitude during the war, and ousted John H. Dineen, old democrat, of Massachusetts, whose election was contested by Peter J. Maguire of Boston.

In Regard to Shopping Early for Christmas

This year more than ever before it is advisable to do Christmas Shopping in November. In addition to the old reasons that assortments are larger and goods fresher early in the season—that shopping is more comfortable because not so hurried or crowded—there is a new reason this year. Conditions are abnormal. Merchandise of the right kind is not as easy as usual to obtain and will be less easy later on. All charges for merchandise purchased between November 15 and Christmas may be paid with account to be rendered January 1, 1920.

50 DOCTORS TO TEST TOBACCO

Seek To Show Whether It's Harmful—Prohibition Move?

Some on List Are Known To Be Enemies of Smoking Habit

BY FREDERICK M. KERBY.
N.E.A. Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, Nov.—"The Committee of Fifty," headed by Dr. Alexander Lambert, 43 East 72d street, New York, modeled on the committee of fifty which 25 years ago declared alcohol a poison, has undertaken a study of the effects of nicotine on the human system.

After research and study extending over a period of years, the old committee decided by majority action, that alcohol was a poison. Based on their findings, the campaign against liquor was in large parts carried on.

The new "Committee of Fifty" to study the effects of tobacco on the human body, includes many members of the old committee.

Among its membership are Dr. Walter B. Cannon of Harvard, Prof. Henry W. Farnum of Yale, Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale, Prof. F. W. Roman of Syracuse, the author of the famous pamphlet, "Nicotine Next," prepared for the W.C.T.U., George J. Fisher of the Y.M.C.A., Austin B. Fletcher, chairman of the Tufts college board of trustees; Dr. Oscar H. Rogers, chief physician for the New York Life Insurance company; Dr. Eugene Lyman Fisk, director of the Life Extension Institute, and George Foster Peabody.

Dr. Lambert is chairman of the executive committee.

Meetings have been held at the Yale club here.

A constitution, by-laws and rules have been adopted, and it is intended to make the membership world-wide.

The investigation which the committee will make is announced to be "extensive and impartial."

"The Committee of Fifty on Tobacco" was formed to make a scientific study of the effects of tobacco on the human body," Dr. Alexander Lambert told me. "It will take one or two years before scientific experiments will be completed from which we can draw any conclusions. This committee is not in any way connected with any crusade against cigarettes or tobacco. It is intended to form a purely scientific, unbiased opinion regarding the effects of tobacco on the human organism."

Dr. William Oster of Oxford, who is at present devoting himself to special studies of the heart, has joined the committee, and distinguished French scientists are to be brought in.

Notwithstanding the announcement of the purely scientific basis of the experiments, many of the men on the committee have expressed themselves strongly against tobacco—notably Dr. Roman and Prof. Farnum, who are credited with calling the first organization meeting.

THAT GERMAN SURPLUS

German goods have been said to be stored in large quantities for export at the first possible moment. A devastating torrent has sometimes been predicted. England officially holds another view. The president of the board of trade says, "Beyond a comparatively small quantity there does not seem to be any accumulation of goods in Germany ready for export. Their costs are enormous. In addition there is a great fall in productivity. There is no great manufacturing activity in Germany. Industry is not moving but is very stagnant. They are short of raw material, and their state is pitiful with regard to coal. Great as our difficulties are here, theirs are infinitely greater."—The Nation's Business for November.

MEN AND WOMEN ARE NO OLDER THAN THEY FEEL

One of our leading doctors says, "Everyone, no matter what their age, can be healthy and strong. It is a case of fake care of yourself."

"For want of Iron and Phosphates you may be old at thirty, nervous, thin, weak, and all-in, while at fifty or sixty, with plenty of Iron and Phosphates in your blood, you will feel young, full of life, vim and energy."

"Many a man and woman who ought to feel young are losing out simply because their blood and nerves are starving for want of Phosphated Iron. Lack of Iron and Phosphates makes men and women old long before their time, weak, run-down nervous wrecks."

"You will find that the strong, keen, forceful, successful men and healthy, rosy-cheeked, happy women are those whose blood and nerves are charged with Iron and Phosphates."

"Phosphated Iron makes new, rich red blood; renews nerve force and vitality, and increases my patients' strength and appearance one hundred per cent. Thousands of men and women who were 'all-in' have 'come-back' with astonishing health, strength and happiness by taking 'Phosphated Iron'."

Phosphated Iron is put up in capsules. Do not take inferior pills or tablets. Ask for Phosphated Iron capsules. For sale by

SHE'S A FLYING FISH!

Here is California's newest marine speed marvel—Thelma Finn of Los Angeles—who recently captured the 220-yard women's championship of the Pacific Coast—and is planning to go after the national title next year.

Miss Finn is a protegee of Vance Veith, swimming instructor of the Los Angeles Athletic club, who predicts that she will eventually be the greatest feminine exponent of the sport in America.

AGREE ON MINIMUM CHILD LABOR AGE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Unanimous approval was given yesterday by the International Labor conference to the plan of submitting to the governments represented an international agreement regarding child labor and fixing minimum ages of employment. For all countries, except Japan, India and a few others in the Orient, the agreement would prohibit any child being put to work under 14 years old. The age fixed for Japan and India is 12 years.

Employment of women in industries where the materials used might be detrimental to maternity was disapproved by the conference.

Protest against seating Argentine delegates brought a mild rebuke yesterday from the credentials committee to the Argentine government. The committee suggested that it would be advisable if "the Argentine government on a future occasion should, if possible, select the labor delegates by agreement between the two groups of labor associations." Delegate Americo Baffino is a representative of the Argentine Railway union, the only Argentine labor organization having legal status. There are unrecognized trade unions with larger memberships.

The German government has advised the conference that, in view of the announced determination of the conference to adjourn November 22, it obviously would be useless for its delegation to sail for the United States.

NEARLY ALL GIRLS ARE JUST EIGHTEEN

BY GEORGE B. WATERS
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov.—"Though shall not bear false witness," says the bible, meaning, don't lie.

Uncle Sam, knowing the proclivities of his nieces and nephews to fib when tax matters are involved, has made an iron clad law that nothing in the census records can be used against anybody.

So when the nose-counters call just after Jan. 1, everybody should tell them the truth. Their statement will be barred to the tax inquisitor.

Income tax dodgers are not the only ones who pervert the truth, census-takers say. In 1910 more girls were 18 than any other age above 7. There were 1,000,000 more girls that age than there were 15.

There were more native-born girls 18 in 1910 than there were 8 in 1900, which is an impossibility, census-takers say.

A girl is taking only one chance in telling her right age—that is, if she should want to marry the census-taker, it might be a handicap. Otherwise, the truth will not hurt as the census-taker is sworn to self-pedal everything.

All that stuff told before the draft registration about the census bureau furnishing information about draft-evaders was camouflage. The department of justice tried to get a peep at the records, but there was nothing doing. And if the secretary of the treasury should try to ascertain the amount of someone's income, he would be turned away.

Taking the census is a serious matter, in fact, the bureau is such a serious place that poets and humorists here steer shy of it. Miller Hamilton, publicist man for the bureau, has a request from a magazine for a "breezy human interest" story about the census and he has been racking his brain for something to write.

"Send pictures," the magazine editor said. Hamilton found just four pictures available for publication in the whole bureau—and not a single person was shown in any of them. The only photos were those of machines used for sorting and tabulating cards.

There may not be many heart throbs in these machines. But they are wonderful pieces of mechanism that have been developed in the census bureau. To E. M. LaRocheaux and Edward Nelson, who have been at the bureau 12 and 20 years, respectively, belongs the credit for developing them.

It is through these machines that persons who divulge personal information lose their identity after the census sheets reach the "figure factory." Records of individuals, factories, farms, mines, quarries and the like are first taken on the census blanks, called sheets. When one of these sheets is fed into the figure factory, it becomes a card, nameless, with a bunch of holes punched in it. These cards constitute the raw material in its second stage.

They are fed into the sorters and tabulating machines and the finished product there turned out what is called statistics.

But the census is not all machine work. The averages turned out by the machines have to be polished and interpreted. Dr. Joseph A. Hill, chief statistician of revision and results, is fascinated with figures. That is why he has stayed in the department 20 years. His job is to take these figures and dress them up so the ordinary man can make heads and tails of them.

Some people say that statistics are as dry as dust, but Dr. Hill hasn't found them so.

Another thing the bureau will determine is: If a platform were built over the United States, and if the people would all stand still in their homes, and the platform were raised up a few feet, where would a pivot have to be placed to balance the platform? The last pivot was placed in Bloomington, Indiana. The next one will move south and west, but remain in Indiana. This is the centre of population.

TIDE OF IMMIGRATION TO CANADA NEAR

LONDON, Tuesday, Nov. 18. (Via Ottawa.)—Herbert Samuel, former British postmaster general, believes that a tide of immigration to Canada will begin in the near future. High prices, he says, will give an impetus to the movement towards food producing countries.

Emigration from eastern Europe was growing steadily before the war and a great movement from this quarter may possibly present one of the most formidable problems for Canada in the future.

MARRIAGE IS HERE!

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The newest thing in marriages has arrived. The bride and groom live in separate establishments in different towns. Hubby keeps his name; wifey keeps hers. Both wear a ring. They visit each other over week-ends or run away together for a couple of days whenever the mood seizes them. In this way, "love will never grow cold," the two will remain sweethearts all their lives, wifey will not be a mere housekeeper, or husband a furnace tender—in short perfect bliss is to be obtained.

The experiment is that of Nina Wilcox Putnam, who has just married Robert J. Sanderson. The bride is the widow of Robert Faulkner Putnam, a member of the well-known publishing

Believers in Monogamy

"Miss Putnam," as she calls herself, has her country home in Madison, Conn., and Mr. Sanderson lives in Bridgeport. They will keep an apartment in New York which they share in their "playtime" as they call it.

Their four-day honeymoon has been spent in New York and they are going back to their respective homes until one or the other decides to visit the other or "runaway" over a week-end in the big city.

"I believe in monogamy," Miss Putnam declares. "It ought not to be called a failure, because it has never been tried by society as a whole. On one side there have been all the evasions, the hypocritical arrangements tolerated by a professedly moral and monogamous civilization, while on the other side the marriage relation has been hooked up with so many irrelevant conditions—the joint household, the woman's skill as a cook, her dependence on the man as a breadwinner."

WASHINGTON.—Alfred St. Germain, Montana Sioux cowpuncher, lost the use of his left arm to a German bullet. And now he is enrolled by the federal board of vocational training in the Cincinnati art academy and on his way to fame.

Each Earns Living

Miss Putnam also holds that there is another reason why a man and wife should not live together—because there is a constant temptation to devote too much time to each other and not get any work done.

There will be no difficulty about money—each party to this marriage is earning a living, and all the living arrangements will be on a fifty-fifty basis.

"Marriage means love, romantic love, founded on trust and managed with intelligence," said Miss Putnam.

creasing, appropriations in future years.

Each state must appropriate sums equal to that furnished to it by the federal government. This will mean, if the bill passes, that $4,000,000 will be spent the year following June 30, 1920, and after June 30, 1925, $8,000,000 a year to see that babies are properly brought into the world and are given a chance to live and that the mothers are given the best of care.

The bill, as drawn, makes the secretary of labor chairman of the federal board of maternal and infant hygiene and the chief of the children's bureau would be the executive officer. The surgeon general and the United States commissioner of education would be members.

The children's bureau would establish public health nursing clinics in every county in the United States.

The movement to extend such government aid is backed by the international congress of working women, the Red Cross, the children's bureau, the United States public health service and the bureau of education.

SPECIAL SESSION OF HOUSE ADJOURNS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Six months to the day after the congress convened in special session the house formally adjourned at 4:02 p. m. yesterday, after receiving word from President Wilson that he did not object to this action. The adjournment resolution was adopted by a vote of 55 to 5.

Only a short recess will be possible, as congress will reconvene in regular session Dec. 1. Many house members had left for home, however, before the formal adjournment and only 60 were present when the committee sent to inform the president of the situation returned with word that he had no objection to adjournment. Republican Leader Mondell, Democratic Leader Clark and Representative Townner, republican, Iowa, composed the committee, which did not see the president, but conferred with Secretary Tumulty at the White House.

The committee was told that the president had signed the resolutions passed yesterday legalizing the creation of an equipment trust to pay the government for cars and locomotives bought for the railroads during federal control, and also that for continuing the government control of dye imports until Jan. 15. This cleared the slate.

Mr. Mondell inserted a statement in the record declaring that 70 bills had been enacted during the special session, the appropriation measures aggregating $2,828,283,432, or a decrease of $140,619,595 from estimates made at the last session of congress. Enforcement of national prohibition, extension of the food control act, the suffrage amendment and the return of telephone and telegraph lines to private control were enumerated.

"In addition," the statement said, "the house has considered and passed measures of great importance which the senate, engrossed in the treaty, has had no time to consider."

Easy to Make This Pine Cough Remedy

Thousands of families swear by its prompt results. Inexpensive, and gives about $2.

You know that pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is that pine contains several peculiar elements that have a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest. Pine is famous for this purpose.

The cough syrup are combinations of pine and syrup. The "syrup" part is usually plain sugar syrup.

To make the best pine cough remedy that money can buy, put 2½ ounces of pine in a pint bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you make a full pint—more than you can buy ready-made for three times the money. It is pure, good and very pleasant—children take it eagerly.

You can feel this take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means business. The cough may be dry, hoarse and tight, or may be persistently loose from the formation of phlegm. The cause is the same—inflamed membranes—and this Pine and Syrup combination will stop it—usually in 24 hours or less. Splendid, too, for bronchial asthma, hoarseness, or any ordinary throat ailment.

Pine is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is famous for the world over for its prompt effect upon coughs.

Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pine" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pine Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

GOV. COOLIDGE DELAYS ON APPOINTMENTS

BOSTON, Nov. 20.—Although the state house corridors were almost choked with rumors yesterday afternoon as to why Gov. Coolidge had not submitted his "big list" of nominations for the consolidated departments,

FAMOUS BRONZE HORSES BACK

VENICE—The famous "Horses of St. Marks" are back again as a symbol of victory. They were removed to Rome during the World War for safe keeping. The bronze horses are five feet in height and rank among the finest specimens of bronze statuary in the world. They first stood in Rome when Rome ruled the world. Later they were taken to Constantinople, remaining there until captured by Venetians. Napoleon took them to Paris when he was in power and they remained there until 1815 when they were restored to Venice.

tions for the consolidated departments, boards and commissions, it is a fact that some of those selected for certain important positions have not accepted. Naturally this would cause a delay and is a much more plausible reason for the governor withholding the list than any of the alleged explanations emanating every few minutes yesterday afternoon from the over-worked "rumor factory."

There were stories that the activities of friends of candidates had caused the governor to hesitate. That there were several "drives" in operation there is little doubt. Not only were there scores of callers, beginning early in the morning, but there were letters, telegrams and even long-distance telephone calls pouring in from office-seekers or their insiders.

The governor has been called upon to settle in 10 days or so the question of a vast number of highly important appointments. He has been working exceedingly hard, night and day, in order to complete the list, and those familiar with the gigantic proportions of his task are not surprised that it is not yet finished.

The executive council will hold its next regular meeting Wednesday of next week. Its members are canvassing the official vote of the state election and could be summoned in a few hours if the governor so wished. There is a report that he will have the list ready tomorrow and will submit it at a special session of the council. Some persons believe the governor will wait until next Wednesday.

LIFE SENTENCE

Mello Convicted of Murder of Three Men

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 20.—James Rego Mello was sentenced by Judge Doran in Washington county superior court yesterday to life imprisonment at hard labor for the murder of William Rhodes and Gustave and Oscar Olsen on Jan. 30, 1916, in West Kingston.

Asked by the judge if he had anything to say, Mello declared that he had been dealt with unfairly and that he had been a victim of conspiracy and perjury. He said that 27 witnesses that could have been called for his defense had not been summoned to the trial.

Average wages of men in eight leading industries, as measured by average hourly earnings, increased all the way from 74 to 112 per cent, during the period from September, 1914, to March, 1919.

AMERICAN DECORATED BY POLISH REPUBLIC

LEMBERG, Galicia, Tuesday, Nov. 11.
(By Associated Press)—Captain Merlon C. Cooper of Jacksonville, Fla., flight leader of the Kosciuszko flying squadron, made up of American flyers, received the Orleta, or Little Eagle, of Poland, today, this being the first time a war decoration has been awarded a foreign officer by the young Polish republic.

The Orleta is given only to those who served in the campaign in eastern Galicia last winter and spring. Captain Cooper, who was then with the American relief administration, earned the decoration by bringing up food supplies to Lemberg under fire and remaining in the city in charge of relief measures for four months, during which time Lemberg was besieged by Ukrainian forces.

SUFFRAGE UP IN THE AIR IN NEBRASKA

The record of Mrs. Zella Longley, direct descendant of Marquis de Lafayette, who recently made a 20-mile flight over Washington, D. C., at the age of 87, has been beaten. Doing a chariot-of-fire stunt in the sky at the age of 91 takes some nerve. But Ellen Harn of Kanesaw, Neb., had her nerve right with her, also her votes-for-women banner.

When she found that Aviator Burgess Crech would let her carry her banner up into the sky, and set it flying over the roofs of the town she had trotted on her knee when it was an infant, she was as willing to ascend as was the Prophet Elijah. She even consented to fly in as bad a storm as the weather man could stage for the occasion; but what is a storm more or less to a pioneer suffragist?

West Was Wilderness

Besides mounting in an airplane, Miss Harn is mounting in age towards her own centennial celebration. She was born in 1828 when the west was a wilderness, and before the east began trickling west in schooners and hand-carts. She is probably the oldest votes-for-women advocate in Adamsco, and more than probably the oldest person in her state, if not in any other state, to go up in a flying machine.

With Suffrage Pioneers

When prairie dogs were as frequent as kittens on Nebraska plains, and there was nothing of Kanesaw but a future, she began to organize women for their rights. She marched in the same phase of the great movement as did the Grinke sisters of South Carolina, Lucretia Mott, Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Susan B. Anthony of New York, with Elizabeth Fry and Florence Nightingale.

CLASS IN ENGLISH AT LOCAL MILL

The class in English for Portuguese and Polish women being held at the Massachusetts mills during the noon hour is one of the most active agents for Americanization in the city. Miss Blanche Howell and Miss Anna Kolanik, both of the International Institute, are the teachers and each speaks the native tongue of the women she instructs. Miss Howell learned Portuguese while teaching in Brazil. She holds three classes a week and Miss Kolanik, two.

Conversations methods of teaching are being used, with blackboard illustrations and the lessons for the most part deal with affairs and events the women are obliged to come in contact with daily, such as shopping, traveling and in the home. Excellent progress is being made and the students show an interest which makes instruction easy.

Beauty Answers By MADAME MAREE

MINNIE—The great secret of making hair grow is in the development of the vigor of hair roots. Merestimulation of the scalp is not enough. It is the lack of realization of this fact which is the cause of so much failure in the treatment of the hair. The hair roots may be developed to a very remarkable degree by using the proper methods. As a root-developer nothing can equal the use of beta-quinol. This can be secured at any drug store for 50 cents, in one-ounce packages. When mixed with a half pint of bay rum and a half pint of water the developer is ready to use. It is not oily, and when used liberally gives all the results which anyone could wish. By developing the roots, the growth is forced, it becomes thick, vigorous and silky, bald spots fill out, and instead of shrunken, sick hairs which fall out readily on combing we have strong hair, held firmly in the scalp, thus putting an end to hair falling.

MRS. A. T. F.—The skin can be brought back to its original plumpness and vigor by the following formula: An astonishing result is the quick disappearance of wrinkles, little and big, crows' feet and lines of age. It is simple and can be prepared in a few moments, by adding to half a pint of water one tablespoonful of glycerine and two ounces of eptol, obtained from your druggist for 50 cents. This takes years from your appearance, and is always sure and positive in its work if you will apply it liberally, every day.

MAY R. T.—As to head-wash, I advise against using soap or the many shampoos sold, because of the alkali they contain. This dries up hair so creations. Get Epsom at the drug store and dissolve a teaspoonful of it in half a cup of water. You can get enough epsom for 25 cents for a dozen or more head-washes. It is magic in cleansing hair and scalp, and aids wonderfully in making hair grow.—Adv.

THE PRESIDENT'S APPEAL

"I APPEAL with entire confidence to our producers, our middlemen and our MERCHANTS to deal fairly with the people. It is their opportunity to show that they comprehend, that they intend to act justly and that they have the public interest at heart."—President Wilson.

Are the clothing profiteers acting justly? This appeal to them is like water on a duck's back. We admit merchandise is high---yes very high---and going higher every day, but not high enough yet to warrant the Merrimack Clothing asking $60 and 70 for Men's Good Suits and Overcoats, or $25 and $30 for Boys' Suits and Overcoats, or $150 to $350 for Ladies' Suits and Coats. These are the profiteers' prices. Are you willing to pay these unfair prices or are you with the Merrimack Clothing Co. in its endeavor to stamp out profiteering in Lowell?

TEACHERS' SALARIES

No Increase Made by School Board—Janitors' Association Reports

Although it had been generally expected that the school committee would formally vote an increase in the salaries of Lowell teachers at the special meeting held last evening to discuss the action of the municipal council Tuesday, when it was voted to transfer $52,100.65 from the general treasury to the school department, no action was taken on the matter by the members last night. The session was decidedly brief, and was given over almost entirely to the hearing of a report from the Janitors' Association relative to their recent request for a 25 per cent increase in salary.

The report of the secretary of the association, Thomas M. Keegan, was made in answer to queries recently submitted by the school board, asking the association to state its attitude on various points in connection with the request for an increased wage.

Mr. Keegan said that it was the decision of the association that a janitor of a four-room building should continue to receive the same compensation as the janitor of a six or eight-room building, as at present. The head janitor, or senior janitor, should continue to receive the same wage as other janitors, he declared.

He also said that it had been voted by the association to continue doing minor repairs on the buildings in their charge, so far as their abilities allowed.

Referring to the 25 per cent increase, Mr. Keegan pointed out that in many of the cities of the state, notably Fall River, New Bedford and Lawrence, the janitors are receiving much higher pay than the Lowell men.

The board of trade is to recommend an increase in the wages of local policemen to a minimum of $5 a day, the speaker said, and he felt that the janitors, who in the past had received the same wages as the police, were not unreasonable in asking for an increase to enable them to better meet the high cost of living. A janitor's pay would still be less than a policeman's, even with the addition of the requested increase, he said.

In concluding his report the secretary stated that the association left the matter of when the increase should become effective to the judgment of the board. It would be appreciated whenever it came, he added.

The only other matter to come up for discussion was the question as to whether the report of the superintendent on the Junior High School plan should be submitted on or before Dec. 2. It was voted that this report be made by that date. The report was originally scheduled to be made early this fall, but owing to the absence of Mr. Molloy, who was called for state guard duty during the strike of Boston police, it has been held in abeyance.

RE-CREATION OF VOICE

Mlle. Verlet, Opera Soprano, Gives Unique Program at
Associate Hall

To what amazing extent the phonograph has re-created the human voice in song was shown in Associate hall last evening when the Bon Marche company presented Mlle. Alice Verlet, soprano of the Paris Opera company, who sang beside an Edison machine and sang with the reproduction of her own voice as captured on records. Assisting her was Victor Young, pianist, who played with Edison re-creations of piano solos by Andre Bonolst.

Mlle. Verlet also sang a group of songs without the Edison, two of which were of Mr. Young's composition.

The loftiness of the hall was the only drawback to the program, as at times it was hard for the artist to control her voice to the volume of tone produced by the phonograph, but the close relationship between the natural voice and the re-creation was at all times apparent and in many instances of startling similarity. To a person in the rear of the hall it was indeed difficult to say when the singer stopped and the machine sustained the tune and when singing together only one voice could be heard.

The concert was the fourth presented by the Bon Marche company and the most successful. This was a soprano because Mlle. Verlet is a soprano and has more opportunity for color and brilliancy than Miss Gardner, for instance, the splendid contralto heard here a few months ago. Mr. Young's contributions to the program were most acceptable and his accompaniments, sustained and true.

The hall stage was unique in its decorative scheme as arranged by Bon Marche men. Hangings of deep red velvet formed a background, while red covered lights and panels and little green hedge plants here and there were grouped in attractive display. The program presented follows:

a. Caro Nome (Rigoletto) ..... Verdi
b. Carnival of Venice ..... Paganini
c. Mlle. Verlet with Edison Re-Creation Second Mazurka ..... Godard
d. Mlle. Verlet with Re-Creation of a piano solo by Andre Bonolst
e. Parle Waltz ..... Arditi
f. Carmenita Waltz ..... Wilson
g. Mlle. Verlet with Re-Creations of her voice
h. Edison Re-Creation of a performance by Concert Orchestra
i. Fantasia Impromptu ..... Chopin
j. Mlle. Verlet with Re-Creation of a piano solo by Mr. Young

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 20.—A warning issued yesterday by the superintendent of the Philadelphia police that information has reached him of possible bomb outrages at Christmas time through the sending of gift packages to national, state and city officials throughout the country has caused federal and state officials to take extra precautions to circumvent any proposed plots by radicals or others.

James Robinson, the superintendent, said last night he had nothing further to say regarding the warnings. He added he did not know what persons were marked by the supposed plotters, nor did he know, he said, who are suspected of plotting against the lives of public officials.

The information he has in his possession, the superintendent said, came to him in the course of investigations by the police bomb squad into the activities of local radicals.

Supt. Robinson stated he had sent the information he received to Chief of Police Quinley of Rochester, N. Y., who is chairman of the board of governors of the National Bureau of Criminal Identification, and president of the International Association of Chiefs of Police, with the request that the matter be given wide publicity.

Evidence of the existence of a plot to send bombs through the mails during the Christmas holidays was reported to Supt. Robinson by Andrew Emanuel, head of the "bomb squad." The information was checked up and verified, according to Emanuel. The source of information was carefully withheld by the police. It is believed to have originated from an anarchist "sneaker," who was afraid of the consequences of the plot.

A memorandum issued by the bureau of police, announcing discovery of the plot, is as follows:

"Supt. of Police Robinson is in possession of reliable information that the members of certain radical organizations, with headquarters in the principal cities of the United States, are preparing to send out, prior to and during the Christmas holidays, packages of real appearance, which would probably be considered as Christmas gifts by the persons who receive them, to the United States government officials and officials of the states and cities where duties have required them to take an active part in the suppression of Bolshevism and anarchistic movements.

"The radicals say that when the officials receive and open the packages they will be greatly surprised, as an explosion will result."

Below is what the press agents of the different theatres say of the current attractions and of others to come:

Sparks & Co. in a comedy: Gosler & Lushy, Lane & Harper, Aerial Mitchells and Edw. Hill.

"Broken Blossoms," the marvelous and thrilling picture by David W. Those who have seen it unhesitatingly pronounce it the most forceful, fearless treatment of a subject ever witnessed. The exposure of Jewish brutality on one side and whole-hearted love on the other, are contrasted in a manner and a way that can't help making a lasting impression. THE STRAND

"Broken Blossoms," the marvelous and thrilling picture by David W. Griffiths, which has been held over at the Strand for the remainder of the week, is unquestionably one of the most marvelous screen offerings this city has ever witnessed. Those who have seen it unhesitatingly pronounce it the most forceful, fearless treatment of a subject ever witnessed. The exposure of Jewish brutality on one side and whole-hearted love on the other, are contrasted in a manner and a way that can't help making a lasting impression. The play and the engaging cast is really commendable and worthy of the many good things that are being said of it.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

A unique comedy act is that supplied by Buster Santos and Jacques Bays at the B. F. Keith theatre this week. The large and the small, the fat and the thin are shown by these two very clever performers. The fun element is of the riotous kind. Jimmie Fallon and Russ Brown, two ex-soldiers, give their own version of getting back home and it is full of good things. Other good points on the bill are: John G. Sparks & Co. in a comedy: Gosler & Lushy, Lane & Harper, Aerial Mitchells and Edw. Hill.

of a Gladys Brockwell picture, entitled "The Snare of Paris," a story on the social and political life of Paris. It is one that presents exceptional opportunity to the star to reflect her unusual talent. A good comedy and weekly are also shown.

OPERA HOUSE

You will snicker, giggle and then laugh to your heart's content at this week's presentation of "The Naughty Wife," the bright comedy being given by the Lowell Players at the Opera House. It's a three-act creation with an abundance of good, wholesome humor that is handled in a most amusing manner by Miss Marguerite Fields, John Mehan and the supporting cast. The staging of the play reflects again the unusual ability of Director Field. You should order your tickets in advance and avoid possible disappointment. Capacity audiences have been witnessing the performances daily.

Next week, Kate Douglas Wiggin's big success of the stage, "Mother Carey's Chickens," will be the production, and it should rank with the biggest triumphs of the season. It's the first time presented in Lowell and will surely give the same genuine satisfaction of former successes.

SCIENCE AND THE STRAIGHT STEAK

Virtually all the diseases affecting human beings reach the United States. Only one-half of those affecting animals prevail among us. While few human diseases are absolutely rooted out, several animal diseases have been completely overcome in this country and others are in a fair way toward eradication. The size and strength of men and women are about the same, but our cattle are steadily becoming larger, our horses stronger, our chickens handsomer and more productive of eggs. And the advance is not due to nature's evolution but to artificial aid in nature.—The Nation's Business for November.

An official list of the records of American aviators who served with the Royal Air Forces shows they destroyed 425 airplanes and 53 balloons.

Votes Down Treaty

and then submitting it at the new session next month. Democratic leaders suggested that the president during the recess might see fit to feel out the other powers as to their attitude on reservations with a view of bringing the treaty to some sort of ratification at the December session. If re-submitted, the treaty would come before the senate practically as new business and debate on it would not be governed by the cloture rule invoked in the closing days of the session just adjourned.

To Declare War at End

Should the president fail to re-submit the pact promptly when congress re-assembles, it was believed the republican leaders would without delay take up Senator Lodge's resolution, introduced last night after the treaty had failed of ratification, proposing that congress declare the war with Germany at an end. The resolution would require concurrence by the house. On this question there also is a division of opinion, democratic leaders holding that such a resolution would have to be approved by the president to become effective and republicans holding that presidential approval would not be necessary.

Attempts to Ratify Fail

Decision of the senate last night to lay aside the treaty came after two attempts to ratify it with the foreign relations committee's reservations attached and one attempt to adopt it without reservations of any sort, had all failed. The first vote on the treaty with reservations attached showed 39 for and 55 against. The second, which came several hours later, showed 41 for and 51 against. The vote on straight ratification recorded only 38 for and 53 against.

To Put Treaty Into Force

PATIS, Nov. 20. (By Associated Press).—The adjournment of the United States senate for the session without ratification of the peace treaty created much surprise in peace conference circles, as despatches from Washington had suggested that some compromise was probable. Henry White of the American delegation, received the news from the Associated Press while he was attending the supreme council session this morning. The members of the council after adjournment withheld comment on the situation.

In French official circles, however, although there was disappointment over the senate's adjournment with the treaty situation still unsettled, no surprise was expressed and it even seemed that the event had been expected. Apparently the situation had been discussed and measures taken in advance to meet the eventuality as Foreign Minister Pichon, who presided over the supreme council at this morning's session, urged that the Versailles treaty be put into force not later than Dec. 1.

M. Pichon's view seems to have prevailed, the council expressing the opinion that it would be desirable to put the treaty into effect on Dec. 1. In this connection it may be noted that the French office was aware of the probability that the American senate would not meet again before the first week in December.

Vote on Straight Ratification

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—On a resolution of Senator Underwood (Ala.), the senate yesterday registered its will in regard to the ratification of the treaty of peace with Germany, without the dotting of an "I" or the crossing of a "U" recording 38 votes for the measure and 53 against it. President's Letter
The president's letter of invitation follows:

"In accordance with the suggestion given me by the public group of the recent industrial conference, I am calling a new body together to carry on this vitally important work, and I trust you will give me the pleasure of naming you as one of its members."

"Guided by the experience of the last conference, I have thought it advisable that in this new body there should be no recognition of distinctive groups, but that all of the new representatives should have concern that our industries may be conducted with such regard for justice and fair dealing that the workman will feel himself induced to put forth his best efforts, that the employer will have an encouraging profit and that the public will not suffer at the hands of either class. It is my hope that this conference may lay the foundation for the development of standards and machinery within our industries, by which these results may be attained."

"It is not expected that you will deal directly with any conditions which exist today, but that you may be fortunate enough to find such ways as will avoid the repetition of these deplorable conditions."

"The conference will meet at a place to be hereafter designated in this city on the first of December next."

Dermatologist Gives Complexion Secret

"The great secret of keeping the face young is to keep off the dead cuticle," says Dr. J. Mortimer Mitchell. "It is well known that the surface skin is constantly dying, falling off in imperceptible particles, except in diseased conditions, when the same surface flake off in great quantities. But the particles do not all drop off immediately, they are being held for a while by the live skin."

To have the dermatologist surgeon peel off the entire outer skin at one time is a painful and expensive operation. The same result is obtained by applying ordinary microfilm wax as you would cold cream, allowing this to remain on over night, then taking it off with warm water. One ounce usually suffices. The process is both painless and inexpensive. The wax, which is procurable at your drug store, hastens the natural shedding process of the skin, gradually absorbs the dead and heavy dead skin, revealing the new, healthy, youthful-looking skin underneath."

PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN

With the disposal of the treaty now before the senate and the passage of the railroad bill, congress will speedily adjourn and may have a brief respite before the opening of the session in December.

Henceforth, we may expect that congressional action will be ruled very largely by political issues, taking shape for the campaign of next year. It is difficult at this time to forecast just what the issues will be, although if the treaty, including the League of Nations, be defeated through republican opposition in the senate, that may become an issue in the contest for the presidency.

The republicans have been scouting everywhere for political capital with which to assail the administration on the ground of extravagance in war expenditures. So far as can be ascertained these investigators have not been very successful, although they may have found instances in which subordinate officials were guilty of dishonesty and gross mismanagement. They may also have found where from one cause or another due to the extreme haste with which enactments were constructed, money was lavishly expended, but it is another matter to prove malfeasance by the officials in charge.

The main thing upon which the administration will base its claim for justification, is the haste with which everything was done, followed by the fact that the United States won the war by defeating Germany within a shorter time than had been expected. Another great achievement was the transportation of 2,000,000 men overseas without the loss of a life or a ship, as the result of submarine attacks.

On the question of the tariff, the republican party, as usual, will advocate higher protective duties, whereas the democratic policy for some years past has been to revise the tariff schedules piece-meal, whenever the tariff commission reports that a change is necessary.

One of the great enterprises before the nation is to utilize our merchant marine in profitable trade with foreign nations. Thus far no proper method of accomplishing that object has been provided by either party although some new trade lines have been established and the United States flag is seen in foreign harbors, where it never appeared before.

Domestic questions, however, will probably be most pressing, for the reason that industrial unrest is prevalent and radicals are everywhere plotting strikes in opposition to organized government. On this question both parties are in accord, although they may differ as to the best methods to be adopted for the repression of radical action.

The question of immigration doubtless will be an issue on which the parties may differ widely as to the proper extent of the restrictions to be imposed on foreign immigration. While we are gathering up alleged anarchists and Bolsheviks for deportation, it is not likely that any policy can be adopted favoring the admission of immigrants from the countries now controlled by radical elements.

This nation at the present time has vast opportunities for trade and commerce in supplying European nations with raw material for their manufactures, such as iron, steel, copper, hides, wool and cotton. Increased production and export of the materials most urgently needed by the European nations will offer the most profitable business for this country; and it is probable that the party which can most successfully promote this export through the operation of our merchant marine, will find the most general support from the people.

The fact that President Wilson is out of the running on account of illness, relieves the republicans of the third term burlesque, and thus far there is no prominent democratic candidate mentioned except Champ Clark. On the republican side there are several declared candidates and within the next few weeks there undoubtedly will be several others, but thus far Senator Poinsett seems to be the strongest in the field. The republican leaders claim that in the coming contest many of the elements now opposed to the present administration and that formerly supported the democratic party will be with the republican nominees in the fight. Now far this defection will really

THE RAVAGES OF WAR

After a very careful investigation the Carnegie Endowment for international peace has published a volume setting forth the entire cost of the war in money and human lives to the world.

This authority sets the direct cost for countries actually involved in the war at $180,000,000,000 and the indirect cost at $151,000,000,000. In the latter total is included losses to neutral nations which are placed at $1,750,000,000. Also, it includes an estimate of the loss of production fixed at $45,000,000,000 and that of war relief at $1,000,000,000.

Among the indirect costs is given the capitalized value of soldier human life, estimated at $33,531,276,250. The property losses on land are given as $20,960,000,000 and in shipping and cargoes, $6,500,000,000.

An additional amount of $33,551,000,000 is allowed for civilian losses, made up largely of children and aged persons, who died from privation and disease, brought on as a result of the war. The number of known dead is set down at 9,903,771 and the missing, presumed to be dead, at 2,991,500, making a total of 12,895,271.

Professor Bogart of the University of Illinois, who made up the body of this report, has placed the value upon human life in the different nations, fixing the figures ranging from $2020 in Bulgaria; Turkey, Greece, Japan, Roumania, Serbia and several other countries to $4720 for the United States, where the economic worth of the individual to the nation is placed at the highest figure.

In view of these figures as reliable as such estimates can be, the awful destructiveness of war is apparent. If the world were soon to be visited by another war at all approaching the immensity of the world war, so-called, civilization would be practically destroyed and the great nations which have survived the recent struggle, would be reduced to a condition bordering upon barbarism, with revolution and anarchy taking the place of civilized government and humanity would be reduced to the lowest ebb.

THE SIX HOUR DAY

Everybody's talking about the six-hour day and the five-day week nowadays and wondering what folks are going to do with the rest of their time during the week if the new order of things goes into effect. It will be quite a problem to put in the time under the new regime—believe those who have tried loafing and found it the hardest work in the world!

Thirty hours of work a week means that 135 hours every week must be put in some other way, sleeping, smoking, reading the newspapers, going to the movies, throwing dice for cigars in the murky smokehouse, wondering what to do and getting peeved at the world generally. Think of it, nearly five times as much time must be put in somehow every week as is devoted to work under this scheme. Looks pretty hard, doesn't it? You'd almost think men would rise up in wrath against any such scheme as that, wouldn't you?

Thirty hours of work a week! School children put in 27½ hours a week at hard brain work in their formative periods of their life! Think of husky men working only as much each week as a six-year-old school boy who, however, after completing his hours at school puts in a lot of overtime around the house doing chores for mother!

To speak of 30 hours of "work" a week is, really, to put the proposition in an altogether false manner. What such a scheme would really mean would be that there would be 36 hours of play a week for all these people existing under such a scheme of things and that there would be 135 hours each week of real work trying to put in the time until the interesting, enjoyable hours of so-called "work" came around again.

RED CROSS SEALS

With Christmas but a few weeks away, the campaign for the sale of Red Cross seals should be prosecuted with vigor inasmuch as it aids the Red Cross and at the same time helps in fighting tuberculosis which is prevalent in this and most other cities. As a portion of the funds raised here by the sale of seals will be used locally where it will do most good, there should be no hesitation in purchasing these stamps quite liberally. No Christmas package, nor any letter having any reference to Christmas should be mailed without a Red Cross seal.

It was on November 15 that Lady Astor ran for parliament in the Plymouth district of England and it is announced that the result will not be given out until November 28. That will give the counters plenty of time to check up the returns and correct any ballots that might be carelessly marked or that might indicate a preference for the wrong candidate. During the interim the candidates have ample time in which to compose themselves so that they can receive the news of the result with equanimity even though it brings the first intimation of crushing defeat. In such cases the candidate must not assume that he or she is the chief party interested. There are two others, the voters and the government; but of all three, the one whose interest is most closely looked after is the government.

Once again ex-Mayor Wm. P. White appears to have won favor with the voters of Lawrence, having been nominated by a total vote exceeding that of his three competitors. The chief contest was on the school board for which a woman, Mrs. Anna W. Driscoll, a former high school teacher, has been nominated. It would seem to be a move in the right direction to put somebody in the school board who knows something about teaching.

Austin P. Cristy, owner and publisher of the Worcester Telegram, has sold the paper at a good round sum, evidently wishing to take things easy for a time. Under his management, the Telegram has become one of the most successful papers in the state. We learn that the new owner, Mr. Theodore Ellis of Worcester, is to follow Mr. Cristy's policy in conducting the paper; but he will have to hustle if he keeps up to Mr. Cristy's gait.

For a young man of his years, the Prince of Wales, now visiting New York, shows remarkable level-headedness and common sense. He has not betrayed any notable oddity or eccentricity that would give the critics a chance to poke fun at him. But on all sides, he has genial friends and sage advisers which makes some difference.

France has turned down the Bolsheviks to the tune of 6 to 1 at the recent election and wherever any similar contest is waged on the lines of civilized government the revolutionists go down. The people want peace and order and they are bound to get it except in Russia where military dictators are in charge.

If the state police catch and convict the Randolph motor bandits, they will deserve well of the commonwealth. Such criminals are a menace to the public everywhere.

Compromise on the treaty is now the last resort and the only method of saving it and avoiding the serious loss to the nation that would result from failure of ratification.

The outlook is brightening for the teachers throughout the state, even in Lowell.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Lowell cobbler shops are swamped with orders for shoe repairs. At least that is what the proprietors of several brick-bat-and-well-make-them-like-new establishments tell me. The high cost of new footwear has caused hundreds of local people to resurrect discarded shoes in an attempt to beat friend H.C.L. and in one of the places I visited today there were styles of a decade ago represented in the assortment which were waiting on the shelves to be repaired. Although the cobbler, too, have raised their prices as the cost of leather advances, it still is much cheaper to have one's old shoes fixed up than to invest in a new pair—always providing that the venerable footwear in question has a few months of life left.

There are more children being taken care of, fed, clothed and educated at St. Peter's orphanage in Stevens street at the present time than ever before in the history of the institution, I am told by those in close touch with the affairs of the orphanage. Accordingly, the annual donation day, which is to be held next Saturday afternoon will be of more than usual interest and significance owing to the need for contributions of money and clothing, even more generous than in the past. I understand that an excellent program has been arranged for the musicals to be held in connection with donation day under the general direction of Miss

Headaches, sore back, insomnia, disappear by the use alone of RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women.

MISS E. DESGROSEILLIERS

From the age of nine years, I had never enjoyed good health. I was always feeling weak, suffered from violent headaches, sore back, insomnia. My nerves were unstrung, my digestion upset and besides I was suffering from bronchitis and coughed a great deal. Knowing that some of my friends had been made well by the use of RED PILLS, and on their advice and recommendation, I started to take them regularly; eighteen boxes operated a marvelous change for the better, and I am now well and as healthy as my other sisters, who have such great confidence in this remedy that they now take RED PILLS whenever they feel they need a good tonic.

Miss E. DesGroseilliers, 589 Somerville Street, Manchester East, N. H.

RED PILLS are for women only. They are always sold in boxes of fifty pills, 50 cents box, 6 boxes for $2.50. See that the name of the "Franco-American Chemical Company Limited" is on every box.

CAMPAIGN EXPENSES

R. H. Long Expended $4500
—Wood Spent $3000,
Cartier $1214

BOSTON, Nov. 20.—Returns of election expenses filed yesterday with the secretary of state show that Richard H. Long of Framingham, democratic candidate for governor, expended $4500, of which amount $1000 went to the democratic state committee and the remainder to the R. H. Long committee. J. Weston Allen, republican candidate for attorney general, spent $145 and Joseph A. Conry, his successful democratic opponent, $573.

Chandler M. Wood of Winchester, democrat, spent $3000 in his effort to become state treasurer, while Fred J. Durrell of Medford, who was elected to that office as the republican candidate, spent $2252.

William E. Russell of Cambridge, who was the unsuccessful democratic candidate for district attorney in Middlesex county, spent $341. Simon Swig, republican, who was defeated for the senate, spent $359. Arthur J. B. Carter of Fall River, democratic candidate for state auditor, spent $1212.

WALSH MADE FINAL APPEAL TO SENATORS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Just before the final vote was taken in the senate last night on the peace treaty, Senator Walsh of Massachusetts made a last appeal to his associates on the democratic side to join with him in voting for the resolution of ratification and the reservations then before the senate.

Senator Walsh declared that he believed the reservations strengthened and improved the treaty, although they might not be in form just as he would have them.

He declared the adoption of reservations would vitalize public sentiment in the country in favor of the League of Nations and that in his opinion while the country wanted the league, it also wanted reservations. Without the reservations, he said, the treaty had the "sting of death." He said that the difference in the senate on reservations was in words only and not in substance.

Among the needs of the college is the provision for a fifty per cent. increase in the salaries of the teaching staff.

Thousands of Children Suffer From Worms and Their Mothers Do Not Know What the Trouble Is.

115,000,000 GALLONS OF WHISKEY FOR SALE

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Huge amounts of spirits in bond in Great Britain, including 115,000,000 gallons of whiskey, were released from wartime restrictions yesterday and may be distributed to all corners.

Announcement of the removal of restrictions, which was made without warning in the house of commons by the food controller, came as a surprise. The members greeted it with loud cheers.

The liquor trade was equally surprised, and was besieged by the well-to-do among the public as soon as the news spread. Many orders of from 50 to a hundred dozens were placed immediately, in addition to numerous commissions for smaller quantities.

Enough spirits has been thus far supplied every man, woman and child in the country with 36 bottles apiece.

but it is doubtful if the public will find it easy, at present, to increase consumption to a great extent. The government maintains control of the maximum price, which for whiskey is $2.50 a bottle, and it is not believed that the dealers will sell much below that figure, as the existing high duty will remain.

Moreover, restrictions on distillation during the war and the necessity of making large quantities. On the other hand it will be possible now to sell all the American whiskey which has reached and is still reaching England, though clearance from the customs may be slow.

PROTOCOL TO PEACE TREATY

PARIS, Nov. 20.—No formal meeting has yet been held between the German delegates, who arrived yesterday morning and the representatives of the allied powers concerning the proposed protocol to the German peace treaty.

It is not thought that the protocol will be signed before the end of November, as the Germans have shown a disposition to resist the provision requiring them to replace the warships sunk when their fleet was scuttled at Scapa Flow. The failure of the allied and associated powers to reach an agreement on the treaty is reported here to have greatly encouraged the Germans in their position.

As the protocol must be arranged before the formal announcement of ratification of the treaty by the three powers required to make it effective, the date of putting the treaty into effect seems uncertain.

DRASTIC ACTION TO SAVE COAL

Curtailement of Non-essential Industries and Unnecessary Trains

Regional Directors of Railroads Assume Responsibility To Conserve Coal

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—Regional directors of railroads today assumed the responsibility of dealing with curtailment of non-essential industries and unnecessary passenger traffic to conserve and distribute the nation's steadily diminishing coal supply. Under authority granted by Walker D. Hines, federal director general of railroads, the territory east of the Mississippi and south of the Ohio river, except for a small area in the Pennsylvania region, had been placed on a war-time ration basis. Announcement of trains in addition to the 116 already taken off, was under consideration.

Other drastic action looking toward reserving the available supply for essential industries, public utilities and domestic consumers included stopping deliveries to all non-essential industries in Cleveland and delivering in Omaha, Neb., only on written application approved by the local coal committee.

Majority of Miners Still Out

Except in the West Virginia fields upon which it was announced the rest of the country would draw for absolutely necessary requirements, there was little hope today for increased production. The majority of the 425,000 bituminous miners who went on strike nearly three weeks ago, maintained their disposition to disregard the strike recall order and to await developments from the miners' operators' conference at Washington.

In Colorado a strike of the miners who had returned to work was called for Friday, following failure of the miners and operators to agree on a wage scale.

Restore Mines to Owners

"The United States court at Fargo, N. D., had issued a decree that apparently would lead to restoration of the mines to their private owners. No state court has yet acted to change the situation brought about by the governor's action in selling the lignite mines and ordering them operated by the state. Application for an injunction in the state courts to restrain the governor is scheduled to be heard at Bismarck, N. D., today. The federal court order to show cause is returnable Nov. 21."

Should the apparently deadlocked conference at Washington not reach an agreement within a week, martial

MOTHERS VICK'S VAPORUB

Washing Won't Rid Head of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you desire it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arsenic; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arsenic at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.—Adv.

Troop Movement

where a small group of alleged alien miners armed with rifles stopped American and naturalized workers from returning to the pits.

Second Coal Strike
DENVER, Col., Nov. 20.—Colorado's second coal strike within the month will begin at 7 o'clock Friday morning.

The strike was called by George O. Johnson, district president of the United Mine Workers of America, because of allegations that not all the striking miners had been taken back to work. The chief grievance of the miners was with the Colorado Fuel & Iron Co., largest producer in the state, which announced recently that all men would be taken back except those active in promoting the recent strike.

Company officials stated that miners were not refused employment because of union affiliations, but because of alleged connections with the Industrial Workers of the World.

Lowell at New Bedford.

POLO NOTES

"Hob" Hart, former Lowell star and now leading the league in goal shooting will undoubtedly get a great reception when he hops into the cage with the New Bedford Whalers at the Crescent rink tomorrow night. "Hob" was always popular here and his friends plan to turn out in large numbers to greet him.

Barney Doherty, now a pal of Hart's on the Whaler outfit, is another man who enjoys wide popularity here. He's the veteran of the league, but he still is one of the best defensive men in the business.

Paul Gardner, who helped Lowell win the pennant two years ago, will also be with the visitors. Mossie Connelly, who is one of the classiest goal tenders in the game, and who recently made an even 100 stops in a game, will be in charge of New Bedford team.

The last time New Bedford played here Lowell was badly beaten, and consequently the Harkins crew will be out for revenge tomorrow night.

BOUTS HERE TONIGHT

Members of the Crescent A. A. look for abundant action at tonight's meeting when an all star show with three high class ten round bouts and one six round preliminary will be presented.

Pekia Kid Herama, all the way from Honolulu, who has been in Lowell training for the past two weeks will meet Tony Valtin, the Brighton "Ironman" and one of the most satisfactory performers of his weight in these parts in one of the ten round events. Martia Flaherty, who has been training Herama says the "Kid" is a sensation. Valtin's manager sends word that his protegee will be in the pink of condition and a great battle is expected. Billy Duffy of Everett, who won from Young Kitchell here a short time ago will meet Shaver O'Brien of South Boston in another ten rounder. These boys are very evenly matched and have already fought several thrilling bouts in and around Boston.

Johnny Gray, on account of illness, will be unable to meet Johnny Downes at the Crescent A. A. tonight, the latter receiving a telegram to that effect early last evening. The club management later booked California Frank Burns to meet Downes and this pair should provide a good 10-rounder.

BOSTON UNIVERSITY VS. TEXTILE SCHOOL

Boston university, which has a record of two victories and two defeats this season, will come up to Lowell tomorrow afternoon to play Lowell Textile school. Coach Jack MacDonald has put the B. U. squad through a hard week's practice in scrimmaging and signal drill and the Red and White will go to Lowell with great confidence of beating the local team.

Charlie Fessenden, a Lowell youth, and a freshman at the College of Business Administration of Boston university, will start the game at left tackle. He has showed up well at practice all season, but has not yet had the opportunity of getting into a game.

Another near-Lowell man on the B. U. team is Capt. Eugene N. Yarrington of Bitterton, Vt., who was temporarily playing right guard, is back at his old position as fullback. Friday's game with Lowell Textile school will be his last college football game. He gets his B. U. degree from Boston university this year, after which he will study law. Capt. Yarrington is a former star for Norwich and the University of Vermont.

A large delegation, probably 300 or so students, will accompany the B. U. squad to Lowell. The R.O.T.C. military band will be heard to the left of the R.O.T.C. of Boston university will be dismissed from the usual Friday afternoon drill and go to the football game, provided they get tickets beforehand. Non-military students at the College of Business Administration will also be privileged to "cut" afternoon classes in order to root for B. U. at the last gridiron contest of the season.

The Boston university eleven averaged 183 points per game and was shown some fine form in its games this season. It has beaten Rhode Island State college and Rockland State college, a semi-professional team, in a game at Storrs, Conn., with Connecticut Agricultural college, was lost because of the non-arrival of half a dozen regular players.

Downs on the road between Springfield and Storrs. The second string eleven held the Nutmeg Aggies to a 7-0 score. Last week B. U. coach George W. was as one of the B. U. professors, a newspaper man of many years' experience, said, "the cleanest game of college football he had ever seen."

It was a hard-fought contest, Norwich nailing out a 10-3 victory over the B. U. huskies. This is the first time in a number of years that B. U. has put out a variety team to root for the B. U. line against Lowell Textile school is as follows:

O'Hare re. Davis-Walsh rt. Goodrich is. Vardolo e. Washburn e. Fessenden. Miller and King lb. Crowley le. O'Callaghan and Lyons qb. Jacobs and Mahoney hb. Rogers, Dorsett and Latham tb. Yarrington (captain) fb.

LOWELL MAN'S AUTO LICENSE REVOKED

(Special to The Sun)
STATE HOUSE, Boston, Nov. 20.—Charles B. Guthrie of Lowell has been notified by the Massachusetts highway commissioners that his license to operate motor vehicles in this state has been revoked because of the automobile accident in which he was involved Sept. 24, and which resulted in the death of Gardner Nelson of Lowell.

After a full investigation of all the circumstances surrounding the accident, the commission announces that it is "unable to find that the accident occurred without serious fault on the part of the driver."

MOTHER WANTS TO FIND HER SON
Mrs. Anne McLaughlin appeals to The Sun to help her find some tidings of her only son, Edward J. McLaughlin, who worked in the Tremont and Suffolk mills about five years ago and left Lowell to go to a factory in Providence, R. I. He is believed he was working in a mill town in Rhode Island before the war and that he enlisted in the service perhaps under an assumed name and has not since been heard from by his friends. His mother will be very grateful to any person who can give her any information of him either dead or alive. Address Mrs. Anne McLaughlin, Sun office.

Motor plows were not made in Australia before the war, but several manufacturers have already begun to produce them.

Treaty's Defeat

country and the United States.

Handicap Trade Resumption

As a matter of fact the lack of American consular representation is declared by the administration officials to be the greatest present handicap to resumption of trade. With the president's authorization of blanket licenses under the trading with the enemy act last July, commercial intercourse with Germany practically was freed from legal restrictions and it continued in that situation. There are some prohibited articles, such as drugs, chemicals and dyestuffs, but the bars are down to most of the ordinary articles of commerce.

It is explained that this condition applies chiefly on imports from Germany, though it affects in less degree shipments from this country to Germany. It is in the important situation that the government is chiefly concerned and for which the American consuls in Germany are needed. Of course Germany also lacks consular representation here, though arrangements have been made to admit certain German trade agents to arrange for shipments of raw material from this country.

Imports from Germany

Figures on America's trade with Germany in October have not been fully compiled, but during September the United States imported nearly $2,000,000 worth of goods from that country and sent it goods valued at about $5,000,000. For the nine months ending with September, the import trade totalled nearly $20,000,000 and exports about $24,000,000. This compared with pre-war exports of about $275,000,000 for a nine months' period. A further increase was to be looked for in the figures for October.

The senate's failure to act left on the hands of the administration a big collection of knotty problems, chief among which is the question of property rights in the German ships and other property of enemy aliens seized by the government in this country. The state department experts say there is no legal sanction for retention of this property unless the treaty which contains a provision legalizing it, is ratified.

Technical State of War

As a corollary to this problem, stands the question of what is to become of the vast American interests in Germany, especially if the technical state of war is to continue and no American consuls or diplomatic representatives are to be sent to take up the subject directly.

In these property questions is understood to lie one of the chief objections of the administration to the plan of republican leaders to declare the state of war ended by a resolution of congress. Without the treaty provisions, officials say, a state of peace would leave this country in an awkward position when it came to establish its title to the German ships and the other German interests taken over and in many cases liquidated by the alien enemy property custodian.

Peace by Resolution

There is every evidence, however, that the republican leaders in congress, anxious to get the country to an actual peace basis so that the many wartime legislative provisions may be erased and a more normal legal foundation placed under the country's trade, are going ahead with their plan of declaring peace by resolution as soon as the new congress meets.

A resolution making such a declaration was introduced last night by Republican Leader Lodge, after three attempts to ratify the treaty had failed. Not only is it expected to start another bitter fight in the new session, but if it is passed, the constitutional authority of congress to take such a step is sure to be questioned. In the opinion of some officials a situation will result which only the supreme court can untangle.

"Concurrent" Measure

As presented by Senator Lodge, the peace resolution is a "concurrent"

measure of the nature which under senate practice for many years does not require the signature of the president. But the administration senators are prepared to urge against its validity the following provision of the constitution:

"Every order, resolution or vote to which the concurrence of the senate and house of representatives may be necessary, (except on a question of adjournment) shall be presented to the president of the United States; and before the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him, or being disapproved by him, shall be re-passed by two-thirds of the senate and house of representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill."

Under this provision the administration senators say that any concurrent resolution meeting with the disapproval of the chief executive could be vetoed or disregarded by him and never could be re-passed by a two-thirds vote. The reply of the republicans is that the constitutional limitation applies to legislation only and that the sole right of congress to declare war carries with it the right to declare peace.

May Resort to Courts

In that situation, many officials foresee a possibility that the president and congress may soon find themselves in a disagreement which will have to be thrown into the courts to be decided.

On such a question the courts would be without precedent, and it is taken for granted that only a ruling from the highest tribunal in the land would be accepted as final.

Foremost of all the domestic problems waiting on some sort of a peace declaration is prohibition. Hopes have about disappeared for an end of the war-time act by senate ratification of the treaty in time to permit a wet season before the constitutional amendment becomes effective January 16. With a constitutional controversy developing about a declaration of peace by resolution, that avenue begins to look almost equally inaccessible.

Wets Go to Supreme Court

The hope of the wets therefore has been transferred to the supreme court, before which proceedings to test the validity of the war-time law were argued today.

But liquor is by no means the only consideration involved in the continuation of a technical state of war. Until peace is declared formally, wartime food and fuel control powers of the executive are in full force and the espionage act operates unimpeded.

Members of congress are mindful also that the war legislation authorizing government operation of railroads gave the president power, if he chose, to hold the railway systems until 21 months after peace shall have been accomplished. He has announced, however, that he will return the roads on Jan. 1.

Troops Stay in Germany

It was pointed out that the effect of the senate's failure to act would be of a negative character only with regard to the American troops in occupied portions of Germany. War department officials said it would mean no change in the present disposition which had been based entirely on the terms of the armistice and which did not depend in any respect on the terms of the treaty.

The occupation of Coblenz is regarded both by administration officials and by all elements in the senate to be clearly within the limits of the president's power as commander-in-chief of the army. His authority to use troops to carry out any provisions of the treaty is an entirely different question and the war department already has conceded the stand of opposition senators that no such action could be taken until the senate has acted.

Although a force of American soldiers has been sent to Coblenz with a view to their possible use ultimately to help police the plebiscite in upper Silesia, Secretary Baker has announced that they will remain a part of the Coblenz garrison unless the senate, by ratifying the treaty, makes American participation in the plebiscite strictly legal.

PLANS FOR REBUILDING DEVASTATED AREAS

PARIS, Wednesday, Nov. 13.—(French Wireless Service)—Captain Andre Tardieu, minister of liberated regions, held a conference with all the prefects of the devastated areas yesterday. During the fortnight in November 35,000 freight cars loaded with building materials were sent into these areas. In the second fortnight it is expected that 65,000 will have followed. Materials for 95 temporary houses will be included in the latest shipment.

A large number of barges brought from England will be put at the disposal of the prefect of the Nord department and 25 freight cars will be sent daily from each of the American camps, conveying the materials recently brought from the American war department to these regions.

MAKE A TRAY OF A PICTURE FRAME

It's a perfectly simple idea, but perhaps some people haven't thought of it. In the ordinary house there are old pictures which are in disfavor, but are kept for their good frames. Discard the picture and replace it with a pretty piece of crocheted with a small figure, under the glass.

A piece of old felt or velvet glued on the back, and a pair of inexpensive brass handles bought at any hardware store—and there is an attractive and useful tray.

NEGOTIATIONS FOR NEW WAGE SCALE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Fuel Administrator Garfield still withheld today any action toward a nation-wide restriction of coal consumption, while sub-committees of mine workers and operators continued negotiations for a wage scale in the central competitive field, and a basis of settlement for the miners' strike. Steps taken in localities where the pinch or coal famine has been felt, have been the action of regional coal committees of the railroad administration.

The joint committees were reported to be making progress toward a settlement. For the first time, it was said, they were considering details of a wage and condition agreement. The miners were reported to have receded from their proposal for local adjudication of disputes rising out of the general agreement. This, it was said, would prevent sporadic labor difficulties in localities after an agreement had been negotiated.

AND ENGLAND'S AN OLD HAND

Packing, or the lack of it, has brought us Americans many scoldings in the course of our trade with foreign lands. There is corresponding comfort in news that when a Chilean importer recently received three consignments from England and one from the United States, all of the same kind of goods, he suffered a loss on account of breakage ranging from 33 1/2 per cent to 50 per cent on the British merchandise and but 2 per cent on the American. If these figures indicated anything like an average on our own goods there would be great cause for rejoicing. The truth of the matter is that in the direction of packing we still have a deal of progress to make. In countries like Colombia proper packing is often considered as more important than low prices. RULES FOR WHITE PLAGUE FIGHT

BOSTON, Nov. 19.—Advice on how to help in the Red Cross Christmas seal drive and in the anti-tuberculosis campaign in Boston is contained in a circular issued yesterday by the Boston Association for the Relief and Control of Tuberculosis.

It emphasizes the growing need of interest among Boston people and persons everywhere in the white plague battle to be waged. After pointing out that there are today more than 12,000 persons in Boston with active tuberculosis, the circular states:

- The remedy is:
Take better physical care of the babies and children.
Instruct mothers and children in health matters.
See that homes, stores, shops, schools, all public and private buildings where people live are properly ventilated.
Be in fresh air and sunlight as much as possible.

Little Girl Drowned in North Chelmsford

Josephine Michalowski, the five-year-old child who was drowned yesterday afternoon in Moore's canal, North Chelmsford, is thought to have lost her life when she attempted to cross the canal by walking along a 12-inch beam and accidentally slipped into the water. She had been playing in the yard of her parents' home in Holt street and wandered off to a dump some distance away to gather papers as she had frequently done before in order to reach her destination she had to cross the canal.

Nobody saw her drown but a little later her parents were notified that her body was floating on the water. Joseph Gagnon succeeded in bringing the body to shore and although efforts were made to restore her, they were of no avail. The body was taken in charge by Undertaker Joseph Sadowski of this city.

TEST CONGRESS' RIGHT

Supreme Court Asked To Rule on War Time Dry Act and Enforcement Law

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The supreme court was asked today to determine the constitutionality of the war-time prohibition act as well as the Volstead prohibition enforcement act during arguments in appeals brought to test congress' right to prohibit the manufacture and sale of intoxicants.

While many conflicting decisions have been rendered in various parts of the country upon the question, today's arguments involved only three cases, one from Kentucky in which the war-time act was declared unconstitutional, and two from New York, in which the authority of congress not only to make the country dry, but to enforce it, was sustained.

Failure of the senate to ratify the treaty of Versailles was regarded by attorneys in the cases as only complicating the situation because of the delay in the termination of the technical state of war, but the court's willingness to expedite the cases was regarded by court officials as indicating the court's intention to decide the question with as little delay as possible.

The argument attracted considerable attention. Long before the court convened the space allotted to spectators was crowded and many were unable to gain admittance. Many attorneys also were present.

Although both sides agreed not to ask for any additional time, the arguments will not be concluded until tomorrow.

The first case argued was that of the Kentucky Distillers & Warehouse Co., in which Federal Judge Evans of Louisville, Ky., declared the war-time prohibition act to be invalid and enjoined international revenue officials from preventing the withdrawal of a large quantity of whiskey from bonded warehouses.

GREAT BRITAIN FIRM IN EGYPTIAN POLICY

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Great Britain declines to be detected from her Egyptian policy by the demonstrations that are taking place in Egypt on the part of the nationalists, according to well informed sources. She is absolutely determined, it is indicated, to continue in the course mapped out as she regards herself as trustee for the whole people of Egypt.

Therefore, despite the demonstrations against it, the commissioner appointed by Lord Milner, the secretary for the colonies, will proceed to Cairo in due course, it is declared.

15,384 AMERICANS ARE HONORED BY ALLIES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—From the passage by congress in July, 1918, of an act authorizing the acceptance of foreign medals and insignia, 15,384 officers and enlisted men of the American army have been decorated by powers associated with the United States in the world war. The annual report of the adjutant general, Major General P. C. Harris, issued today, shows:

France awarded the cross of the Legion of Honor to 969; the croix de guerre to 11,651; military medals to 259, and various other decorations to 259.

Great Britain awarded a total of 512 medals, Italy 651, Belgium 630, Montenegro 82, Greece 2, Czechoslovakia 1 and Japan 1.

In addition to these awards to individuals, the French government awarded the Gourgager, or shoulder cord to four organizations, the croix de guerre with palm to 51 organizations; the croix de guerre with gilt star to 25 organizations, the croix de guerre with silver star to 25 organizations and the croix de guerre with bronze star to five organizations.

General Harris' report fixes the greatest strength of the American army in the history of the country as 3,673,555, the aggregated strength on Nov. 11, 1918, of whom 1,595,352 were in Europe.

ALICE IN WONDERLAND

STATE OF "SUSPENDED HOSTILITIES"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—In a military sense the senate delay on the treaty causes a state of "suspended hostilities," say the war department officials, some of whom are turning over in their minds the possibilities of the situation should a separate peace with Germany be necessary. They said this might be taken up by President Wilson and Secretary Baker as soon as the secretary returned from his trip to Camp Taylor, Ky.

During the senate debate, Administration Leader Hitchcock declared that if the treaty failed and a separate peace became necessary, the United States would find it awkward to attempt to exact drastic requirements from Germany.

Among republican senators this position has been ridiculed, however, and in the war department it is said gross violation of the armistice agreement by Germany, such as a military movement into one of the neutral zones would be the only contingency which would lead to a resumption of military effort on the part of the United States.

NEW YORK, Nov. — This is a fringe costume. Designers may have caught the idea from Hawaii, or they may claim it as an original thought. Navy blue silk chenille fringe falls and sways full length over a skirt of light taupe satin. A basque-like blouse of taupe satin is trimmed oddly with an abbreviated cape of blue chiffon velvet on each shoulder, over a light satin sleeve. Velvet around the neck is narrowed at the shoulders and is finished with a short fringe of the chenille. A small, poke-shaped hat of navy blue panne velvet holds to the same scheme of things with a narrow fringe of black ostrich, extending over the brim. Just below the joining of skirt and blouse, a ribbon of taupe moire encircles the skirt, tying in a flippant bow at the side.

WAGE INCREASE TO COAL MINERS

Operators Offer 15 Per Cent a Ton as Soon as Men Go Back

Union Official Declares Proposal Is Unacceptable to Miners

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—An increase in wages of 15 cents per ton and 20 per cent over the existing day scale, to become effective immediately the bituminous coal miners return to work, was offered by the operators at the meeting today of the wage scale committee in the central competitive bituminous field.

In announcing the offer, Thomas T. Brewster, chairman of the operators' wage scale committee, said the operators had proposed the existing working conditions be continued and that the contract be operative until March 31, 1922.

John L. Lewis, acting president of the United Mine Workers of America, declared the increase was totally inadequate, adding that the miners had not assumed the offer had been made seriously. The operators, he said, had proposed increases in the price of miners' supplies which would absorb practically all the wage advances.

SILK CONCERN MAY LOCATE HERE

Charles H. Varum, a representative of the Julius Kayser Co., of Brooklyn, N. Y., a nationally known concern manufacturing women's silk underwear and gloves, was in Lowell yesterday and spent a considerable part of the day in conferences with John J. O'Rourke, secretary of the Lowell board of trade, relative to the proposed location of a branch plant of the Kayser Co. in this city.

Mr. O'Rourke took Mr. Varum to the Burgess-lane building in Middlesex st., and the latter was very much impressed with the space available there. He made detailed inquiry as to various facilities concerning the city and when leaving late in the day said that he would recommend the location of the plant here when he made his report to the directors. He has visited various cities in New England but none impressed him as did Lowell.

If the concern locates here it will occupy one floor of the Burgess-lane building at first and then later utilize further floor space. It will employ 60 or 75 persons, mostly female help.

Treaty's Defeat Leaves U.S. Still at War and Allies Move to Put Pact Into Effect

European Powers To Resume Commercial and Diplomatic Relations With Germany—No American Representatives on Important Commissions—Many Knotty Problems Now Confront Administration—Supreme Court May Be Asked To Decide Authority of Congress

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Although not changing technically the existing status of relations between the United States and Germany, the senate's failure to ratify the peace treaty at its special session is expected by administration officials and diplomats to have an indirect result of some importance on the steps now being taken to restore the world to a peace basis.

To Restore Relations

One of the first consequences, according to the view taken here, is likely to be hastening of the negotiations in Paris, including promulgation of the peace verbatim, which will restore full commercial and diplomatic relations between Germany and the powers which have ratified the treaty. Paris despatches have said this "step" was waiting, for one thing, on the action of the senate, but it is thought there would be no further delay now for that reason.

The new congress will meet on Dec. 1, but not even the most ardent supporters of the treaty believe it would be possible to take it up again at the outset of the session.

Once the other great powers have gone ahead with their establishment of full trade and diplomatic relations with Germany, officials say new arrangements will have to be made by the United States to fit into the commercial scheme created.

Rationing of Supplies

At present the war arrangement by which Spain is taking care of American interests in Germany continues in force and this is not expected to be disturbed. The rationing of supplies of various sorts to Germany must begin under the treaty terms, however, and the powerful reparations commission will be set up to determine all the details of Germany's commercial intercourse with other nations.

On this commission the United States will have no representation, though it is hoped to work out a plan by which this country can keep in close touch with the commission's work in order to protect American interests.

No U. S. Consuls for Germany

The state department is emphatic in its stand that no American consuls can be sent into Germany until peace has been definitely established between the United States and that country, and they declare only an imperfect trade relation can be built up without the consular officers who are in charge of the legal end of international trade.

A contrary view is held, however, by some of the senators who opposed ratification of the treaty. Notable in that connection is the stand taken by Senator Knox, republican, Pennsylvania, a former secretary of state, who holds that by the language of the treaty, full commercial and diplomatic intercourse can be resumed with Germany by all of her late enemies, as soon as the process verbatim is exchanged.

Various other senators have taken a similar view, and Senator Fall, republican, New Mexico, has declared repeatedly in the senate that the United States already is trading with Germany in the full sense of the term, and that American consular agents could be installed without overstepping international law. There seems little prospect, however, that the state department will accept such a construction, and officials there say American trade will have to accommodate itself to the facilities of the Spanish agents in Germany until a state of peace has been defined directly between that

Senate Votes Down Treaty, Kills All Compromises and Adjourns

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The fate of the treaty of peace with Germany and the League of Nations so far as the United States is concerned, today again is in the hands of President Wilson. Failure yesterday and last night to have the treaty ratified in some form by the senate brought the situation just where it was six months ago when the pact was submitted to the upper house of congress and technically peace is no nearer than it was on Armistice day, more than a year ago.

Lodge Says Treaty Dead

With the much-debated and much-contested document thrust back upon him, the next move is up to the president and today there was no indication what course he would pursue. In any event, it was not believed there would be any developments until congress reconvenes Dec. 1 in regular session. Opinion as to what may be expected then is divided. Senator Lodge, majority leader, who led the forces opposed to adoption of the treaty as presented, declared the failure of ratification last night killed the pact unless President Wilson "circumvented the senate rules" by withdrawing it

OUR FINANCIAL CONDITION GOOD

Report of City Treasurer Read at Meeting of Municipal Council

Fair Price Committee Secretary Reports on Local Sugar Situation

A report on the city's financial condition by City Treasurer Fred H. Rourke, in which it was brought out that Lowell will close this year's work in better financial condition than for the past two years; another report on the local sugar situation by Warren F. Riordan, secretary of the Lowell fair price committee, resulting from a conference of the committee with the state commission on the necessities of life in Boston yesterday, and the appropriation of $10,000 for street maintenance were the outstanding features of this morning's meeting of the municipal council.

The city treasurer's report was made to the council at the request of Mayor Perry D. Thompson. It showed that if the same amount of collections are made between now and the end of the year, the city will carry into 1920 a balance of $266,000. This is approximately the same amount that has been carried over for the past two years, but previously it has been necessary to borrow $200,000 in December. This will not be necessary this year, according to the treasurer.

SACO-LOWELL STRIKE

—Company Has Lot of Work on Hand

The striking machinists and other allied tradesmen from the Saco-Loell shops held a mass meeting this morning in the interests of their demands upon the company and their ultimate walk-out when they were refused. Merrimack hall was packed to the doors and although the crowd was large enough to be broken into two meetings, only one was held. The meeting was closed to everyone except the strikers and organizers, but George McCabe, business agent of this district for the international union, gave out the word after the session that routine matters only took up the time.

Agent McCabe presided and introduced Robert Fechner, a member of the executive committee of the international union, who spoke at some length. It was announced that William Larkin, organizer, has gone to the Blodford, Me., plant of the Saco-Loell, not for the purpose of calling out the men there in sympathy, but, if possible, to affect a change in working conditions, which the union leaders say, are much similar to those in this city.

At the end of the meeting Agent McCabe took exception to the alleged statement of Superintendent Goldsmith of the Saco-Loell plant that the pay of employees had been increased 15 per cent since 1914. He said he would admit for the sake of argument the official's statement that production had decreased, but that he believed if it were so it has come about by the employment of more so-called "white collar" men, who are not producers. Picketing of the plant at both the Jackson and Dutton street gates continues and union men say that none of their number has made any attempt to return to work. The foundry men still are at work and Agent McCabe said today that they will not be asked to strike in sympathy and that if they do walk out it will be of their own volition.

According to the law relative to strikes, Mayor Thompson has notified the state board of arbitration and conciliation of the existing conditions. The plant officials have no word to give out, other than operation is going on as best it can under the conditions. They are free to admit that the shop has a tremendous amount of work on hand, orders being on file to carry production into 1922.

EXTRAORDINARY SESSION ENDS

Review of Work Accomplished by First Session of 66th Congress

Considerable Important Legislation Completed—Three Billions Appropriated

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—While consideration of the treaty of Versailles was the outstanding event of the first session of the 66th congress—the first in six years in which republicans have controlled both branches—considerable important legislation was completed and many other measures prepared for disposal when the regular meeting begins Dec. 1.

The session closing last night was an extraordinary one convened May 19, under a call cabled from Paris by President Wilson to consider primarily the appropriation bills which failed at the session ending last March third.

Principal Achievements

Among the principal legislative achievements were:

Submission of the woman suffrage constitutional amendment, to the states for ratification. The amendment, which was adopted 361 to 89, by the house as its first legislative act and by the senate June 4, 66 to 25.

The prohibition enforcement bill, providing for enforcing war-time and constitutional prohibition, passed over President Wilson's veto.

The act repealing the daylight saving

MAY QUERY ALLIES ON RESERVATIONS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—President Wilson will have no statement to make on the failure of the senate to ratify the treaty of Versailles. It was said today at the White House.

Senators Hitchcock, Nebraska, the administration leader and Underwood, Alabama, called at the White House during the morning, but did not see Secretary Tumulty, who was with the president on the south lawn. They took a philosophical view of the action of the senate.

"Democratic leadership played ill cards to the limit and for all they are worth, and lost—that's all," said Senator Underwood.

"As long as the treaty is not dead, there is something to be joyful about," said Senator Hitchcock.

The president has considered the possibility of negotiating a new treaty in the event of the rejection of the present treaty, administration officials said, but he virtually has rejected that alternative as impracticable and now probably will take up with the principal signatories what compromise reservations would be acceptable to them. Senator Hitchcock said he expected the president upon the convening of congress, Dec. 1, to withdraw the treaty and later re-submit it, possibly with suggestions for acceptable reservations.

Administration leaders in the senate also are known to be considering negotiation of compromises with the mild reservation republicans, but no active moves toward compromise negotiation are planned until congress reconvenes.

GASOLINE IN LIQUID SHOE POLISH

The next time you purchase a bottle of liquid shoe polish, be sure to look on the outside of the bottle to see what it contains, because if you don't, you may be buying an article which the state law says must not be sold. To be brief, you may be getting a lot of gasoline in with the polish.

Walter L. Wedger, state chemist, was in Lowell a few days ago and in company with Chief Edward F. Saunders of the local fire department and Sergt. Hugh Maguire of the police department, made a tour of a number of local stores where shoe polish is sold and secured a number of bottles on which it was plainly printed on the outside that the polish contained 68 per cent. gasoline. The polish in question is manufactured by a Manchester, N. H. man.

It is in direct violation of Chapter 153 of the Acts of 1917 to sell gasoline in this manner without a license. Samples of the polish were taken and will be analyzed by Chemist Wedger. Arrests are expected to follow in a few days. Owing to the fact that the manufacturer of the polish is a New Hampshire man and is crafty enough not to cross the border into this state, the police have been unable to get hold of him.

This is the first case of its kind to come to the attention of the local officials and much interest is being taken in the outcome of whatever prosecution proceedings are instituted.

The polish was found in Lowell mainly in stores conducted by foreign-speaking people. About a dozen stores were visited in the "shoe polish raid."

Mr. Riordan's report of the visit of his committee to Boston yesterday, where it met Gen. John H. Sherburne, chairman of the state commission on the necessities of life, was not wholly optimistic, although he said that the state sugar commission had agreed to make an investigation of the local situation.

Meeting in Detail

The meeting was called at 10:22. Commissioner Morse was absent.

The first business was the report of Mr. Riordan at the request of the mayor. He said that four members of the fair price committee, Mrs. Heath, Mr. Rowlandson, Mr. Cogrove and himself met Gen. Sherburne in Boston yesterday. Mr. O'Sullivan was unable to go because of illness in his family. They also met Messrs. Willard and Adams of the state commission.

"We brought up the matter of the sugar shortage in Lowell," Mr. Riordan said, "and pointed out that Lowell was not getting a fair share of the available supply. Gen. Sherburne replied that that complaint was being received from all over the state. I maintained that Lowell was getting the worst deal of any city. We were referred to a special sugar commission and at 1:20 went into conference with this body. We produced figures from two local wholesalers showing that they received 10 per cent. less sugar in the first nine months of this year than in the same time a year ago. The committee didn't take kindly to this statement, but promised an immediate investigation, the result of which would be made known to us within a day or two."

Military Store Sugar

Mr. Riordan said the people in Boston anticipate considerable trouble on the sugar question when the United States equalization board disbanded the first of the year. He said an effort was being made to have this board continued. He cited examples of what methods are being employed to distribute sugar in Lowell by saying that last week after an investigation he found that a local military store was giving two pounds of sugar to women who would pay a certain price for a hat. A local wholesaler, he said, is getting four barrels of sugar every week from Boston and another, not 100 yards away from city hall, was getting a similar amount every week from Manchester, N. H.

He said that the big trouble with the local situation was that the Boston commission was basing Lowell's allotment of three pounds per person on a population of 120,000. In reality this had to take care of not only Lowell but all the surrounding towns.

Following his report, Mr. Riordan was extended the council's appreciation for his efforts as were the other members of the committee.

Action on Petitions

Margaret B. Scott et al., petitioned that the money which they paid for the oiling of Wilbur street between Pine and Parker be refunded inasmuch as they had not asked that the work be done. The matter was referred to Commissioner Murphy.

Carleton & Hovey's petition for a granite sidewalk at 75-85 Market street was referred to Commissioner Murphy.

Similar action was taken on the petitions of M. J. Markham for a sidewalk at 57 Clarence avenue and Mary M. Sullivan for an electric light at 67-69 Leavitt street.

J. Francis Chien entered a claim for damage to clothing caused, it was alleged, by a ball protruding from the railing in the polling booth of Precinct 2 of Ward 7 at the city primaries. Referred to the law department.

The petition of the Sinclair Rething company for a garage and gasoline in Tanner street was held for a hearing December 16.

Similar action was taken on the petition of the Ignition Repair company for a garage and gasoline at 610 Main street.

Commissioner Murphy reported favorably on the following petitions and the accompanying orders were adopted: Edward F. Anderson, that a sidewalk be laid in West Forrest street and Rose avenue and Mary J. Greene, that edgelines be laid at 6 Waverley avenue.

The Sinclair Rething company petitioned for permission to have a spur track of the Boston & Maine railroad run along their proposed plant in Tanner street. The petition was referred to the city solicitor for a report.

Mrs. W. A. Ross asked that she be given permission to move a wooden building from 29 Westford street to 195 Shaw street. A hearing was ordered for Dec. 2.

Commissioner Murphy then introduced an order to appropriate $10,000 from the general treasury for street maintenance and it was adopted without explanation or dissent.

City's Financial Condition

Mayor Thompson then asked City Treasurer Rourke a number of questions concerning the city's financial condition. His first question was whether the city would have to make any more temporary loans this year. The answer was "no."

The other questions were answered, in a general statement by the treasurer. He said:

"We now have in the banks a total of $1,468,658.05 and have notes due on Nov. 28, Dec. 5 and Dec. 17, amounting in all to $500,000. The expenses for the balance of the year, including pay-rolls, salaries, bill drafts and interest charges, will amount to $320,000. This will leave a balance of $166,658.05 and if we collect as much money during the rest of the present year as in previous years, the balance on hand at the beginning of next year will be $266,658.

"This is approximately the same amount that we carried over last year and the year before last, but in both those years we had to borrow $200,000 in December in order to have a sufficient amount to carry over. This year we shall not have to do this."

Mayor Thompson said that he had asked for the report inasmuch as there had been considerable discussion recently of the city's financial condition. He said that there had also been considerable talk about an interest charge for which a money was appropriated during the year and maintained that it was done to take advantage of the money market.

City Auditor J. Joseph Hennessey then asked that an order be passed authorizing him to issue a warrant upon the city treasurer for the sum of $5500.00 to be paid to the state for the support of schools of observation and practice in this city in connection with the State Normal school. This amount is a quarterly payment and is in accordance with a contract

LIVELY JITNEY HEARING IN NO. CHELMSFORD

Fred Cummings, publicity man for the Eastern Mass. St. Ry. Co. told the residents of No. Chelmsford last evening at a meeting held in the town hall that it was up to them to choose between the jitneys and the electric cars, for both systems cannot exist in the same community. He said he did not go to No. Chelmsford to plead with the citizens for the elimination of the jitneys, but simply to explain to them the situation, but he stated that if they decide to keep the jitneys the line extending between Stevens' corner and Wood's corner in the village will be discontinued.

The meeting was called by the board of selectmen for the purpose of discussing the so-called jitney act, and in the course of the evening a lively debate took place between Mr. Cummings and Frank Goldman, the latter appearing for the jitney interests of the town. There were about 200 residents of the town present. The Massachusetts Eastern Street Railway company was represented by Mr. Cummings, Manager Thomas A. Lees, Trustee Fred A. Crowley and local Superintendent Bard B. Leavitt. Judge Frederick A. Fisher of this city represented the town's interest. There was no action taken and at the close of the meeting it was announced that a similar meeting will be held this evening in the town hall in the Centre village, while next Monday evening a special town meeting will be held at which time a vote will be taken to see if the town will accept the so-called jitney act of 1916 and thereby eliminate the jitneys from the town. The meeting was presided over by Justin L. Moore, chairman of the board of selectmen, who briefly explained how the meeting was brought about. At the close of his remarks Mr. Moore said the meeting was open for discussion, but no one seemed to be willing to speak unless some representative of the road was present, for at that time the representatives of the company had not arrived. Thomas H. Murphy said it was too bad the road was not represented at the meeting for in his opinion this would be the proper place to ask questions. Lawyer Frank Goldman, counsel for Joseph T. Ryan, who operates Jitneys, said he would rather speak in the presence of representatives of the road. Mr. Moore said the company had been requested to be represented at the meeting and he felt the road would acquiesce to the demand. At this point the above mentioned representatives of the company made their appearance.

Mr. Cummings was then introduced and his remarks were in part as follows:

"The Eastern Mass. St. Ry. Co. comes before you without anything else in its mind than to clearly relate to you the situation as it exists in North Chelmsford. We are trying to operate this line as representatives of your interests. We say to you that by a division of resources you are not injuring the road as much as yourselves. We lose $350 a week through the operation of jitneys in North Chelmsford by a man against whom we have no grievance. We don't come to argue with him, but the plain proposition is that a street railway and a jitney have cannot both exist in the same community. We claim it is just as reasonable to have two street departments, and two gas companies as it is to have two transportation companies. We are not fooling ourselves on that point and we are not trying to fool you. If you want the jitneys and if you are satisfied they serve you well, there is no reason for our existence and we should be wiped off the map, but if you believe the railway is the real transportation medium, then you should choose us and wipe out the jitneys, for it is impossible to have both.

"We say it will be impossible to operate our line from Stevens' corner to Wood's corner for with the jitneys in operation we cannot deliver that ride at the price, with our resources so drained. The tracks are in such a wretched condition that we will immediately have to spend $7000 on them, providing we keep the line in operation. We don't come here to plead with you but to tell you to choose between the jitneys and the railways."

Mr. Cummings then told about the appointment of five public trustees by the governor in order to save the road from collapse and speaking about the economy that is being practiced by the trustees he said that the president, vice president and treasurer of the road

Banging of Doors and Even Laughter Upset Her Nerves

Nervous Trouble

The healthy, robust person has little patience with the man or woman who becomes "worked-up" over the cries of children, the banging of a door or a shrill whistle. He can't understand that when nerves are worn to a frazzle noise becomes painful. He doesn't stop to consider that when the blood grows thin and weak the nervous system, failing to get nourishment from the blood, becomes disarranged and that sleeplessness and indigestion follow. Mrs. H. Robinson who lives at No. 412 Main street, Clinton, Mass., suffered for months from nervous trouble before she learned that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, by building up the blood, will strengthen the nerves and bring back the color of health to the cheeks.

"I had worked pretty hard, overworked in fact," relates Mrs. Robinson. "I was so run down that the least little effort about the house tired me out and my nerves were in such shape that I suffered frequently from headaches. Noise of any kind upset me whether it was the banging of a door or the laughter and shouts of children. I had frequent dizzy spells and couldn't sleep well. I was pale and lost considerable weight."

"I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as I had read a great deal about the remedy. After a week's treatment I felt so much improved that I continued taking the pills. Gradually my strength returned and I was able to do my work without unusual effort. As my blood improved my nerves gained strength. I feel like myself again and have gained several pounds. I strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to those who are nervous and run down for I am sure that the remedy will help them."

Your own druggist can supply you with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or you can order direct from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., at 60 cents a box. Write for the free booklet, "Diseases of the Nervous System."—Adv.

who were receiving large salaries have been set aside, while the company has moved its quarters from State street to Beacon street, thereby reducing the rent by several thousand dollars. The speaker then informed his listeners that if they desired to continue the jitney business, they could do so and there would not be a word of dissent on the part of the company, "but if you do," he said, "we cannot continue to operate the road from Stevens' corner to Wood's corner."

Mr. Murphy wanted to know what assurance the road would give the residents of the town that in the event of the elimination of the jitneys there would be no more crowded cars and that conditions would be better. Mr. Cummings replied that as soon as the street cars are operated alone, then the responsibility of the road starts and if proper service is not given, the road should be kicked out of the streets. It was then that Mr. Goldman started his cross-examination.

Mr. Goldman—"Is the road losing $350 a week, or is it $350 that Ryan is getting and that the road would like to have?"

Mr. Cummings—"The road is losing $350 a week that the public would like to have."

Mr. Goldman—"Do you contend that the road is losing money in the operation of its cars from Merrimack square to North Chelmsford?"

Mr. Cummings—"The $350 now in the jitney traffic would make it easier for the trustee to give better service."

Mr. Goldman—"If the people of the town are willing to pay the present fare and the company is not losing, is the company willing to continue its service?"

Mr. Cummings—"This is not a private concern, but a public corporation."

Mr. Goldman—"I know and that is why I ask such a question."

Mr. Cummings—"You are wasting a lot of time precious to those present."

Mr. Goldman—"Nobody else but yourself has said so."

Mr. Goldman—"Is the 10-cent fare in Lowell an experiment?"

Mr. Cummings—"Yes sir and a very successful one."

Mr. Goldman—"Why not experiment in the same way in the town of Chelmsford?"

Mr. Cummings—"We will, we will."

give you a 12½ cent fare in North Chelmsford the first day the jitneys go out of business."

This remark brought forth considerable laughter, which caused the chairman to rap to order and request fair play for everybody.

Mr. Goldman—"Why does not the road reduce its fares in an endeavor to get more business?"

Mr. Cummings—"We don't plead to take off the jitneys but if they continue to drain our sources we will get off the road."

Mr. Goldman—"But that is not answering my question."

Mr. Cummings—"Two transportation systems are a waste."

Questioned by Mr. Goldman, Mr. Cummings admitted that the Boston & Maine is a street railway contemporary.

Mr. Goldman—"Then you would want to abolish it?"

Mr. Cummings—"No sir because the B. & M. is a common carrier."

Mr. Goldman—"So is Mr. Ryan's bus."

Mr. Cummings—"No sir, jitneys are nuisances."

Mr. Goldman then referred to the special session of the legislature, which is now on for the purpose of enacting a law regulating jitneys in towns and said in his opinion it would be only fair that the citizens of Chelmsford wait until the legislature speaks before taking any action on the matter.

Mr. Cummings said there is an urgent necessity for the road to know whether or not the public's money should be expended on roads where the company is losing money.

John Kelley stated that in his opinion conditions of the road could be improved to a great extent in the town, if referred to the 10-cent fare that is being charged from the city line to the square in North Chelmsford and said that was an outrage and as a result a great many people are walking to and from the city line in order to save a dime. He also stated that as a result of exorbitant fares on the street cars a great many people are travelling on the steam road and he believed over $350 which the electric could have every week go to the B. & M.

Mr. Cummings closed by saying that if the jitneys are eliminated a 12½ cent fare will be experimental on both in the North and Centre villages.

BY SERGT. CHAS. W. O'CONNOR
(Ward 55, Walter Reed Hospital)

WASHINGTON, November.—He was a boyish, attractive figure, in his trim uniform, atop the steps of the big hospital, hands clasped behind him, red-band cap at a jaunty tilt.

Just a simple little speech it was, earnest, clearly spoken. It struck the hearts of the broad circle of boys in olive drab looking up from the foot of the steps. They grinned. And the boy on the steps grinned, flushed.

Just Boys Together
"Atta stuff," came a rear-rank chorus. Then the slim, youthful speaker saluted smartly, twirled his cane, ran down to a big auto and was whisked away, red cap, smile and all.

He was the Prince of Wales, heir to the throne of Britain—and the other boys were wounded Americans at Walter Reed hospital, Washington.

Boys together they were for that moment when the prince addressed them at the great army hospital.

Here was a youth for whom life is moving, full of color, sparkling with activity, brought for an instant into the quiet routine day of the "war holdovers." He won for himself only admiration. No envy in that unanimous grin of the Yanks, just regular, old-fashioned "boy language" of understanding.

"Some duds he's got," said one doughboy, taking in the royal visitor's layout. Then these frank, outspoken Americans, whose eyes were made keen in judgment over their under burning shells, chimed in:

"Well, nothing wrong with that buddy."

"It's a good looking kid at that." "But he gets awful sick of his job." "Say, that bird looks to me as if he'd like to eat loose and break away. He's a devil, I can see it in his eye."

And "Big Shorty" put it: "He's just human, like the rest of us, I guess."

All this, of course, in good natured, low-voiced talk back in the ranks. Military etiquette forbade vocal demonstrations.

The prince shook hands with Herbert Hahn of Bellefontaine, O., who lost a leg and an arm at Chateau Thierry and a dozen other patients who held the place of honor in their wheel chairs.

No Show of Rank
During the war, Albert Edward, whose string of titles is wondrous long, was a staff officer in the British army. His uniform is covered with shining insignia. But in the presence of the men who knew the long, hard aftermath of war, who still live in the reality of whirling bullets, there was no show of rank about him.

"I am happy to see you. I wish you luck. Hope you're well soon," was what he told the war patients.

Outside, the big crowd of hundreds of soldiers, nurses in their spotless white, pretty aides in "bluebird" garb, officers and men of the post, movie men, chauffeurs, waited patiently, that last picture of the ruddy-faced boy on the steps—the last clear word in the earnest voice, the flash of sun on the gleaming motor.

The prince was gone.
"A very charming young man," said Head Nurse Beulah, demurely.
"Oh huh," said Private Burkette of No. 11 Cablin, sub, reflectively.

IRELAND AND HER HISTORY

Eloquent Address by Hon.
Edward F. McSweeney
Last Evening

St. Patrick's Holy Name Society Begins Course of Lectures

"Ireland's Place in the World of Liberty" was the theme of an exceptionally stirring lecture given last evening by Hon. Edward F. McSweeney, a noted authority on the Irish question, before members of St. Patrick's Holy Name society and invited guests in St. Patrick's school hall in Suffolk street.

The lecture was the first of a series to be held by the society and if the same high standard is maintained in subsequent addresses as prevailed in the first, the officers of the organization will deserve congratulation.

Mr. McSweeney's lecture covered a wide range of territory and did so purposefully inasmuch as the speaker said he wished to sketch only briefly

ASPIRIN FOR HEADACHE

Aspirin—say Bayer

Inlet on "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin," in a "Bayer package" containing proper directions for Colds, Pain, Headache, Neuralgia, Lumbago and Rheumatism. Name "Bayer" means genuine Aspirin prescribed by physicians for nineteen years. Handy tin boxes of 12 tablets each few cents. Aspirin is trade mark of Bayer Manufacturing Co., Monac, Germany.

the leading features of Ireland's history, her present standing in world affairs and England's relations to both this country and Ireland. He suggested that from the outlines he gave, the members of the society institute a course of lectures in which each topic can be discussed in detail.

Mr. McSweeney characterized the League of Nations as a scheme on the part of England, written up by a member of a family that for years has controlled the foreign policy of England, Lord Robert Cecil. He said that when Senator Henry Cabot Lodge rightfully attacked the League of Nations, there was not a word of complaint from those people who called Senator David L. Walsh "un-American" when he made a similar attack.

Preceding Mr. McSweeney's address was a brief business session in which nominating committees submitted a list of officers for the coming year. Pres. William J. Pendergast then introduced James O'Sullivan, chairman of the general committee in charge of the evening's meeting, as the presiding officer.

Seated on the platform were officers of the Holy Name society, including Rev. Francis L. Keenan, the spiritual director. In the audience were Rt. Rev. Mr. William O'Brien, P.R., pastor of St. Patrick's, and other clergy of the parish.

In introducing Mr. McSweeney, Mr. O'Sullivan said that the former had made as great sacrifices for the Irish cause as anyone within the confines of the commonwealth and that St. Patrick's Holy Name society should feel deeply honored by his coming. Mr. McSweeney was given an enthusiastic welcome.

He referred to two previous visits which he had made in Lowell, both under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus, and said that when he made an address on socialism here in 1911, he felt that he had not "put across" his message. A few months later, however, he received a copy of a book containing his address printed in both English and Japanese, the gift of a missionary priest. Only a short time ago, the chairman of a Japanese delegation visiting Boston, sought him out and told him that millions of copies of his address were being distributed by the Japanese government. He cited these incidents, he said, to show that even though an address or an editorial does not seem to meet with immediate fruit, sooner or later results will be forthcoming.

"I'm not going to make an effort to speak eloquently of Ireland," he said. "Any man of Irish blood can do that without making an effort."

"It's been said many times, and especially in the recent discussion of the right of Ireland to freedom, that Ireland is not consistent. It won't follow a leader. Why, the Irish are the most consistent nation on the earth. For 40 years they backed up O'Connell and for 40 more Parnell and Redmond, whether they were right or wrong. No nation is more loyal to its leaders than Ireland. And I feel that the Irish people can show the same loyalty to an established form of government now that the prospect of independence is before them."

"As the son of an Irish-born father and an American-born mother, I have found in my life that our neighbors of other races have the idea that while Irish people may be loyal to the employers, faithful in every way, yet, after all, they are really fit to be only servants. They have the idea that we make good housemaids, mental laborers, etc. I have even seen some people of Irish blood who have become rich, get the impression that they will be better thought of if they repudiate the race from which they sprung."

"That's the reason why it is high time that the 875,000 Irish people in Massachusetts begin to assert themselves. We have played too much with politics and have not given our attention to the business world. We have failed to realize that one good business man can swamp 500 politicians."

"Then came the great war and there was a slightly different feeling toward the Irish. But I want to bring out the point that in the United States, the south, bigoted always, is trying to rewin the Civil war and England is trying to rewin the American Revolution. In the war of 1812 Massachusetts was a Tory state. The Massachusetts legislature pleaded the congressmen and senators from this state not to press America's claim against Great Britain for the freedom of the seas. But there were real Americans at Washington at that time and America went to war to uphold her rights."

"It is impossible to believe that our neighbors, whom we respect in so many ways, can be willing to approve the freedom of nations that have been born overnight and are not willing to look with favor on the establishment of a free Ireland, the oldest nation on earth. When we ask for independence they tell us that we are not American. But all the colonial historians say that America was saved from England at the time of the Revolution by the Irish because the American army was 35 per cent. Irish."

"Do you know that when President Wilson was about to start on his western trip, the president of Liberia, the black republic, wanted to see him, but was delayed in reaching Washington and asked him to postpone his trip until he arrived. And the president did this, but when an Irish delegation a week before asked to see him, it was refused."

"And all through his western trip he characterized the Irish as 'hyphenics.' Well, I stood for nine years at the gateway to the United States and saw peoples coming in from all parts of Europe. And the most discordant people of all I saw were those that are now to make up some of the new states erected by the peace congress. And yet Ireland is refused her independence."

"When Henry Cabot Lodge opposed the League of Nations there is not a whisper from the Tories of Boston. But when Senator David L. Walsh dares to lift his voice against the league, the purity of his motives is questioned and he is told that he is not an American."

Yet I know full well that if there were a real question between Ireland and the United States, everyone of you would rather see Ireland sink to the bottom of the sea than to have a lot of harm come to the United States. And yet they call you 'hyphenics.'"

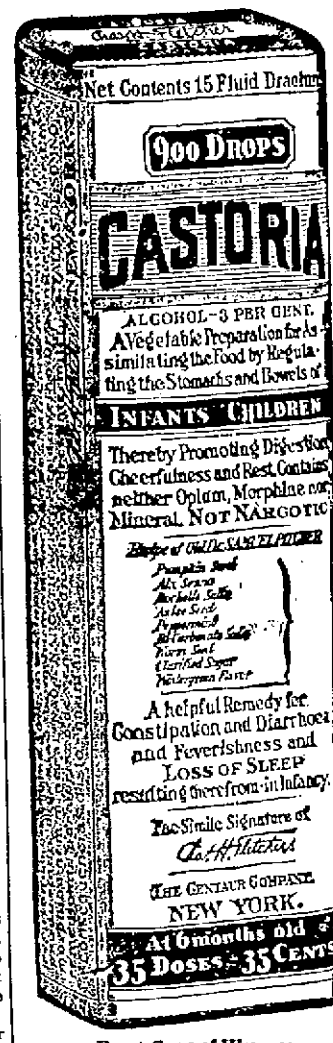

Mr. McSweeney then suggested that the society institute a course of lec-

Imitations Are Dangerous.

AN OHIO druggist writes to "The Practical Druggist," a prominent New York Drug Journal, as follows: "Please furnish formula for Castoria. All the formulas I have worked with are either ineffective or disagreeable to administer."

To this "The Practical Druggist" replies: "We do not supply formulas for proprietary articles. We couldn't if we wanted to. Your experience with imitative formulas is not surprising, but just what is to be expected. When Castoria is wanted, why not supply the genuine? If you make a substitute, it is not fair or right to label it Castoria. We can give you all sorts of laxative preparations for children, but not Castoria, and we think a mother who asks for Castoria would not feel kindly toward you if you gave her your own product under such a name."

No mother with a spark of affection for her child will overlook the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher when buying Castoria.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Mothers Must Use Care.

Why do we so often call your attention to imitations of Fletcher's Castoria? Because it is a baby's medicine and imitations are always dangerous, particularly imitations of a remedy for infants.

Your druggist may not keep an imitation but they are to be found on drug-store shelves. Reliable druggists think only of the welfare of their customers. The other kind only of the greater profit to be made on imitations.

Your own judgment tells you that Fletcher's Castoria having for over thirty years at great expense held up its reputation, must jealously guard it. Then, it follows that this company must use the very best of material. Must employ experts in the selection of the herbs. Must retain skilled chemists in its manufacture.

Your same good judgment must tell you that these irresponsible imitators are trading on your credulity and the reputation built up by Mr. Fletcher, during all these years, for his Castoria.

MOTHERS SHOULD READ THE BOOKLET THAT IS AROUND EVERY BOTTLE OF FLETCHER'S CASTORIA.

tures on Ireland so that they may have a clear knowledge of her history and institutions. He sketched briefly the civilization that Ireland had "1000 years before England had even a law." He said that one evening of the lecture course should be devoted to the pagan period before Christ when Ireland was one of the few nations entirely isolated from the immorality and weakness that accompanied Roman invasions. At that time, he said, Ireland was living under the purest form of democracy. Nine hundred years before Caesar and Pompey, O'Sullivan was writing inspired poetry whose beauty has been seldom equalled.

Another evening, he suggested, should be devoted to the study of the wonderful work of St. Patrick and he brought out the fact that 1490 years before Massachusetts allowed women to be educated, Ireland was giving her women university training under the direction of St. Bridget, King Alfred of England, he said, came to Ireland to get the foundation of Celtic common law.

"They tell us that we are not a race," said Mr. McSweeney, "but they don't say that in the 13th century England pleaded to be admitted into the council of Constantine as an ancient nation, but France said no because England was not an ancient nation. Not until the English king proved that he was king of Ireland, a really ancient nation, was England allowed to enter the council."

The speaker then came down to modern Irish history and said that in 1546 the grandfathers of many of the men who were sitting before him were starving in Ireland while English landlords were taking wheat and cattle from the country and shipping it to England. He sketched briefly the incidents of the Easter week revolution in 1916 and told of England's inconsistency in forbidding the arming of the Irish Volunteers while those of Ulster were allowed to arm for rebellion.

"England told us that she was in the war to help small democracies and not to gain a foot of territory," he continued. "Well, I heard a good story to-night. Bernard Shaw is quoted as saying that England won the war and that if you didn't believe it, all you had to do was look at her winners."

England has control of the first potential food supply section of the world, the former German colonies in Africa which have been given to her as mandates. And she got other gains as a result of the world war. And yet she was in the war to gain not a single foot of territory.

"England's one purpose is to stifle all commercial competition. She has been successful in this effort except in case of the United States. Japan is virtually in her control and will be for the next hundred years and now she wants to get control of America by the League of Nations."

Following Mr. McSweeney's address there were moving pictures, piano and vocal selections; and refreshments were served. The committee in charge consisted of President Pendergast, James O'Sullivan and Timothy Rohan, the latter in charge of the refreshments and entertainment.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAM MEETS PUNCHARD

As a preparatory contest to the Lawrence high game on Thanksgiving day morning, the Lowell high school team meets the Punchard high eleven of Andover at Spaulding park tomorrow afternoon. It will not be an easy game, but Conway's team has come along so fast of late as to make victory seem fairly certain.

The Lawrence battle, however, is another story. A victory over the downriver team will wipe away the sting of earlier season setbacks. The school spirit is rising high in anticipation of the game and mass meetings will be held in the annex on Monday and Wednesday of next week to stir up more enthusiasm and make sure of a record crowd. Pat Mulvaney is the reigning spirit of the meetings and will have a cheering section of great power.

THE ARMY STORE STILL VERY BUSY

CONSTANTINO, THE TENOR, IS DEAD

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 20.—Florentino Constantino, the widely known Spanish tenor, died here yesterday after a long illness.

Florentino Constantino sang for many years in the United States. He was a member of the San Carlo Opera company, organized by Henry Russell, and later of the Boston Opera company and of the Manhattan Opera company, under Oscar Hammerstein, in New York. He went to South America after leaving the Boston Opera company in 1912, but had been living for several years past in Mexico, where he was taken ill.

Constantino sang at many opera houses in European cities before coming to this country. He was born in Bilbao, Spain.

APEX ELECTRIC WASHER IS BIG SUCCESS

Remarkable in its simplicity and truly marvelous in the great amount of work it does at such little cost, the Apex Electric Washer, which is handled only by Howe & Phippen Co., at 179 East Merrimack street, is of especial interest to every woman in Lowell. This washer runs by electricity, is light in weight and washes everything from fine laces to blankets and other heavy pieces.

One of the most astonishing facts about the operation of the Apex is its remarkable low cost to run—the actual cost being 1 1/2¢ an hour.

It is all metal, rust-proof construction, thus doing away with the old style of wooden washes which was very hard to keep clean.

The Apex has what is known as a double cleansing action, that is, the tub not only swings from side to side but tips to a very steep angle so that the clothes have a complete drop into the water and the water has a clear drop onto the clothes.

A demonstration of its quick and clean washing ability is wonderful in that its cleansing power is much better than the back-breaking, tedious method of washing by hand. The Apex does all the work in 1-3 the usual time and does it 100 per cent better.

The German treaty as engrossed senate attention that it shut off consideration of much legislation. Senate discussion of the treaty began May 23, but the document itself was not submitted by President Wilson until July 10. Committee hearings and consideration required two months, the report with 14 reservations being made to the senate Sept. 10.

Deliberations on the treaty evoked one of the most bitter and prolonged contests between congress and the president in American history with the controversy centered largely about the League of Nations covenant.

The French treaty, providing an American guarantee to assist France in the event of unprovoked German aggression, was submitted to the senate by the president, July 29, after demands from senate republicans, but still remains in the foreign relations committee.

Another treaty, the Panama canal settlement with Colombia proposing payment of $25,000,000 by the United States also remains in committee. It was reported to the senate but later withdrawn because of Colombian desires regarded as inimical to American interests.

Several important legislative measures went over for final action at the regular session. The oil, coal, gas and phosphate land leasing bill was passed by both bodies and remains in conference as does the Edge bill, authorizing organization of corporations to help finance American export trade.

Esch Railroad Bill

The Esch railroad bill passed the house and will be taken up with the senate interstate commerce committee's bill at the December session. The house also passed and sent to the senate bills providing for development of water power projects for establishment of a federal budget system, and providing a permanent government shipping policy.

There were numerous investigations during the extra session. Besides the house inquiries into aviation, ordnance contracts and other war department activities, the senate investigated the steel strike, Mexican situation, the coal situation and other matters.

The senate also authorized investigation of the print paper trade, but deferred the inquiry until the new session.

Preliminary steps looking to revision of tariff and internal revenue laws also were taken, with general revision planned during the regular session. The effort to repeal war taxes on soft drinks and other luxuries failed.

Army Legislation

Permanent Army legislation was introduced both by the senate and house military committees which completed hearings on peace time army proposals and are prepared to present bills in the new session providing for a permanent army of about 500,000 men, as compared with the war department's request for 800,000.

Bills to increase pay of the navy personnel also are in readiness.

Controversies during the extra session resulted from opposition in senate confirmation of Attorney General Palmer and Comptroller of Currency John Skelton Williams. The former was confirmed, but the latter's nomination is still pending.

The house refused to seat Representative Victor Berger, socialist, of Milwaukee, because of his attitude during the war, and purged John E. Fitzpatrick, democrat, of Massachusetts whose election was contested by Peter J. Taglia of Boston.

50 DOCTORS TO TEST TOBACCO

Seek To Show Whether It's Harmful—Prohibition Move?

BY FREDERICK M. KENNY, N.E.A. Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The Committee of Fifty, headed by Dr. Alexander Lambert, 43 East 72d street, New York, modeled on the committee of fifty which 25 years ago declared alcohol a poison, has undertaken a study of the effects of nicotine on the human system.

After research and study extending over a period of years, the old committee decided by majority action, that alcohol was a poison. Based on their findings, the campaign against liquor was in large parts carried on.

Among its membership are Dr. Walter B. Cannon of Harvard, Prof. Henry W. Farnum of Yale, Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale, Prof. F. W. Roman of Syracuse, the author of the famous pamphlet, "Nicotine Next," prepared for the W.C.T.U.; George J. Fisher of the Y.M.C.A.; Anna B. Fletcher, chairman of the Tufts college board of trustees; Dr. Oscar H. Rogers, chief physician for the New York Life insurance company; Dr. Eugene Lyman Plisk, director of the Life Extension institute, and George Foster Peabody.

Dr. Lambert is chairman of the executive committee.

Meetings have been held at the Yale club here.

The investigation which the committee will make is announced to be "exhaustive and impartial."

"The Committee of Fifty on Tobacco was formed to make a scientific study of the effects of tobacco on the human body," Dr. Alexander Lambert told me. "It will take one or two years before scientific experiments will be completed from which we can draw any conclusions. This committee is not in any way connected with any crusade against cigars or tobacco. It is intended to form a purely scientific, unbiased opinion regarding the effects of tobacco on the human organism."

Dr. William Osler of Oxford, who is at present devoting himself to special studies of the heart, has joined the committee, and distinguished French scientists are to be brought in.

Notwithstanding the announcement of the purely scientific basis of the experiments, many of the men on the committee have expressed themselves strongly against tobacco—notably Dr. Roman and Prof. Farnum, who are credited with calling the first organization meeting.

THAT GERMAN SURPLUS

German goods have been said to be stored in large quantities for export at the first possible moment. A devastating torrent has sometimes been predicted. England officially holds another view. The president of the board of trade says, "Beyond a comparatively small quantity there does not seem to be any accumulation of goods in Germany ready for export. Their costs are enormous. In addition there is a great fall in productivity. There is no great manufacturing activity in Germany. Industry is not moving but is very stagnant. They are short of raw material, and their state is pitiful with regard to coal. Great as our difficulties are here, theirs are infinitely greater."—The Nation's Business for November.

MEN AND WOMEN ARE NO OLDER THAN THEY FEEL

One of our leading doctors says, "Everyone, no matter what their age, can be healthy and strong. It is a case of take care of yourself."

"For want of Iron and Phosphates you may be old at thirty, nervous, thin, weak, and all-in, while at fifty or sixty, with plenty of Iron and Phosphates in your blood, you will feel young, full of life, vim and energy."

"Many a man and woman who ought to feel young are losing out simply because their blood and nerves are starving for want of Phosphated Iron. Lack of Iron and Phosphates makes men and women old long before their time, weak, run-down nervous wrecks."

"You will find that the strong, keen, forceful, successful men and healthy, rosy-cheeked, happy women are those whose blood and nerves are charged with Iron and Phosphates."

"Phosphated Iron makes new, rich red blood; renews nerve force and vitality, and increases my patients' strength and appearance one hundred per cent. Thousands of men and women who were 'all-in' have 'come-back' with astonishing health, strength and happiness by taking 'Phosphated Iron'."

AGREE ON MINIMUM CHILD LABOR AGE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Unanimous approval was given yesterday by the International Labor conference to the plan of submitting to the governments represented an international agreement regarding child labor and fixing minimum ages of employment. For all countries, except Japan, India and a few others in the Orient, the agreement would prohibit any child being put to work under 14 years old. The age fixed for Japan and India is 12 years.

Employment of women in industries where the materials used might be detrimental to maternity was disapproved by the conference.

Protest against seating Argentine delegates brought a mild rebuke yesterday from the credentials committee to the Argentine government. The committee suggested that it would be advisable if "the Argentine government on a future occasion should, if possible, select the labor delegates by agreement between the two groups of labor associations." Delegate Americo Ballano is a representative of the Argentine Railway union, the only Argentine labor organization having legal status. There are unrecognized trade unions with larger memberships.

The German government has advised the conference that, in view of the announced determination of the conference to adjourn November 29, it obviously would be useless for its delegation to sail for the United States.

NEARLY ALL GIRLS ARE JUST EIGHTEEN

BY GEORGE D. WATERS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 11.—"Thou shalt not bear false witness," says the bible, meaning, don't lie.

Uncle Sam, knowing the proclivities of his nieces and nephews to fib when tax matters are involved, has made an iron clad law that nothing in the census records can be used against anybody.

So when the nose-counters call just after Jan. 1, everybody should tell them the truth. Their statement will be barred to the tax inquisitor.

Income tax dodgers are not the only ones who pervert the truth, census-takers say. In 1910 more girls were 13 than any other age above 7. There were 1,600,000 more girls that age than there were 15.

There were more native-born girls 13 in 1910 than there were 8 in 1900, which is an impossibility, census-takers say.

A girl is taking only one chance in telling her right age—that is, if she should want to marry the census-taker, it might be a handicap. Otherwise, the truth will not hurt, as the census-taker is sworn to soft-pedal everything.

All that stuff told before the draft registration about the census bureau furnishing information about draft-evaders was camouflage. The department of justice tried to get a peep at the records, but there was nothing doing. And if the secretary of the treasury should try to ascertain the amount of someone's income, he would be turned away.

Taking the census is a serious matter, in fact, the bureau is such a serious place that poets and humorists here steer shy of it. Miller Hamilton, publisher of the magazine, has a request from a magazine for a "breezy human interest" story about the census and he has been racking his brain for something to write.

"Send pictures," the magazine editor said. Hamilton found just four pictures available for publication in the whole bureau—and not a single person was shown in any of them. The only photos were those of machines used for sorting and tabulating cards.

There may not be many heart throbs in these machines. But they are wonderful pieces of mechanism that have been developed in the census bureau. To E. M. LaBouffaux and Edward Nelson, who have been at the bureau 12 and 20 years, respectively, belongs the credit for developing them.

It is through these machines that persons who divulge personal information lose their identity after the census sheets reach the "figure factory." Records of individuals, factories, farms, mines, quarries and the like are first taken on the census blanks, called sheets. When one of these sheets is fed into the figure factory, it becomes a card, nameless, with a bunch of holes punched in it. These cards constitute the raw material in its second stage.

They are fed into the sorters and tabulating machines and the finished product then is turned out what is called statistics.

But the census is not all machine work. The averages turned out by the machines have to be polished and interpreted. Dr. Joseph A. Hill, chief statistician of revision and results, is fascinated with figures. That is why he has stayed in the department 20 years. His job is to take these figures and dress them up so the ordinary man can make heads and tails of them.

Some people say that statistics are as dry as dust, but Dr. Hill hasn't found them so.

Another thing the bureau will determine is: If a platform were built over the United States, and if the people would all stand still in their homes, and the platform were raised up a few feet, where would a pivot have to be placed to balance the platform? The last pivot was placed in Bloomington, Indiana. The next one will move south and west, but remain in Indiana. This is the center of population.

TIDE OF IMMIGRATION TO CANADA NEAR

LONDON, Tuesday, Nov. 12. (Via Ottawa.)—Herbert Samuel, former British postmaster general, believes that a tide of immigration to Canada will begin in the near future. High prices, he says, will give an impetus to the movement towards food producing countries.

Emigration from eastern Europe was growing steadily before the war and a great movement from this quarter may possibly present one of the most formidable problems for Canada in the future.

NEWEST THING IN #### MARRIAGE IS HERE!

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The newest thing in marriages has arrived. The bride and groom live in separate establishments in different towns. Hubby keeps his name; wife keeps hers. Both wear a ring. They visit each other over week-ends or run away together for a couple of days whenever the mood seizes them. In this way, "love will never grow cold," the two will remain sweethearts all their lives, wife will not be a mere housekeeper, or husband a furnace tender—in short perfect bliss is to be obtained.

The experiment is that of Nina Wilcox Putnam, who has just married Robert J. Sanderson. The bride is the widow of Robert Faulkner Putnam, a member of the well-known publishing

BABIES' LIVES THROWN AWAY

Millions Asked to Stop Needless Deaths—Many Mothers Lost

Bill to Create Relief System Covering Country is in Congress.

BY GEORGE E. WATERS
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov.—Seventeen thousand mothers die annually from causes relating to childbirth and 200,000 children lose their lives from preventable causes. This is why Senator Sheppard of Texas has introduced a bill to appropriate $1,450,000 a year and to create a federal board of maternal and infant hygiene. The Sheppard bill is a revision of a similar measure proposed by Congresswoman Jeannette Rankin and Senator Robinson in the 65th congress. That bill was favorably reported, but never came to a vote. It was revised because it put the work entirely under the children's bureau of the labor department and didn't properly co-ordinate the work with that of the public health service and bureau of education. Senator Sheppard's bill is now before the committee of public health and national quarantine. It will not get through at this special session, but the regular session which meets Dec. 1 is expected to pass it. The movement would be launched by the appropriation of $10,000 to each state, with increasing appropriations in future years. Each state must appropriate sums equal to that furnished to it by the federal government. This will mean, if the bill passes, that $1,000,000 will be spent the year following June 30, 1920, and after June 30, 1925, $8,000,000 a year to see that babies are properly brought into the world and are given a chance to live and that the mothers are given the best of care. The bill, as drawn, makes the secretary of labor chairman of the federal board of maternal and infant hygiene and the chief of the children's bureau would be the executive officer. The surgeon general and the United States commissioner of education would be members. The children's bureau would establish public health nursing clinics in every county in the United States. The movement to extend such government aid is backed by the international congress of working women, the Red Cross, the children's bureau, the United States public health service and the bureau of education.

SPECIAL SESSION OF HOUSE ADJOURNS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Six months to the day after the congress convened in special session the house formally adjourned at 4:02 p. m. yesterday, after receiving word from President Wilson that he did not object to this action. The adjournment resolution was adopted by a vote of 35 to 5. Only a short recess will be possible, as congress will reconvene in regular session Dec. 1. Many house members had left for home, however, before the formal adjournment and only 69 were present when the committee sent to inform the president of the situation returned with word that he had no objection to adjournment. Republican Leader Mondell, Democratic Leader Clark and Representative Towner, republican, Iowa, composed the committee, which did not see the president, but conferred with Secretary Tamm at the White House.

The committee was told that the president had signed the resolutions passed yesterday legalizing the creation of an equipment trust to pay the government for cars and locomotives bought for the railroads during federal control, and also that for continuing the government control of dye imports until Jan. 15. This cleared the slate. Mr. Mondell inserted a statement in the record declaring that 50 bills had been enacted during the special session, the appropriation measures aggregating $2,823,233,432, or a decrease of $940,610,598 from estimates made at the last session of congress. Enforcement of national prohibition, extension of the food control act, the suffrage amendment and the return of telephone and telegraph lines to private control were enumerated. "In addition," the statement said, "the house has considered and passed measures of great importance which the senate, engrossed in the treaty, has had no time to consider."

GOV. COOLIDGE DELAYS ON APPOINTMENTS

BOSTON, Nov. 20.—Although the state house corridors were almost choked with rumors yesterday afternoon as to why Gov. Coolidge had not submitted his "big list" of nominations for the consolidated departments, boards and commissions, it is a fact that some of those selected for certain important positions have not accepted. Naturally this would cause a delay and is a much more plausible reason for the governor withholding the list than any of the alleged explanations emanating every few minutes yesterday afternoon from the over-worked "rumor factory."

There were stories that the activities of friends of candidates had caused the governor to hesitate. That there were several "drives" in operation there is little doubt. Not only were there scores of callers, beginning early in the morning, but there were letters, telegrams and even long-distance telephone calls pouring in from office-seekers or their indorsers. The governor has been called upon to settle in 10 days or so the question of a vast number of highly important appointments. He has been working exceedingly hard, night and day, in order to complete the list, and those familiar with the gigantic proportions of his task are not surprised that it is not yet finished.

It Will Do the Average Family Washing in 1/3 THE USUAL TIME

The Apex Will Wash the Tubful of Ordinarily Soiled Clothes COMPLETELY. CLEAN IN FROM 10 TO 15 MINUTES

All this means that the Apex Electric Washer will wash clothes FASTER, CLEANER AND MORE GENTLY than by hand washing. Wash day will never again be a drudgery. It enables you to fairly revel in cleanliness—gives you more time free from household cares—conserves your strength and youth because the APEX WASHER DOES ALL THE WORK FOR YOU.

THESE ARE THE FACTS

- NO WEAR ON CLOTHES—No friction, no rubbing, no pushing, no pulling nor scrubbing. The inside of the cradle tub is perfectly smooth—no holes, slats or rough edges to injure the clothes.
- SIMPLE TO RUN—No complicated machinery. Just turn a lever and it starts washing at once. Electricity does the work. Necessary to oil only once in six months. No cylinder to lift out.
- NO NOISE—Its quietness will astonish you. The mechanical perfection of the Apex is truly wonderful. Never has modern engineering ability conceived an appliance of greater value to the modern household.
- THE WRINGER—The Apex Wringer may be used at the same time the washer is running. It saves time and work and wrings clothes THOROUGHLY. It adjusts to take the finest laces as well as the heaviest clothes.
- DOUBLE CLEANSING ACTION—The tub not only swings from side to side, but the ends tip up to a very steep angle, giving the clothes a complete fall INTO THE WATER and the water a clear fall ONTO THE CLOTHES, thus assuring absolute cleanliness.
- WASHES EVERYTHING—Heavy pieces such as comforts, blankets, rugs, etc., are as completely cleaned as the finer materials. By no other method can such THOROUGH WASHING be done so thoroughly.
- ALL METAL—The Apex Washer is ALL METAL. RUST-PROOF CONSTRUCTION—no wood—nothing to splinter or rot.
- LIGHT WEIGHT—The Apex Washer is mounted on roller casters and may be moved easily from place to place.
- APEX WASHERS come in Galvanized Iron, Copper and Baked White Enamel. The motor has more than enough power to do the heaviest washing—guaranteed service.

Call at our showrooms for a demonstration or telephone us and we will gladly send a demonstrator to your house. The Apex is sold on either cash or credit basis.

SHIP OF THE MERRIMACK VALLEY WILL BE HELD AT ASSOCIATE HALL ON NEXT TUESDAY EVENING AND INDICATIONS POINT TO ANOTHER LARGE CROWD.

The first event last Tuesday night drew a good sized crowd and the interest and enthusiasm indicates that the contest is bound to prove one of the most successful affairs of its kind ever conducted in this city.

There is great rivalry between the various leading dancers and as several from out of town have sent in their names as competitors for next week, a large number is expected in the contest. The high class exhibition of the opening night was greatly enjoyed by all and while the friends of several of those who did not land among the prize winners were somewhat disappointed all agreed that the judge showed excellent judgment and solved the difficult task in a praiseworthy manner.

The two couples who finished second and third in the opening contest will be among those to appear next Tuesday night. The winner will receive ten dollars, and will also be eligible to compete in the big prizes on the final night, Tuesday, Dec. 2.

GOV. COOLIDGE DELAYS ON APPOINTMENTS

BOSTON, Nov. 20.—Although the state house corridors were almost choked with rumors yesterday afternoon as to why Gov. Coolidge had not submitted his "big list" of nominations for the consolidated departments, boards and commissions, it is a fact that some of those selected for certain important positions have not accepted. Naturally this would cause a delay and is a much more plausible reason for the governor withholding the list than any of the alleged explanations emanating every few minutes yesterday afternoon from the over-worked "rumor factory."

There were stories that the activities of friends of candidates had caused the governor to hesitate. That there were several "drives" in operation there is little doubt. Not only were there scores of callers, beginning early in the morning, but there were letters, telegrams and even long-distance telephone calls pouring in from office-seekers or their indorsers. The governor has been called upon to settle in 10 days or so the question of a vast number of highly important appointments. He has been working exceedingly hard, night and day, in order to complete the list, and those familiar with the gigantic proportions of his task are not surprised that it is not yet finished.

CELESTINE KING

The simple, old-fashioned, inexpensive vegetable tea that your grandmother used to make. It purifies the blood, regulates the bowels, keeps the stomach clean and sweet and is the best tonic laxative you can take. The kiddies like it, too, for it is gentle and mild. Give it to them when they are fretful and feverish. To Prevent Influenza Colds, Grip and Influenza LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE Tablets remove the cause. There is only one "Bromo Quinine." E. W. GROVES signature on box—30c.

FAMOUS BRONZE HORSES BACK

VENICE—The famous "Horses of St. Mark" are back again as a symbol of victory. They were removed to Rome during the World War for safe keeping. The bronze horses are five feet in height and rank among the finest specimens of bronze statuary in the world. They first stood in Rome when Roma ruled the world. Later they were taken to Constantinople, remaining there until captured by Venetians. Napoleon took them to Paris when he was in power and they remained there until 1815, when they were restored to Venice.

Asked by the judge if he had anything to say, Mello declared that he had been dealt with unfairly and that he had been a victim of conspiracy and perjury. He said that 27 witnesses that could have been called for his defense, had not been summoned to the trial.

LIFE SENTENCE

Mello Convicted of Murder of Three Men.

AMERICAN DECORATED BY POLISH REPUBLIC

LEMBERG, Galicia, Tuesday, Nov. 11.—(By Associated Press)—Captain Merlon C. Cooper of Jacksonville, Fla., flight leader of the Kocelusko flying squadron, made up of American flyers, received the Orleta, or Little Eagle, of Poland, today, this being the first time a war decoration has been awarded a foreign officer by the young Polish republic.

The Orleta is given only to those who served in the campaign in eastern Galicia last winter and spring. Captain Cooper, who was then with the American relief administration, earned the decoration by bringing up food supplies to Lemberg under fire and remaining in the city in charge of relief measures for four months, during which time Lemberg was besieged by Ukrainian forces.

SUFFRAGE UP IN THE AIR IN NEBRASKA

The record of Mrs. Zelle Longley, direct descendant of Marquis de Lafayette, who recently made a 20-mile flight over Washington, D. C., at the age of 87, has been beaten. Doing a chariot-of-fire stunt in the sky at the age of 91 takes some nerve. But Ellen Harn of Keneaw, Neb., had her nerve right with her, also her voter-for-women banner.

When she found that Aviator Burgess Creeth would let her carry her banner up into the sky, and set it flying over the roofs of the town she had trotted on her knee when it was an infant, she was as willing to ascend as was the Prophet Elijah. She even consented to fly in as bad a storm as the weather man could stage for the occasion; but what is a storm more or less to a pioneer suffragist?

West Was Wilderness

Besides mounting in an airplane, Miss Harn is mounting in age towards her own centennial celebration. She was born in 1828 when the west was a wilderness, and before the east began trickling west in schooners and hand-carts. She is probably the oldest voter-for-women advocate in Adamsco, and more than probably the oldest person in her state, if not in any other state, to go up in a flying machine.

With Suffrage Pioneers

When prairie dogs were as frequent as kittens on Nebraska plains, and there was nothing of Keneaw but a future, she began to organize women for their rights. She marched in the same phase of the great movement as did the Grimke sisters of South Carolina, Lucretia Mott, Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Susan B. Anthony of New York, with Elizabeth Fry and Florence Nightingale.

CLASS IN ENGLISH AT LOCAL MILL

The class in English for Portuguese and Polish women being held at the Massachusetts mills during the noon hour is one of the most active agents for Americanization in the city. Miss Blanche Howell and Miss Anna Kolanik, both of the International Institute, are the teachers and each speaks the native tongue of the women she instructs. Miss Howell learned Portuguese while teaching in Brazil. She holds three classes a week and Miss Kolanik, two.

Conversational methods of teaching are being used, with blackboard illustrations and the lessons for the most part deal with affairs and events the women are obliged to come in contact with daily, such as shopping, traveling and in the home. Excellent progress is being made and the students show an interest which makes instruction easy.

ELECTROCUTED

Father Killed on Day Child Is Born

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 20.—Charles Campbell, 30, an electrician employed by the Revere Rubber company, was electrocuted while at work yesterday. Dr. A. O. Trotter of the Rhode Island hospital was summoned, but upon his arrival Campbell was dead.

Campbell lived at 30 Pavilion avenue, East Providence. He leaves his wife and five children, the youngest of whom was born yesterday.

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE

People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 10c and 25c.

Beauty Answers By MADAME MAREE

MINNIE—The great secret of making hair grow is in the development of the vigor of hair roots. Mere stimulation of the scalp is not enough. It is the lack of realization of this fact which is the cause of so much failure in the treatment of the hair. The hair roots may be developed to a very remarkable degree by using the proper methods. As a root-developer nothing can equal the use of beta-quinol. This can be secured at any drug store for 50 cents, in one-ounce packages. When mixed with a half pint of bay rum and a half pint of water the developer is ready to use. It is not oily, and when used liberally gives us the results which anyone could wish. By developing the roots the growth is forced, it becomes thick, vigorous and silky, bald spots fill out, and instead of shrunken, sick hairs which fall out readily on combing we have strong hair held firmly to the scalp, thus putting an end to hair falling.

MRS. A. T. F.—The skin can be brought back to its original plumpness and vigor by the following formula: An astonishing result is the quick disappearance of wrinkles, little and big, crows' feet and lines of age. It is simple and can be prepared in a few moments, by adding to half a pint of water one tablespoonful of glycerine and two ounces of beta-quinol obtained from your druggist for 50 cents. This takes years from your appearance, and is always sure and positive in its work if you will apply it liberally, every day.

MAY B. T.—As to head-wash, I advise against using soap or the many shampoos sold, because of the alkali they contain. This dries up hair secretions. Get Beta-Quinol at the drug store and dissolve a teaspoonful of it in half a cup of water. You can get enough Beta-Quinol for 25 cents for a dozen or more head-washes. It is magic in cleansing hair and scalp, and aids wonderfully in making hair grow.—Adv.

ANSWERS PRESIDENT WILSON'S APPEAL ON THE

THE PRESIDENT'S APPEAL

"I APPEAL with entire confidence to our producers, our middlemen and our MERCHANTS to deal fairly with the people. It is their opportunity to show that they comprehend, that they intend to act justly and that they have the public interest at heart."—President Wilson.

Are the clothing profiteers acting justly? This appeal to them is like water on a duck's back. We admit merchandise is high—yes very high—and going higher every day, but not high enough yet to warrant the Merrimack Clothing asking $60 and 70 for Men's Good Suits and Overcoats, or $25 and $30 for Boys' Suits and Overcoats, or $150 to $350 for Ladies' Suits and Coats. These are the profiteers' prices. Are you willing to pay these unfair prices or are you with the Merrimack Clothing Co. in its endeavor to stamp out profiteering in Lowell?

TEACHERS' SALARIES

No Increase Made by School Board—Janitors' Association Reports

Although it had been generally expected that the school committee would formally vote an increase in the salaries of Lowell teachers at the special meeting held last evening to discuss the action of the municipal council Tuesday, when it was voted to transfer $53,156.66 from the general treasury to the school department, no action was taken on the matter by the members last night. The session was decidedly brief, and was given over almost entirely to the hearing of a report from the janitors' association relative to their recent request for a 25 per cent increase in salary.

The report of the secretary of the association, Thomas M. Keegan, was made in answer to queries recently submitted by the school board, asking the association to state its attitude on various points in connection with the request for an increased wage.

Mr. Keegan said that it was the decision of the association that a janitor of a four-room building should continue to receive the same compensation as the janitor of a six or eight-room building, as at present. The head janitor, or senior janitor, should continue to receive the same wage as other janitors, he declared.

He also said that it had been voted by the association to continue doing minor repairs on the buildings in their charge, so far as their abilities allowed.

Referring to the 25 per cent increase, Mr. Keegan pointed out that in many of the cities of the state, notably Fall River, New Bedford and Lawrence, the janitors are receiving much higher pay than the Lowell men.

The board of trade is to recommend an increase in the wages of local policemen to a minimum of $5 a day, the speaker said, and he felt that the janitors, who in the past had received the same wages as the police, were not unreasonable in asking for an increase to enable them to better meet the high cost of living. A janitor's pay would still be less than a policeman's, even with the addition of the requested increase, he said.

In concluding his report the secretary stated that the association left the matter of when the increase should become effective to the judgment of the board. It would be appreciated, whenever it came, he added.

The only other matter to come up for discussion was the question as to whether the report of the superintendent on the junior high school plan should be submitted on or before Dec. 3. It was voted that this report be made by that date. The report was originally scheduled to be made early this fall, but owing to the absence of Mr. Molloy, who was called for state guard duty during the strike of Boston police, it has been held in abeyance.

RE-CREATION OF VOICE

Mlle. Verlet, Opera Soprano,
Gives Unique Program at
Associate Hall

To what amazing extent the phonograph has re-created the human voice in song was shown in Associate hall last evening when the Bon Marche company presented Mlle. Alice Verlet, soprano of the Paris Opera company, who stood beside an Edison machine and sang with the reproduction of her own voice as contained on records.

Assisting her was Victor Young, pianist, who played with Edison re-creations of piano solos by Andre Benoit.

Mademoiselle Verlet also sang a group of songs without the Edison, two of which were of Mr. Young's composition.

The loftiness of the hall was the only drawback to the program, as at times it was hard for the artists to control her voice to the volume of tone produced by the phonograph, but the close relationship between the natural voice and the re-creation was at all times apparent and in many instances of startling similarity. To a person in the rear of the hall it was indeed difficult to say when the singer stopped and the machine sustained the tune and when singing together only one voice could be heard.

The concert was the fourth presented by the Bon Marche company and the most successful. This was so perhaps because Mlle. Verlet is a soprano and has more opportunity for color and brilliancy than Miss Gardner, for instance, the splendid contralto heard here a few months ago. Mr. Young's contributions to the program were most acceptable and his accompaniments, sustained and true.

The hall stage was unique in its decorative scheme as arranged by Bon Marche men. Hangings of deep red velvet formed a background, while little green hedge plants here and there were grouped in attractive display. The program presented follows:

1. "Carnival of Venice".....Paganini
2. "A Dream Voyage".....Victor Young
3. "From the Land of the Sky-blue water".....Cudman
4. "Mist".....Victor Young
5. "Mlle. Verlet with piano accompaniment by Mr. Young"

Washington, Nov. 20.—Anne Martin of Reno, Nev., will again seek to be the first woman elected to the United States senate, this time on the republican ticket. She ran as an independent last year for the unexpired term of the late Senator Newlands and was defeated by Senator C. B. Henderson, democrat.

National republican leaders are encouraging her to seek the nomination. Some of the things Anne Martin says she will advocate if she is elected to the senate are:

Popular election of the national representatives on the council and assembly of the League of Nations, and representation of women in the assembly.

Land legislation along the line of the Kelly soldiers' land bill that will encourage individual opportunity on sound economic basis.

Administration by the government of the natural resources, land, waterpower, mines and forests, to lower prices and open new opportunities to the people.

Government care for prospective mothers and infants.

Removal of children from industry by effective child labor legislation.

Fair treatment for the 12,000,000 working women, equal opportunity for women with men, and equal pay for equal work.

CHRISTMAS BOMB PLOT IS REVEALED

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 20.—A warning issued yesterday by the superintendent of the Philadelphia police that information has reached him of possible bomb outrages at Christmas time through the sending of gift packages to national, state and city officials throughout the country has caused federal and state officials to take extra precautions to circumvent any proposed plots by radicals or others.

James Robinson, the superintendent, said last night he had nothing further to say regarding the warning. He added he did not know what persons were marked by the supposed plotters, nor did he know, he said, who are suspected of plotting against the lives of public officials.

The information he has in his possession, the superintendent said, came to him in the course of investigations by the police bomb squad into the activities of local radicals.

Supt. Robinson stated he had sent the information he received to Chief of Police Quigley of Rochester, N. Y., who is chairman of the board of governors of the National Bureau of Criminal Identification, and president of the International Association of Chiefs of Police, with the request that the matter be given wide publicity.

Evidence of the existence of a plot to send bombs through the mails during the Christmas holidays was reported to Supt. Robinson by Andrew Emanuel, head of the "bomb squad." The information was checked up and verified, according to Emanuel. The source of information was carefully withheld by the police. It is believed to have originated from an anarchist "squealer," who was afraid of the consequences of the plot.

A memorandum issued by the bureau of police, announcing discovery of the plot, is as follows:

"Supt. of Police Robinson is in possession of reliable information that the members of certain radical organizations, with headquarters in the principal cities of the United States, are preparing to send out, prior to and during the Christmas holidays, packages of neat appearance, which would probably be considered as Christmas gifts by the persons who receive them, to the United States government officials and officials of the states and cities whose duties have required them to take an active part in the suppression of Bolshevik and anarchistic movements.

"The radicals say that when the officials receive and open the packages they will be greatly surprised, as an explosion will result."

James Robinson, the superintendent, said last night he had nothing further to say regarding the warning. He added he did not know what persons were marked by the supposed plotters, nor did he know, he said, who are suspected of plotting against the lives of public officials.

The information he has in his possession, the superintendent said, came to him in the course of investigations by the police bomb squad into the activities of local radicals.

Supt. Robinson stated he had sent the information he received to Chief of Police Quigley of Rochester, N. Y., who is chairman of the board of governors of the National Bureau of Criminal Identification, and president of the International Association of Chiefs of Police, with the request that the matter be given wide publicity.

Evidence of the existence of a plot to send bombs through the mails during the Christmas holidays was reported to Supt. Robinson by Andrew Emanuel, head of the "bomb squad." The information was checked up and verified, according to Emanuel. The source of information was carefully withheld by the police. It is believed to have originated from an anarchist "squealer," who was afraid of the consequences of the plot.

A memorandum issued by the bureau of police, announcing discovery of the plot, is as follows:

"Supt. of Police Robinson is in possession of reliable information that the members of certain radical organizations, with headquarters in the principal cities of the United States, are preparing to send out, prior to and during the Christmas holidays, packages of neat appearance, which would probably be considered as Christmas gifts by the persons who receive them, to the United States government officials and officials of the states and cities whose duties have required them to take an active part in the suppression of Bolshevik and anarchistic movements.

"The radicals say that when the officials receive and open the packages they will be greatly surprised, as an explosion will result."

PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN

With the disposal of the treaty now before the senate and the passage of the railroad bill, congress will speedily adjourn and may have a brief respite before the opening of the session in December.

Henceforth, we may expect that congressional action will be ruled very largely by political issues, taking shape for the campaign of next year. It is difficult at this time to forecast just what the issues will be, although if the treaty, including the League of Nations, be defeated through republican opposition in the senate, that may become an issue in the contest for the presidency.

The republicans have been scouting everywhere for political capital with which to assuage the administration on the ground of extravagance in war expenditures. So far as can be ascertained these investigators have not been very successful, although they may have found instances in which subordinate officials were guilty of dishonesty and gross mismanagement. They may also have found where from one cause or another due to the extreme haste with which enactments were constructed, money was lavishly expended, but it is another matter to prove malfeasance by the officials in charge.

The main thing upon which the administration will base its claim for justification, is the haste with which everything was done, followed by the fact that the United States won the war by defeating Germany within a shorter time than had been expected. Another great achievement was the transportation of 2,000,000 men overseas without the loss of a life or a ship, as the result of submarine attacks.

On the question of the tariff, the republican party, as usual, will advocate higher protective duties, whereas the democratic policy for some years past has been to revise the tariff schedules piece-meal, whenever the tariff commission reports that a change is necessary.

One of the great enterprises before the nation is to utilize our merchant marine in profitable trade with foreign nations. Thus far no proper method of accomplishing that object has been provided by either party although some new trade lines have been established and the United States flag is seen in foreign harbors, where it never appeared before.

Domestic questions, however, will probably be most pressing, for the reason that industrial unrest is prevalent and radicals are everywhere plotting strikes in opposition to organized government. On this question both parties are in accord, although they may differ as to the best methods to be adopted for the repression of radical action.

The question of immigration doubtless will be an issue on which the parties may differ widely as to the proper extent of the restrictions to be imposed on foreign immigration. While we are gathering up alleged anarchists and Bolsheviks for deportation, it is not likely that any policy can be adopted favoring the admission of immigrants from the countries now controlled by radical elements.

This nation at the present time has vast opportunities for trade and commerce in supplying European nations with raw material for their manufactures, such as iron, steel, copper, hides, wool and cotton. Increased production and export of the materials most urgently needed by the European nations will offer the most profitable business for this country; and it is probable that the party which can most successfully promote this export through the operation of our merchant marine, will find the most general support from the people.

The fact that President Wilson is out of the running on account of illness, relieves the republicans of the third term bog-house, and thus far there is no prominent democratic candidate mentioned except Champ Clark. On the republican side there are several declared candidates and within the next few weeks there undoubtedly will be several others, but thus far Senator Poindexter seems to be the strongest in the field. The republican leaders claim that in the coming contest many of the elements now opposed to the present administration and that formerly supported the democratic party will be with the republican nominees in the fight. How far this prediction will really materialize remains to be seen. There are some grounds for the assumption, but the situation may change before the national conventions are held, so that present predictions are liable to be wide of the mark.

THE RAVAGES OF WAR

After a very careful investigation the Carnegie Endowment for national peace has published a volume setting forth the entire cost of the war in money and human lives to the world. This authority sets the direct cost for countries actually involved in the war at $186,000,000,000 and the indirect cost at $151,000,000,000. In the latter total is included losses to neutral nations which are placed at $1,750,000,000. Also, it includes an estimate of the loss of production fixed at $45,000,000,000 and that of war relief at $1,000,000,000.

Among the indirect costs is given the capitalized value of soldier human life, estimated at $3,531,276,280. The property losses on land are given as $29,960,000,000 and in shipping and cargoes, $6,800,000,000.

An additional amount of $33,551,000,000 is allowed for civilian losses, made up largely of children and aged persons, who died from privation and disease, brought on as a result of the war. The number of known dead is set down at 9,998,771 and the missing, presumed to be dead, at 2,991,600, making a total of 12,990,371.

Professor Bogart of the University of Illinois, who made up the body of this report, has placed the value upon human life in the different nations, fixing the figures ranging from $200 in Bulgaria; Turkey, Greece, Japan, Romania, Serbia and several other countries to $4720 for the United States, where the economic worth of the individual to the nation is placed at the highest figure.

In view of these figures as reliable as such estimates can be, the awful destructiveness of war is apparent. If the world were soon to be visited by another war at all approaching the immensity of the world war, so-called civilization would be practically destroyed and the great nations which have survived the recent struggle, would be reduced to a condition bordering upon barbarism, with revolution and anarchy taking the place of civilized government and humanity would be reduced to the lowest ebb.

THE SIX HOUR DAY

Everybody's talking about the six-hour day and the five-day week nowadays and wondering what folks are going to do with the rest of their time during the week if the new order of things goes into effect. It will be quite a problem to put in the time under the new regime—believe those who have tried loafing and found it the hardest work in the world!

Thirty hours of work a week means that 138 hours every week must be put in some other way, sleeping, smoking, reading the newspapers, going to the movies, throwing dice for cigars in the murky smokehouse, wondering what to do and getting peeved at the world generally. Think of it, nearly five times as much time must be put in somehow every week as is devoted to work under this scheme. Looks pretty hard, doesn't it? You'd almost think men would rise up in wrath against any such scheme as that, wouldn't you?

Thirty hours of work a week! School children put in 27½ hours a week at hard brain work in the formative periods of their life! Think of lucky men working only as much each week as a six-year-old school boy who, however, after completing his hours at school puts in a lot of overtime around the house doing chores for mother!

To speak of 30 hours of "work" a week is, really, to put the proposition in an altogether false manner. What such a scheme would really mean would be that there would be 30 hours of play a week for all those people existing under such a scheme of things and that there would be 138 hours each week of real work interesting to put in the time until the interesting, enjoyable hours of so-called "work" came around again.—N. E. A.

RED CROSS SEALS

With Christmas but a few weeks away, the campaign for the sale of Red Cross seals should be prosecuted with vigor inasmuch as it aids the Red Cross and at the same time helps in fighting tuberculosis which is prevalent in this and most other cities. As a portion of the funds raised here by the sale of seals will be used locally where it will do most good, there should be no hesitation in purchasing these stamps quite liberally. No Christmas package, nor any letter having any reference to Christmas should be mailed without a Red Cross seal.

It was on November 15 that Lady Astor ran for parliament in the Plymouth district of England and it is announced that the result will not be given out until November 28. That will give the counters plenty of time to check up the returns and correct any ballots that might be carelessly marked or that might indicate a preference for the wrong candidate. During the interim the candidates have ample time in which to compose themselves so that they can receive the news of the result with equanimity even though it brings the first intimation of crushing defeat. In such cases the candidate must not assume that he or she is the chief party interested. There are two others, the voters and the government; but of all three, the one whose interest is most closely looked after is the government.

Once again ex-Mayor Wm. P. White appears to have won favor with the voters of Lawrence, having been nominated by a total vote exceeding that of his three competitors. The chief contest was on the school board for which a woman, Mrs. Anna W. Driscoll, a former high school teacher, has been nominated. It would seem to be a move in the right direction to put somebody in the school board who knows something about teaching.

Austin P. Cristy, owner and publisher of the Worcester Telegram, has sold the paper at a good round sum, evidently wishing to take things easy for a time. Under his management, the Telegram has become one of the most successful papers in the state. We learn that the new owner, Mr. Theodore Ellis of Worcester, is to follow Mr. Cristy's policy in conducting the paper; but he will have to hustle if he keeps up to Mr. Cristy's gait.

For a young man of his years, the Prince of Wales, now visiting New York, shows remarkable level-headedness and common sense. He has not betrayed any notable oddity or eccentricity that would give the critics a chance to poke fun at him. But on all sides, he has genial friends and sage advisers which makes some difference.

France has turned down the Bolsheviks to the tune of 6 to 1 at the recent election and wherever any similar contest is waged on the lines of civilized government the revolutionists go down. The people want peace and order and they are bound to get it except in Russia where military dictators are in charge.

If the state police catch and convict the Randolph motor bandits, they will deserve well of the commonwealth. Such criminals are a menace to the public everywhere.

Compromise on the treaty is now the last resort and the only method of saving it and avoiding the serious loss to the nation that would result from failure of ratification.

The outlook is brightening for the teachers throughout the state, even in Lowell.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Lowell cobbler shops are swamped with orders for shoe repairs. At least, that is what the proprietors of several of them in and we'll make them—like-new establishments tell me. The high cost of new footwear has caused hundreds of local people to resurrect discarded shoes in an attempt to beat friend H.C.L. and in one of the places I visited today there were styles of a decade ago represented in the assortment which were waiting on the shelves to be repaired. Although the cobbler, too, have raised their prices as the cost of leather advances, it still is much cheaper to have one's old shoes fixed up than to invest in a new pair—always providing that the venerable footwear in question has a few months of life left.

There are more children being taken care of, fed, clothed and educated at St. Peter's orphanage in Stevens street at the present time than ever before. In the history of the institution, I am told by those in close touch with the affairs of the orphanage. Accordingly, the annual donation day, which is to be held next Saturday afternoon will be of more than usual interest and significance owing to the need for contributions of money and clothing, even more generous than in the past. I understand that an excellent program has been arranged for the musicals to be held in connection with donation day under the general direction of Miss

Headaches, sore back, insomnia, disappear by the use alone of RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women.

MISS EVILDA DESGROSEILLIERS

From the age of nine years, I had never enjoyed good health. I was always feeling weak, suffered from violent headaches, sore back, insomnia. My nerves were unstrung, my digestion upset and besides I was suffering from bronchitis and coughed a great deal. Knowing that some of my friends had been made well by the use of RED PILLS, and on their advice and recommendation, I started to take them regularly; eighteen boxes operated a marvelous change for the better, and I am now well and as healthy as my other sisters, who have such great confidence in this remedy that they now take RED PILLS whenever they feel they need a good tonic.

BOSTON, Nov. 20.—Returns of election expenses filed yesterday with the secretary of state show that Richard H. Long of Framingham, democratic candidate for governor, expended $1500, of which amount $1000 went to the democratic state committee and the remainder to the R. H. Long committee. J. Weston Allen, republican candidate for attorney general, spent $415 and Joseph A. Conry, his successful democratic opponent, $372.

Chandler M. Wood of Winchester, democratic, spent $3000 in his effort to become state treasurer, while Fred J. Burrell of Medford, who was elected to that office as the republican candidate, spent $2202.

William E. Russell of Cambridge, who was the unsuccessful democratic candidate for district attorney in Middlesex county, spent $341. Simon Swift, republican, who was defeated for the senate, spent $450. Arthur J. B. Carter of Fall River, democratic candidate for state auditor, spent $1212.

WALSH MADE FINAL APPEAL TO SENATORS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Just before the final vote was taken in the senate last night on the peace treaty, Senator Walsh of Massachusetts made a last appeal to his associates on the democratic side to join with him in voting for the resolution of ratification and the reservations then before the senate.

Senator Walsh declared that he believed the reservations strengthened and improved the treaty, although they might not be in form just as he would have them. He declared the adoption of reservation would vitalize public sentiment in the country in favor of the League of Nations and that in his opinion while the country wanted the league, it also wanted reservations. Without the reservations, he said, the treaty had the "taint of death." He said that the difference in the senate on reservations was in words only and not in substance.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 20.—A jury in Mercer county yesterday returned a verdict for six cents damages to the John A. Reebing's Sons Co., cable and wire manufacturers of this city, against the Trenton Evening Times for an alleged libel on the company published by the Times last February, intimating that the Reebing Co., through its holdings in the Oils Elevator Co., with a plant in Germany, had been getting large profits from the manufacture of war munitions for the German government. The Reebing concern sued the newspaper for $100,000.

To Relieve Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness And Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness, or who are growing hard of hearing and have head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can usually be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has effected a complete relief after other treatments have failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear. Therefore, if you know of someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer, perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Paracetamol (Double Strength). Take this dose and add to it 8 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

Paracetamol is used in this way not only to reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian tubes, and thus to equalize the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of secretions in the middle ear, and the results it gives are heard always quick and effective.

Every person who has catarrh in any form, or a distressing rumbling, hissing sounds in their ears, should give this recipe a trial.—Adv.

IF MOTHERS ONLY KNEW

Signs of Worms are: Constipation, sour stomach, deranged stomach, swollen upper lip, offensive breath, hard and full belly with occasional gripings and pains about the navel; pale face of leaden tint, eyes heavy and dull, twitching eyelids, itching of the nose, itching of the rectum, short dry cough, grinding of the teeth, little red spots sticking out on the tongue, starting during sleep, slow fever.

Mrs. H. N. Roberts, 502 Asylum St., Flint, Mich., used Dr. True's Ellixir for her little baby girl when she was sick. Mrs. Roberts wrote to Dr. J. E. True & Co.: "My little girl is cured of her worms." And in a later letter wrote: "Baby is fine and I think it was your medicine (Dr. True's Ellixir, The Family Laxative and Worm Expeller) that helped her." ## 115,000,000 GALLONS OF WHISKEY FOR SALE

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Huge amounts of spirits in bond in Great Britain, including 115,000,000 gallons of whiskey, were released from wartime restrictions yesterday and may be distributed to all comers.

Announcement of the removal of restrictions, which was made without warning in the house of commons by the food controller, came as a surprise. The members greeted it with loud cheers.

The liquor trade was equally surprised, and was besieged by the well-to-do among the public as soon as the news spread. Many orders of from 50 to a hundred dozens were placed immediately, in addition to numerous commissions for smaller quantities.

Enough spirits has been thus freed to supply every man, woman and child in the country with 36 bottles apiece, according to the German peace treaty.

but it is doubtful if the public will find it easy, at present, to increase consumption to a great extent. The government maintains control of the maximum price, which for whiskey is $2.50 a bottle, and it is not believed that the dealers will sell much below that figure, as the existing high duty will remain.

Moreover, restrictions on distillation during the war and the necessity of maturing stocks may lead the dealers to hold large quantities. On the other hand it will be possible now to sell all the American whiskey, which has reached and is still reaching England, though clearance from the customs may be slow.

PROTOCOL TO PEACE TREATY

PARIS, Nov. 20.—No formal meeting has yet been held between the German delegates, who arrived yesterday morning, and the representatives of the allied powers concerning the proposed protocol to the German peace treaty.

It is not thought that the protocol will be signed before the end of November, as the Germans have shown a disposition to resist the provision requiring them to replace the warships sunk when their fleet was scuttled at Scapa Flow. The failure of the allied and associated powers to reach an agreement on the treaty is reported here to have greatly encouraged the Germans in their position.

As the protocol must be arranged before the formal announcement of ratification of the treaty by the three powers required to make it effective, the date of putting the treaty into effect seems uncertain.

"Used Drugs for Constipation—Now Internal Baths"

Mr. R. A. Denker of 4847 Langley ave., Chicago, Ill., writes to the Tyrell Hygienic Institute:

"I have used many kinds of drugs for constipation but found only temporary relief. I have never used a drug for it since procuring the J. B. L. Cascade five years ago. I cannot praise it too highly for what it has done for me."

The "J. B. L. Cascade" cleanses the lower intestine in its entire length and keeps it always free of poisonous waste.

Thousands testify that Constipation, Indigestion, Stomach Troubles, Biliousness, Headaches and all the many serious troubles which they cause are absolutely relieved and prevented by this Natural Treatment.

Denker's story, formerly Hiker Jaynes will be glad to show you the "J. B. L. Cascade" explain its simple operation and will give you free on request, an interesting little book by Dr. Charles A. Tyrell of New York, a noted specialist on internal bathing for 25 years in that city. Clip this out as a reminder to ask for the booklet at your first opportunity.—Adv.

The speakers will include Congressman John Jacob Rogers, who notified William H. Mahan, grand exalted ruler, this morning that he would be able to be present; District Attorney Nathan A. Tufus, Senator John E. Beck of Chelsea, Hon. Martin Hayes of Boston, a former senator, John P. Farley, district deputy grand exalted ruler of this district, and Mayor Perry D. Thompson. An excellent program of entertainment has also been arranged.

DRASTIC ACTION TO SAVE COAL

Regional Directors of Railroads Assume Responsibility To Conserve Coal

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—Regional directors of railroads today assumed the responsibility of dealing with curtailment of non-essential industries and unnecessary passenger traffic to conserve and distribute the nation's steadily diminishing coal supply. Under authority granted by Walker D. Hines, federal director general of railroads, the territory east of the Mississippi and south of the Ohio rivers, except for a small area in the Pennsylvania region, had been placed on a war-time ration basis. Announcement of trains in addition to the 146 already taken off, was under consideration.

Other drastic action looking toward reserving the available supply for essential industries, public utilities and domestic consumers included stopping deliveries to all non-essential industries in Cleveland and deliveries in Omaha, Neb., only on written application approved by the local coal committee.

Majority of Miners Still Out

Except in the West Virginia fields upon which it was announced the rest of the country would draw for absolutely necessary requirements, there was little hope today for increased production. The majority of the 150,000 bituminous miners who went on strike nearly three weeks ago, maintained their disposition to disregard the strike recall order and to await developments from the miners' operators' conference at Washington.

In Colorado a strike of the miners who had returned to work was called for Friday, following failure of the miners and operators to agree on a wage scale.

Restore Mines to Owners

"The United States court at Fargo, N. D., had issued a decree that apparently would lead to restoration of the mines to their private owners. No state court has yet acted to cancel the situation brought about by the governor's action in seizing the lignite mines and ordering them operated by the state. Application for an injunction in the state courts to restrain the governor is scheduled to be heard at Bismarck, N. D., today. The federal court order to show cause is returnable Nov. 21."

Should the apparently deadlocked conference at Washington not reach an agreement within a week, martial law may be declared.

Washing Won't Rid Head of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you desire it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arsenic; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arsenic at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.—Adv.

law in mining districts and state operation of mines was planned in Iowa. Governor Harding said he was considering taking over the mines, offering the miners an increased wage and compensating the operators until a settlement was arrived at.

Troop Movement
The first troop movement into a coal field since the first days of the strike was reported from Wyoming. Thirty soldiers were sent to Winton, Wyo., where a small group of alleged alien miners armed with rifles stopped American and naturalized workers from returning to the pits.

Second Coal Strike
DENVER, Col., Nov. 20.—Colorado's second coal strike within the month will begin at 7 o'clock Friday morning. The strike was called by George O. Johnson, district president of the United Mine Workers of America, because of allegations that not all the striking miners had been taken back to work. The chief grievance of the miners was with the Colorado Fuel & Iron Co., largest producer in the state, which announced recently that all men would be taken back except those active in promoting the recent strike. Company officials stated that unless men were not refused employment because of union affiliations, but because of alleged connections with the Industrial Workers of the World.

Lowell at New Bedford.

POLO NOTES
"Bob" Hart, former Lowell star and now leading the league in goal shooting will undoubtedly get a great reception when he hops into the cage with the New Bedford Whalers at the Crescent rink tomorrow night. "Bob" was always popular here and his friends plan to turn out in large numbers to greet him.

Barney Doherty, now a pal of Hart's on the Whaler outfit, is another man who enjoys wide popularity here. He's the veteran of the league, but he still is one of the best defensive men in the business.

Paul Gardner, who helped Lowell win the pennant two years ago, will also be with the visitors. Mossie Conley, who is one of the classiest goal keepers in the game and who recently made an even 100 stops in a game, will be in charge of New Bedford's team.

The last time New Bedford played here Lowell was badly beaten, and consequently the Whalers crew will be out for revenge tomorrow night.

BOUTS HERE TONIGHT

Members of the Crescent A. A. look for abundant action at tonight's meeting when an all star show with three high class ten round bouts and one six round preliminary will be presented.

Pekin Kid Herman, all the way from Illinois, who has been in Lowell training for the past two weeks will meet Tony Valina, the Brighton "Ironman" and one of the most satisfactory performers of his weight in these parts is one of the top row events. Martin Fisher, who has been training in the "kid" is a sensation. Valina's manager sends word that his protégé will be in the pink of condition and a great battle is expected. Billy Duffy of Everett, who won from Young Ketchell here a short time ago will meet Sliver O'Brien of South Boston in another ten rounder. These boys are very evenly matched and have already fought several thrilling bouts in and around Boston.

Johnny Gray, on account of illness, will be unable to meet Johnny Downes at the Crescent A. A. tonight, the latter having just arrived. The club management later booked California Frank Burns to meet Downes and this pair should provide a good 10-round.

BOSTON UNIVERSITY
VS. TEXTILE SCHOOL

Boston university, which has a record of two victories and two defeats this season, will come up to Lowell tomorrow afternoon to play Lowell Textile school. Coach Jack MacDonald has put the B. U. squad through a hard week's practice in scrimmaging and signal drill and the Red and White will go to Lowell with great confidence of beating the local team.

Charlie Fessenden, a Lowell youth, and a freshman at the College of Business Administration of Boston university, will start the game at left tackle. He has showed up well at practice all season, but has not yet had the opportunity of getting into a game.

Another near-Lowell man on the B. U. team is Capt. Eugene N. Yarrington of Billerica, "Yarr" who is temporarily playing right guard, is back at his old position as fullback. Prilav's game with Lowell Textile school will be his last college football game, as he has accepted a degree from Boston university this year after which he will study law. Capt. Yarrington is a former star for Norwich and the University of Vermont.

A large delegation, probably 300 or so students, will accompany the B. U. squad to Lowell. The R.O.T.C. military band will be with all its color and noise and a good part of the R.O.T.C. of Boston university will be dismissed from the usual Friday afternoon drill to go to the football game, provided they get their tickets beforehand. Non-military students at the College of Business Administration will also be privileged to "cent" after the game.

The Boston university eleven averaged 155 pounds per man, and has shown some fine form in its games this season. It has beaten Rhode Island State college and Rockland All-Stars, a semi-professional team. The game at Storrs, Conn., with Connecticut Agricultural college, was lost because of the non-arrival of half a dozen regulars due to automobile breakdowns on the road between Springfield and Storrs. The second string eleven held the Xingtie Aggies to a 7-0 score. Last week's B. U.-Norwich game was, as one of the B. U. professors, a newspaper man of many years' experience, said, "The cleanest game of college football he had ever seen. It was a hard-fought contest, Norwich losing out a 10-3 victory over the B. U. hokies. This is the first time in a number of years that B. U. has put out a varsity team."

The B. U. lineup against Lowell Textile school is as follows:

Offense: R. Backus, R. Goodrich, R. Verloio, C. Washburn, R. Fessenden, Miller and King, R. Crowley, E. O'Callahan and Lyons, G. Jacobs and McNamee, J. Rogers, Duggan and Latham, J. Yarrington (captain) R.

Lowell Man's Auto License Revoked

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Nov. 20.—Charles E. Guller of Lowell has been notified by the Massachusetts highway commissioners that his license to operate motor vehicles in this state has been revoked because of the automobile accident in which he was involved Sept. 24, and which resulted in the death of Gardner Nelson of Lowell.

After a full investigation of all the circumstances surrounding the accident, the commission announces that it is "unable to find that the accident occurred without serious fault on the part of the operator."

MOTHER WANTS TO FIND HER SON

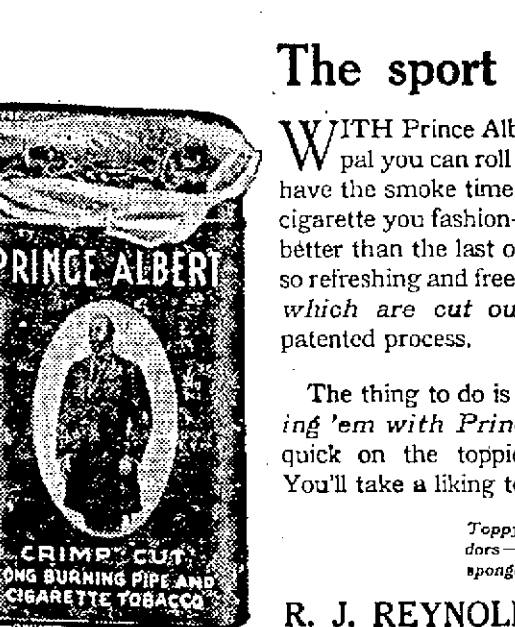

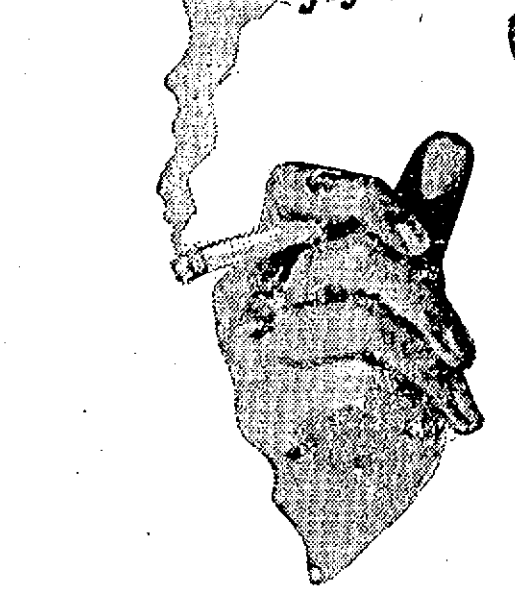

Mrs. Anne McLaughlin appeals to The Sun to help her find some tidings of her only son, Edward J. McLaughlin, who worked in the Tremont and Suffolk mills about five years ago and left Lowell to go to a factory in Providence, R. I. It is believed he was working in a mill town in Rhode Island before the war and that he enlisted in the service perhaps under an assumed name and has not since been heard from by his friends. His mother will be very grateful to any person who can give her any information of him either dead or alive. Address Mrs. Anne McLaughlin, Sun office.

Motor plows were not made in Austria before the war, but several manufacturers have already begun to produce them.

Treaty's Defeat

country and the United States.

Handicap Trade Resumption

As a matter of fact, the lack of American consular representation is declared by the administration officials to be the greatest present handicap to resumption of trade. With the president's authorization of blanket licenses under the trading with the enemy act last July, commercial intercourse with Germany practically has been freed from legal restrictions, and it continues in that situation. There are some prohibited articles, such as drugs, chemicals and dyestuffs, but the bars are down to most of the ordinary articles of commerce.

It is explained that this condition applies chiefly on imports from Germany, though it affects in less degree shipments from this country to Germany. It is in the important situation that the government is chiefly concerned and for which the American consuls in Germany are needed. Of course Germany also lacks consular representation here, though arrangements have been made to admit certain German trade agents to arrange for shipments of raw materials from this country.

Imports from Germany

Figures on America's trade with Germany in October have not been fully compiled, but during September the United States imported nearly $2,000,000 worth of goods from that country and sent it goods valued at about $9,000,000. For the nine months ending with September, the import trade totalled nearly $2,000,000 and exports about $24,000,000. This compared with pre-war exports of about $275,000,000 for a nine months' period. A further increase was to be looked for in the figures for October.

The senate's failure to act left on the hands of the administration a big collection of knotty problems, chief among which is the question of property rights in the German ships and other property of enemy aliens seized by the government in this country. The state department experts say there is no legal sanction for retention of this property unless the treaty which contains a provision legalizing it, is ratified.

Technical State of War

As a corollary to this problem, stands the question of what is to become of the vast American interests in Germany, especially if the technical state of war is to continue and no American consuls or diplomatic representatives are to be sent to take up the subject directly.

In these property questions is understood to lie one of the chief objections of the administration to the plan of republican leaders to declare the state of war ended by a resolution of congress. Without the treaty's provisions, officials say, a state of peace would leave this country in an awkward position when it came to establish its title to the German ships and the other German interests taken over and in many cases liquidated by the alien enemy property custodian.

Peace by Revolution

There is every evidence, however, that the republican leaders in congress, anxious to get the country to an actual peace basis so that the many wartime legislative provisions may be erased and a more normal legal foundation placed under the country's trade, are going ahead with their plan of declaring peace by resolution as soon as the new congress meets.

A resolution making such a declaration was introduced last night by Republican Leader Lodge, after three attempts to ratify the treaty had failed. Not only is it expected to start another bitter fight in the new session, but if it is passed, the constitutional authority of congress to take such a step is sure to be questioned. In the opinion of some officials a situation will result which only the supreme court can untangle.

"Concurrent" Measure

measure of the nature which under senate practice for many years does not require the signature of the president. But the administration senators are prepared to urge against its validity the following provision of the constitution:

"Every order, resolution or vote to which the concurrence of the senate and house of representatives may be necessary, (except on a question of adjournment) shall be presented to two presidents of the United States; and before the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him, or being disapproved by him, shall be re-passed by two-thirds of the senate and house of representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill."

Under this provision the administration senators say that any concurrent resolution meeting with the disapproval of the chief executive could be vetoed or disregarded by him and never could be re-passed by a two-thirds vote. The reply of the republicans is that the constitutional limitation applies to legislation only and that the sole right of congress to declare war carries with it the right to declare peace.

May Resort to Courts

In that situation, many officials foresee a possibility that the president and congress may soon find themselves in a disagreement which will have to be thrown into the courts to be decided.

On such a question the courts would be without precedent, and it is taken for granted that only a ruling from the highest tribunal in the land would be accepted as final.

Foremost of all the domestic problems waiting on some sort of a peace declaration is prohibition. Hopes have about disappeared for an end of the war-time act by senate ratification of the treaty in time to permit a wet season before the constitutional amendment becomes effective January 16. With a constitutional controversy developing about a declaration of peace by resolution, that avenue begins to look almost equally inaccessible.

Wets Go to Supreme Court

The hope of the wets therefore has been transferred to the supreme court, before which proceedings to test the validity of the war-time law were argued today.

But liquor is by no means the only consideration involved in the continuation of a technical state of war. Until peace is declared formally, wartime food and fuel control powers of the executive are in full force and the espionage act operates unimpeded.

Members of congress are mindful also that the war legislation authorizing government operation of railroads gave the president power, if he chose, to hold the railway systems until 21 months after peace shall have been accomplished. He has announced, however, that he will return the roads on Jan. 1.

Troops Stay in Germany

It was pointed out that the effect of the senate's failure to act would be of a negative character only with regard to the American troops in occupied portions of Germany. War department officials said it would mean no change in the present disposition which had been based entirely on the terms of the armistice and which did not depend in any respect on the terms of the treaty.

The occupation of Coblenz is regarded both by administration officials and by all elements in the senate to be clearly within the limits of the president's power as commander-in-chief of the army. His authority to use troops to carry out any provisions of the treaty is an entirely different question and the war department already has conceded the stand of opposition senators that no such action could be taken until the senate has acted.

Although a force of American soldiers has been sent to Coblenz with a view to their possible use ultimately to help police the plebiscite in upper Silesia, Secretary Baker has announced that they will remain a part of the Coblenz garrison unless the senate, by ratifying the treaty, makes American participation in the plebiscite strictly legal.

PLANS FOR REBUILDING DEVASTATED AREAS

PARIS, Wednesday, Nov. 19.—(French Wireless Service)—Captain Andre Tardieu, minister of liberated regions, held a conference with all the prefects of the devastated areas yesterday. During the fortnight in November 35,000 freight cars loaded with building materials were sent into these areas. In the second fortnight it is expected that 66,000 will have followed. Materials for 55 temporary houses will be included in the latest shipment.

A large number of barges brought from England will be put at the disposal of the prefect of the Nord department and 25 freight cars will be sent daily from each of the American camps, conveying the materials recently brought from the American war department to these regions.

MAKE A TRAY OF A PICTURE FRAME

It's a perfectly simple idea, but perhaps some people haven't thought of it. In the ordinary house there are old pictures which are in disfavor, but are kept for their good frames. Discard the picture and replace it with a pretty piece of cretonne with a small figure, under the glass.

A piece of old felt or velvet glued on the back, and a pair of inexpensive brass handles bought at any hardware store—and there is an attractive and useful tray.

NEGOTIATIONS FOR NEW WAGE SCALE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Fuel Administrator Garfield still withheld today any action toward a nation-wide restriction of coal consumption, while sub-committees of mine workers and operators continued negotiations for a wage scale in the central competitive field, and a basis of settlement for the miners' strike. Steps taken in localities where the plach or coal famine has been felt, have been the action of regional coal committees of the railroad administration.

The joint committees were reported to be making progress toward a settlement. For the first time, it was said, they were considering details of a wage and condition agreement. The miners were reported to have recoiled from their proposal for local adjudication of disputes rising out of the general agreement. This, it was said, would prevent sporadic labor difficulties in localities after an agreement had been negotiated.

Operators, however, still were withholding a definite counter proposal to the miners' demands for the 35-hour week and 50 per cent increase in wages, but it was understood they were prepared to offer some wage increases.

TEST CONGRESS' RIGHT

Supreme Court Asked To Rule on War Time Dry Act and Enforcement Law

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The supreme court was asked today to determine the constitutionality of the war-time prohibition act as well as the Volstead prohibition enforcement act during arguments in appeals brought to test congress' right to prohibit the manufacture and sale of intoxicants.

While many conflicting decisions have been rendered in various parts of the country upon the question, today's arguments involved only three cases, one from Kentucky in which the war-time act was declared unconstitutional and two from New York, in which the authority of congress not only to make the country dry, but to enforce it, was sustained.

Failure of the senate to ratify the treaty of Versailles was regarded by attorneys in the cases as only complicating the situation because of the delay in the termination of the technical state of war, but the court's willingness to expedite the cases was regarded by court officials as indicating the court's intention to decide the question with as little delay as possible.

The argument attracted considerable attention. Long before the court convened the space allotted to spectators was crowded and many were unable to gain admittance. Many attorneys also were present.

Although both sides agreed not to ask for any additional time, the arguments will not be concluded until tomorrow.

The first case argued was that of the Kentucky Distilleries & Warehouse Co., in which Federal Judge Evans of Louisville, Ky., declared the war-time prohibition act to be invalid and enjoined international revenue officials from preventing the withdrawal of a large quantity of whiskey from bonded warehouses.

GREAT BRITAIN FIRM IN EGYPTIAN POLICY

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Great Britain declines to be deflected from her Egyptian policy by the demonstrations that are taking place in Egypt on the part of the nationalists, according to well-informed sources. She is absolutely determined, it is indicated, to continue in the course mapped out as she regards herself as trustee for the whole people of Egypt.

Therefore, despite the demonstrations against it, the commissioner, appointed by Lord Milner, the secretary for the colonies, will proceed to Cairo in due course, it is declared.

15,384 AMERICANS ARE HONORED BY ALLIES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—From the passage by congress in July, 1918, of an act authorizing the acceptance of foreign medals and insignia, 15,384 officers and enlisted men of the American army have been decorated by powers associated with the United States in the world war. The annual report of the adjutant general, Major General P. C. Harris, issued today, shows:

France awarded the cross of the Legion of Honor to 909; the croix de guerre to 11,681; military medals to 280, and various other decorations to 250.

Great Britain awarded a total of 812 medals, Italy 654, Belgium 630, Montenegro 52, Greece 2, Czechoslovakia 1 and Japan 1.

In addition to these awards to individuals, the French government awarded the Gourgager, or shoulder cord to four organizations, the croix de guerre with palm to 51 organizations; the croix de guerre with gilt star to 25 organizations, the croix de guerre with silver star to 35 organizations and their croix de guerre with bronze star to five organizations.

General Harris' report fixes the greatest strength of the American army in the history of the country as 2,613,883, the aggregated strength on Nov. 11, 1918, of whom 1,595,362 were in Europe.

STATE OF "SUSPENDED HOSTILITIES"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—In a military sense the senate delay on the treaty causes a state of "suspended hostilities," say the war department officials, some of whom are turning over in their minds the possibilities of the situation should a separate peace with Germany be necessary. They said this might be taken up by President Wilson and Secretary Baker as soon as the secretary returned from his trip to Camp Taylor, Ky.

During the senate debate, Administration Leader Hitchcock declared that if the treaty failed and a separate peace became necessary, the United States would find it awkward to attempt to exact drastic requirements from Germany.

Among republican senators this position has been ridiculed, however, and in the war department it is said gross violation of the armistice agreement by Germany, such as a military movement into one of the neutral zones would be the only contingency which would lead to a resumption of military effort on the part of the United States.
